THE STAGE KISS.

BY MONROE H. ROSENFELD.

The kiss of youthful lovers true,
Ah, what could sweeter be?
The essence of supreme delight,
Of wondrous ecstacy!
The wifely kiss of purest love,
(Affection's test divine!)
I sing not these; but others in
Dear osculation's line.

There is a kiss of lasting fame,
'Tis written, spoken of,
And one would say portrays to all
The soul's abounding love.
Describe it? Ah, impossible!
A wilderness of sweets!
A long drawn draught of Paradise
That lip to lip repeats!

Angelic in its luciousness!
Take songs of ev'ry bird,
And melodies Æolian
The sweetest ever heard;
The music of the heavenly spheres;
Yea, concentrate them all,
And you may get a slight approach
To this kiss I recall.

I heard it in a modern play;
'Twas at the wings I stood,
The actress and the actor were Particularly good.
"They must be lovers," I remarked,
'Twas plain as written page;
"What!" growled the prompter, with a grin,
"They don't speak off the stage!"

"HENNESSEY."

BY W. S. RISING.

[CONCLUSION.]

With the second act Hennessey increased in favor, and his every move was watched. Never was the house in so good a humor as when Hennessey was on the stage. The third act brought on the specialties. All were well received, and the crowd was hilarious. Suddenly the lights went down and the bright light of the calcium was flashed on the stage. Well back and high up where the flies hung listlessly posed a lithe, slim figure in spangled tights. For a second it paused, then it shot downward like an arrow toward the centre of the stage. It was Hennessey! In his downward flight he caught the bar of a flying trapeze and swung far out over the orchestra, trailing from the chandelier, that on the instant, burst forth in a thousand lights. Simultaneously the house is illuminated and Hennessey swings back head downward. The slender figure decribes in midair the most difficult evolutions. His performance is wonderful, fascinating. Finally he swings to the stage and nimbly leaves his perch. From the audience comes a great roar of appreciation. He bows off. He is called back again and again. He is the hit of the show.

Behind the scenes when Miss West shakes hand in congratulation, he feels that the supreme moment of his life has arrived.

The play has ended, and the last curtain call for the entire company has been sounded. One by one they pass out to the front, followed by Mr. Renshaw who braces himself for a speech.

"Hennessy! Hennessy!" comes a yell from the gallery.

"One moment, ladies and gentlemen. Let me thank you," begins Renshaw, wetting his lips with his tongue.

"Hennessy! Hennessy!" comes from all parts of the house.

Mr. Renshaw has been a long while in the business so he bows and retires, while Hennessy slips through at the side of the curtains and faces the tumult.

"Speech, speech."

He bows at them with short, quick jerks of his head, while the demand is continued. A moment he hesitates. Then he raises his hand for silence.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he begins. "I ain't no speech maker. I—I—I'm a speciality performer. Dat's all."

He bowed himself off in an instant while the audience fairly shrieks at him.

Filled with his success, and smiling benignly, Renshaw invites the company to a champagne supper at his hotel in town. So the new departure in theatricals opened auspiciously. The week's receipts showed a tremendous business; two papers were full of praise, and Hennessey's salary was raised. The play went on and settled itself down into a steady success. The company had relapsed into the usual traveling groove. The little late supper always found the same people together, and the jokes at the hotel bar were told as usual. Not the least one was that Hennessey was studying English grammar.

"What does he do with his money?" asked Glendenning, one night. "I'll bet he gets more salary than I do, and he never buys a drink. I don't think I've seen him take a drink since he's been with the company. He'll be a manager some day if he dont't get too much English grammar into his head."

"Miss West told me the other day that she was helping him wrestle with his English. She's doing a charity act, and that's more than I would bargain for. He's a foxy little fellow, it seems, for I understand he has given his notice twice, and Renshaw has raised his salary each time, and begged him to stay. Miss West advised him and he stayed."

"I think he's stuck on West," remarked Hall, as he sipped at a whiskey and seltzer. "H's waiting on her all the time, and it's an infernal shame for her to make a monkey out of him, even if he is a 'satchel carrier.' I tell you right here, that's where all the trouble comes from in this business. Some pretty girl like West gets a fellow like that on her staff and makes a fool of him. Then he finally takes a drop, and says things about her that are not true. There's no saying what a fellow like Hennessey won't say when he finds out she's simply been playing with him. It don't take an Edwin Booth to ruin a woman's reputation in this business, and Shakespeare isn't as bad as the Bowery when it comes to language that blasts characters."

"You're right in the main, Harry," said Dalton, "but you're just a little off the track. In the first place she isn't acting right, and I would be glad to see that little contortionist give her a calling down. Where do you suppose she got that pearl pin she wore in the second act? Perhaps her mother sent it from home, ha! Then if my good blue eyes don't deceive me a marquise ring is in evidence on her third finger. Here's the way it strikes me: Renshaw is making a barrel of money; flowers and jewelry are pushed over the footlights to her every night. She likes flowers, she likes jewelry. When Hennessey says he's not in the same class with the company and wants to leave she goes to him and says he must stay for her sake. I tell you she's a very, very cute girl, and if Hennessey was any good I'd go to him and tell him where he stood."

"Stop all that," interposed Glendenning, hastily. "Quit and have a drink. Don't waste your time on Hennessey. He's got more money and brains than any of us. If he's abused in a way, it's too bad, but I guess he can stand it, for he's got the money, and that's everything."

"Why is it, Miss West," asked Hennessy, as the two were sitting in the parlor of the hotel, and he thumbed nervously the book he held in his hand, "why it is dat all de people I've ever seen says 'I goes to de races and I wins forty dollars yesterday' an' de book says de past tense of go, going, gone is went?"

"I don't know why they say it, Jimmie, it's not grammar. Let races and race going people alone. They teach you more bad things than bad grammar. Promise me, Jimmie, that you won't go to the races."

"Oh, I'll promise if you want me to. But why do you like di'mon's so much if you don't like race horse people. Dey've got more di'mon's den annybody."

"What did you do with the diamond you used to wear in your shirt bosom when you first joined the company?" asked Miss West, ignoring his question.

"Oh, I sold dat because you said it wasn't good taste for gents to wear dem headlights."

"And you haven't bought any jewelery since? Look me in the face, Jimmy. You haven't bought any jewelery for anyone else and sent it to them so they wouldn't know where it came from?"

"No, ma'am," answered Jimmy, looking at the shiney toe of his patent leather boot. Then he glanced up quickly and asked, "What makes you look at me dat way? I wouldn't tell yer a lie, I aint got no girl nor nothin! Dat is," he went on very earnestly, "enny girl wot I would dare to call so. I likes you better'n anybody else in de world, Miss West. You aint mad at me, are you? I wouldn't lie to you."

That night, when the lights were turned down to darken the stage, Hennessey was standing on his lofty platform, ready for his leap, when a thin ribbon of smoke curled out into the auditorium from the border lights. In a moment it was followed by a bright and gray looking tongue of flame. Then someone screamed:

"Fire!"

Instantly the cry was taken up by hundreds, and a mass of men and women was pushing, struggling and fighting for the exits. The men forgot they were men, and fought down the weaker ones like fiends. The fire rushed on, and the shrieks of the miserable wretches who were trampled under foot, were mingled with the hoarse roar of the flames.

Through the smoke shot a spangled figure. It swung well out over the crowd, and then swinging back, dropped nimbly to the stage. No one noticed Hennessey's leap, because people were rushing for their lives. Every exit door is thrown open, police and firemen help to disentangle that mass of humanity and drag out the poor weak ones who have fallen by the way. On the side street opposite the stage door is a group of half clad, badly frightened players, too overcome by the awe of the scene to say very much to each other. A tall, slender woman in evening dress starts back as she puts her hand to her breast.

"My diamonds!" she exclaims, and then, shaking off the hands that would hold her, she springs to the stage door and disappears.

"She's gone," said a man.

With a cry like a wounded beast Hennessey, still in tights, breaks his way past the fringe of people, tearing the cloak from a woman's shoulders as he goes. With the skill of a trained athlete he jumps across the street and goes through the door after Miss West. From out the portals the thick black smoke is liberally belching into the horror stricken faces of the actors. No one dares enter there. The smoke is not so black but that presently it shows another black figure, a reeling, staggering thing on legs that lurches forward wildly at every step, and then from out of its stifling midst comes Hennessey with a woman in his arms, and the crowd cheers for him wildly.

"Boys," he gasps, forgetting caste in comradeship, "send for a doctor for her." And then he drops beside her on the stones.

* * * * * * *

The shrill shriek of the engines gave notice to the towns people that the element of water had triumphed, and the crowd had gradually thinned out. Up in a room in the principal hotel were half a dozen anxious people about a bed. The loud ticking of the doctor's watch was the only accompaniment to the slow and labored breathing of the man on the bed. There was red paint on his face, and the paleness made it look ghastly.

"If he fails to rally in the next half hour," said the physician, "I am afraid there will be little hope." The only woman there put her handkerchief to her eyes and turned away.

The slow, labored breathing became oppressive. There is a movement on the bed, and the men press closer. The doctor shakes his head negatively. Miss West steps forward, and they make way for her. She sinks on her knees at the bedside, and takes the small, rough, calloused hand in hers, and smooths it caressingly. A deep toned city clock strikes the half hour with a mournful sound. Again Hennessey twitches convulsively. His lips part, his eyes suddenly open wildly.

"Not ready! Hold der scene! I haven't made my change! Where Miss Edith? Can't wait, I'l have ter go on as I am."

He fell back; his eyes closed wearily, and so he died.

AURIE DAGWELL

Was born in Utica, N. Y., on June 26, 1875. As a child she displayed remarkable musical talent, and made her first appearance as a singer, in concert, at the age of twelve years. In 1893 she appeared in a series of operatic performances given in her native city, and sustained difficult roles so successfully as to win the approval of all the critics. Following their advice she decided to enter the profession, and with that end in view she came to this city in the following year, and studied under several of the best vocal teachers. Her ambition, however, led her to study too hard, and she succumbed to a severe illness, from which she did not recover for over a year. In the Fall of 1896 she returned to this city and, failing to obtain such engagement as would, give scope to her ability as a singer, she began her professional career upon the dramatic stage, and has since played minor roles in several dramatic companies. Her last engagement was with "Nature," during its recent run at the Academy of Music in this city. In that production she assumed the role of Alice Woodfern, in which her singing evoked most favorable comment. Miss Dagwell has a fine stage presence, and is endowed with a mezzo soprano voice of excellent quality. She shows the effect of careful vocal training, and sings with remarkable ease. She is studious and ambitious, and is full of promise for the future.

HOW TO BE ERECT.

1. Make it a rule to keep the back of the neck close to the back of the collar.
2. Roll the shoulders backward and downward.
3. Try to squeeze the shoulder blades together many times a day.
4. Stand erect at short intervals during the day—"head up, chin in, chest out, shoulders back."
5. Walk or stand with the hands clasped behind the head and the elbows wide apart.
6. Walk about, or even run upstairs, with from 10 to 40 pounds on the top of the head.
7. Try to look at the top of your high-cut vest or your necktie.
8. Practice the arm movements of breast stroke swimming while standing or walking.
9. Hold the arms behind the back.
10. Carry a cane or umbrella behind the small of the back or behind the neck.
11. Put the hands on the hips, with elbows back and fingers forward.
12. Walk with thumbs in the arm holes of the vest.
13. When walking swing the arms and shoulders strongly backward.
14. Stand now and then during the day with all the posterior parts of the body, so far as possible, touching a vertical wall.
15. Look upward as you walk on the sunny side of the street.

AFTER THE STORM.

BY MARY McNEIL.

They think because we write of grief and passion
That all the tempest of a heart is there.
Ah, this is not the heart's nor ocean's fashion;
Wait for the lull, when shores are broad and bare.

Wait till the storm is past and ocean cowers
In vast submission to a fate too strong.
Then on the beach, in shreds of deep-sea flowers,
We find the shells, the broken shells, of song.

FANNY ELLSLER'S DEBUT IN NEW ORLEANS.

A recent inquiry concerning Fanny Elisler has recalled to mind a number of interesting incidents in connection with her brilliant success in the United States. From the time of her debut at the Park Theatre in New York, on May 14, 1840, to the evening of her farewell appearance at the same theatre, on July 1, 1842, her name may be said to have been upon every lip, her praise the office of every pen.

Her engagement to appear at the St. Charles Theatre in New Orleans was effected under circumstances which were not generally known there or elsewhere. At least the writer of this article has never seen them related in print.

Caldwell, the proprietor of the theatre, was absent from the city when Chevalier Wikoff entered into a correspondence with the management upon the subject of the pay for a certain number of nights, and it devolved upon George Barrett (Gentleman George), the acting manager, to conduct the negotiations for him.

The terms demanded by Wikoff were high. Elisler was a great "card," and he knew it, and so did Barrett. Yet the latter hesitated about entering into a contract which might bring financial ruin upon Caldwell and reproach upon himself. He had but a short period for reflection, and he was compelled to look the matter fully in the face. He consulted Pearson, the stage manager, and many others who had a personal interest in the theatre, and all agreed that it would be madness to accede to the proposals under consideration.

The concern of Barrett may be imagined. He was aware that the people of New Orleans expected to see Elisler at their favorite St. Charles, and that if she failed to appear upon its boards their indignation would be difficult, if not impossible, to allay. On the other hand, had he a right to take the risk of so great a venture? A day was given him to decide, and ere its expiration he had made up his mind to pay the price asked—one thousand dollars per night for fourteen consecutive nights (two weeks, Sundays included) and a full benefit at the end of the two weeks, the benefit to take place on Sunday night, then a popular night with the playgoers of the Crescent City.

After the arrangements had been concluded Caldwell returned to the city, and was shocked at the thought of being held responsible for so great an outlay of money; for, be it remembered, over fifty years ago a thousand dollars a night was considered an extraordinary sum to pay to any performer. No wonder it staggered the veteran actor, and made him see bankruptcy in the near future. What occurred between him and Barrett it is not necessary to state, save that the latter's retention as manager was made contingent upon the receipts of the house being in excess of the expenditures, neither gentleman dreaming that any profits would accrue from the engagement.

The night of the first appearance of the "divine Fanny" arrived, and, to the satisfaction of Caldwell and Barrett, the grand old St. Charles was crowded from pit to gallery. Its several tiers of boxes were filled with the beauty and fashion of the city, and the massive chandelier that hung from the dome cast its hundreds of lights upon the largest audience the fair Elisler ever smiled upon in America. As she bounded upon the stage the house rose en masse, the ladies vieing with the men in their manifestations of delight, and as the ballet proceeded the enthusiasm of the spectators became so great and universal that the theatre fairly shook with the applause bestowed upon the incomparable dancer.

The house that night proved not only a paying one but a profitable one, and when Caldwell and Barrett met after the performance and read the report of the treasurer of the theatre, each grasped the other's hand with a warmth that spoke more feelingly than words.

Fanny Elisler, during her stay in New Orleans, boarded at the St. Charles Hotel, and on the night referred to, after the ballet, she was followed to the hotel by a great throng of admirers. They did not take the horses out of her carriage, as some of the Baltimoreans did, and drag her to her destination, but they cheered her very enthusiastically, and subsequently gave her a fine serenade.

Her engagement proved so great a success that it was renewed on the same conditions, and rumor said that Caldwell cleared through Barrett's pluck upward of twenty thousand dollars. Whatever may have been the latter's pecuniary reward, the result was certainly a proud feather in the cap of "Gentleman George." C. K. B.

IT WAS SHAMEFUL.

"I see," said Mr. Brown, as he glanced up from the evening paper, "that Judge Hunt has annulled young Sheely's marriage. He was drunk and didn't know what he was doing."

"Oh, what a shame," declared Mrs. Brown, "that a nice man like Judge Hunt should get intoxicated—and on the bench, too. And that might have been a happy marriage, too, if the Judge hadn't annulled it. What a shame."

Mr. Brown spent the rest of the evening drawing diagrams to show who was drunk.—San Francisco Post.

AN AWFUL PENANCE.—"James is so sweet and amiable during Lent." "How does he show it?" "Every evening he lets me read pudding recipes to him by the hour."—Chicago Record.

"IS MAUD still thinking of joining a religious sisterhood?" "Gracious, no! Her father bought her a new bicycle."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Under the Red Robe," "The Geisha," "Friends," and "The Hoosier Doctor" Open Well.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—"Under the Red Robe" was presented at the Baldwin Theatre last evening, to good attendance.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—"The Hoosier Doctor" was the continued attraction at this house, to good business.

MOROSCO'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Friends" was presented here last evening before the usual Monday night house.

TIVOLI OPERA HOUSE.—"The Geisha" was given its first presentation here before a packed house. The performance marked the return of the comic opera season at this house.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—Arthur and Jennie Dunn, Ola Hayden, Edna Collins and Hayden and Hetherton are the head liners on this week's bill.

FROM OTHER POINTS.

"A Ward of France" Finds Favor in Philadelphia—Katie Rooney Presents "The Girl from Ireland" in Reading.

[Special Dispatches to The New York Clipper.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—There seemed to be a good volume of business at the theatres last night, and they all appeared to fare evenly. The Empire Stock Co. in "Under the Red Robe," opened their second week at the Broad with a good house.....At the Chestnut Street Opera House the Bostonians, in "The Serenaders," began their second week with a well filled house.....The opening of the fifth week of "The Girl from Paris," at the Chestnut Street Theatre, showed a continuation of excellent business.....Klaw & Erlanger's Co., in "A Ward of France," made an excellent impression at the Walnut, and drew a large house.....Donnelly and Girard, in "The Geezer," opened their second week at the Park with fairly good patronage.....'The Lily of Killarney" was well sung at the Grand by the Castle Square Co., and enjoyed by a large audience.....'Northern Lights" had a completely filled house at the National.....'The World Against Her" attracted two well filled houses to Forepaugh's.....The performance of "Under the Polar Star," at the People's, was well attended.....An excellent production of "Shenandoah" held the boards at the Girard last night, and pleased a completely filled house.....The Bijou had the usual large Monday attendance.....'The Crystal Slipper," at the Auditorium, drew a big and well pleased house.....Dumont's Minstrels had good patronage.....The Rose Hill English Folly Co., at the Lyceum; Isham's Octoroons, at the Standard; Al. Reeves' Burlesque Co., at the Trocadero, and Rice & Barton's Burlesque Co., at the Kensington, had a good share of patronage yesterday afternoon and evening.....The Museum was well patronized.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19.—Fair weather and fine promises brought good attendances to the Sunday openings. Robert Mantell and Charlotte Behrens have ever been favorites here, but never did they appear to better advantage or secure heartier appreciation than at their opening at the Century Sunday night in "A Secret Warrant".....'In Gay New York" is known here as a good thing and consequently crowded the Olympic Sunday. Eddie Foy was new here as a member of the company, and scored well. Jeanette Bageard, Gertrude Zella, Arthur V. Gibson and Lee Harrison also amused.....Mr. Johnson turned them loose in comical style at the Fourteenth Street Theatre Sunday, when Richards & Pringle's Georgia Minstrels convulsed a top heavy house. It was the real negro minstrel and took well with specialties by William Slay, Gaither, Billy Kersands and several others.....'Camille" was presented by the Imperial Stock Sunday to packed houses. Most effective were H. Coulter, Brinker, Beaumont, Smith and Victory Bateman. 'Pretty Miss St. Louis" was the entertaining burlesque given by the operatic stock. Specialties were introduced by John D. Gilbert, Al. H. Wilson and Annie Myers.....Hopkins' Grand Opera House had the usual Sunday crush. "Aunt Jack" showed the comedy force of the stock, while the vaudeville end was maintained by George Monroe, Lizzie Evans and Harry Mills, with others.....Probably the best show of the season was Mlle. Ani's Monarchs at the Standard, Sunday, to big business. It is an all feature show.....'The Great Train Robbery" packed Havlin's Sunday.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—"The Sign of the Cross" drew a good house to the Boston Museum, where it began last night a two weeks' booking.....'In the Name of the Czar" attracted a large audience to the Bowdoin Square Theatre, where it was handsomely staged and finely acted.....The second week of "The Girl from Paris" opened with a house large enough to crowd the Park Theatre.....'El Capitan" was rendered at the Tremont Theatre by De Wolf Hopper and company. The theatre was packed to the doors.....The New York Lyceum Theatre Co. began its second and last week at the Hollis Street Theatre, presenting 'The First Gentleman of Europe" to a most brilliant audience.....'My Boys" was given by Richards and Canfield, assisted by an excellent company, to good business, at the Columbia Theatre.....'McSorley's Twins" caught big audiences afternoon and evening at the Grand Opera House.....'The Wife" was revived at the Castle Square Theatre and was witnessed by one of the best houses of the season.....At Keith's New Theatre, where Henry E. Dixey began his second week, large crowds attended day and evening.....The Palace Theatre, with burlesque and variety, had a good share of the patronage going, and the other popular price amusement houses fared well.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 19.—Every theatre in Cincinnati hung up the "standing room only" sign Sunday night. That was the answer of the public to the managerial fears that the tragedy at Robinson's might be followed by bad business. It was the most prosperous opening of the year. With two houses closed the result was significant.....Brady and Stair have surrendered their lease of Robinson's Opera House.....Two more victims have died, making the fatalities four with several more in a dangerous condition.....'Under the Dome" Co arrived and will rest unless the week can be filled in.....The Fountain Square secured 'The Strange Adventures of Miss Brown" to fill week of 21.....The shows all drawing so well were "Madeline, or the Magic Kiss," at Walnut Street; "Fallen Among Thieves," at Henck's; the Gay Masqueraders, at People's, and Gus Hill's World of Novelties, at the Fountain Square.....The Pike's vaudeville offerings were first class.....Monday night the Boston Lyric Stock Co. presented "Cavalleria Rusticana" at Auditorium.....'Heartsease" was presented by Henry Miller and associates of Frohman's company at Grand. The audience was large and appreciative.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—The week started out encouragingly. The weather was favorable and openings were well attended. Julia Marlowe had a packed house at the Columbia when she gave "For Bonnie Prince Charlie." Its initial presentation in Chicago. Miss Marlowe lost none of her prestige by her work and the company came in for its share of praise.....'The Cat and the Cherub" served to put vigor into the fortunes of the Schiller. A big house was present last evening. "Don't Deceive Your Wife," the three act farce which preceded it, also took well.....McVicker's was filled Sunday night, when "The Mysterious Mr. Bugle" opened. The audience voted it very funny, and Joseph Holland was the recipient of much applause.....'Secret Service" started in the fourth week at Hooley's, with as big a house as ever.....The Grand was but sparsely filled when the curtain rose on the second week of "The Good Mr. Best".....'Old Dan Tucker" did a good business at the Savoy, as did the double bill at the Gaiety.....'Nancy & Co." was revived at Hopkins' with huge success.....The vaudeville and other houses all reported an excellent first night's business.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19.—The Auditorium, under the management of Paxton & Burgess, opened its season very auspiciously last night. The "S. R. O." sign was out early, and many were turned away. The Woodward Stock Co., in "The Lost Paradise," and Mme. Tavary and Morris' trained ponies were the inaugural attractions.....Modjeska, supported by Joseph Haworth, opened a three nights' engagement at the Coates' last night, presenting "Mary Stuart" to a large and appreciative audience.....The Grand had the best of Sunday's opening, where "Tennessee's Pardner" had a big matinee, and turned hundreds away at night. James Brophy, Jane Corcoran and the Golden Nugget Quartet made special hits.....At the Ninth Street, Wm. Roberts, in "Faust," had a fair matinee and a good house at night.....The Faust Bros.' Specialty Co. had two fair houses at the Gillis.....'The Heart of Maryland" opens at the Coates Thursday night, 21.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The Edwardes London Gaiety Co. opened to a very large house at Rapley's National, presenting 'In Town.".....Kellar had a fine opening at Albaugh's Lafayette Square Opera House.....The Castle Square Opera Co.'s last week at Metzerott's Columbia Theatre opened most auspiciously. "Clover" was presented in excellent style.....Morrison's production of 'The Privateer" at Kernan & Rife's Grand Opera House met with a most hearty welcome, the auditorium being crowded.....Hyde's Combination, with Helene Mora, opened to a standing room house and the usual complete satisfaction.....The vaudeville bill at Grieves' Bijou was well received at both performances yesterday by large audiences.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 19.—Creston Clarke opened at Macauley's, in "The Last of His Race," to a very appreciative audience.....'Hogan's Alley" opened Sunday night at the Avenue, to a packed house. Yesterday's matinee and night it was the same.....Two large audiences greeted the Meffert Stock Co at the Temple Theatre, yesterday, on the presentation of "Turned Up.".....The Bijou Stock Co., headed by Sylvia Bidwell, presented 'Camille" at the Bijou, yesterday, to two good audiences.....'Vanity Fair" drew a crowded house at the new Buckingham last night.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 19.—"Jack and the Beanstalk" opened Saturday evening at the Davidson to a large and very enthusiastic audience, nearly every feature being encored.....At the Bijou "Two Little Vagrants" attracted two large houses. The scenery is fine and the company capable.....At the Alhambra vaudeville brought out good attendance, Thatcher and Marble being well received.....At the Academy Jack's "Klondike" did another land office business.....At the Pabst the farce comedy "Die Hochzeit des Reservester" was well received by a well filled house.

READING, Oct. 19.—Katie Rooney's company opened at the Grand Opera House last night in "The Girl from Ireland." It was the greatest laughing hit of the season. The star and company were excellent.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis.—With this week the Exposition closes, and with a spell of cold weather theatre managers would begin to see their way out of the woods. Last week was very warm, and the playhouses suffered in consequence.

CENTURY THEATRE.—Robert Mantell will make his first appearance at this theatre in his new play, "A Secret Warrant," and indications point to a good week. Henry Miller, in "Heartsease," follows, and both play and player are liked here. "The Mysterious Mr. Bugle" took well last week.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—"In Gay New York" will play its third engagement here at this house this week. Mrs Leslie Carter, in "The Heart of Maryland," will come next week. "Who Is Who?" pleased large audiences last week.

FOURTEENTH STREET THEATRE.—George McManus will reopen his house this week as a minstrel and vaudeville house. The opening attraction will be Richards & Pringle's Georgia Minstrels.

IMPERIAL THEATRE.—Beaumont Smith received encomiums of praise for his excellent work as Iago last week, but the whole company did so excellently and "Othello" was so grandly staged that the management of this house received great praise. This week the stock will present "Camille," with Victory Bateman in the title role. "The Wages of Sin" will be the next drama presented. The operatic stock company have to offer a trans-Mississippi travesty, entitled "Pretty Miss St. Louis."

HOPKINS' GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Aunt Jack" is the drama for this week. The vaudeville includes George W. Monroe, Lizzie Evans and Harry Mills, Maud Beal Price, T. W. Eckert and Emma Berg, Lou Wells, Paragon Trio, Sigfried and Lizzie McKeever.

STANDARD THEATRE.—Hot weather did not deter the devotees of this house last week, each performance of "Vanity Fair" being given to crowded houses. The winner for this week is Mlle. Ani's Monarchs. The Gay Masqueraders follow.

HAVLIN'S THEATRE.—"The Great Train Robbery" is the thriller for this week, with "Humanity" to follow. "A Guilty Mother" played to good business last week.

DEUTSCHE THEATRE.—"Othello" and "Papa Nitsche" were last week's offerings. This week "Hydeman and Son" and "The Celebration" will be given.

PALACE THEATRE.—The Ramunda, the Comstocks, the great Eugene Root, the legless bicycle wonder; the Lyles, Marsh and Vernon, Ed Gallagher, Doc. Hesse, Frank Jones, Flo. Noonan, Julia Kelly, Cora Franklin and Little Della.

GOSSIP.—The first annual St. Louis Exposition Horse Show will be held next week in the newly completed Exposition Coliseum.....C. Edward Dicken, an old time minstrel favorite and interlocutor, and Laura Almoucia join the Imperial Stock Co. this week.....W. A. Zimmerman has been made manager of the Deutsche Theatre.....Anton Seidl and his orchestra will give a concert at the Olympic Sunday.....'Who is Who?" will be shown at McCasland's Opera House, East St. Louis, Sunday.....Ida La Pearl (Mrs. Frank M. Jones), of Jones and La Pearl, presented her husband with a baby girl Oct. 9.....The variety theatres are faring badly in St. Louis this season. The old Casino, formerly Comique, which was to open 2 has been abandoned, and the Gaiety, which opened a few weeks ago, has been closed. The Palace is the only variety house open, and it is under the closest police surveillance.

Kansas City.—This week, for the first time this season, all the houses will be open. The Auditorium, under new management, will try a new departure, that of a stock company and vaudeville, with an admission fee of ten cents. Last week business, with the exception of the Grand, was not good, warm weather, and nothing specially attractive, being the cause.

COATES OPERA HOUSE.—Clay Clement, in "The New Dominion" and his new play, "A Southern Gentleman," came last week, to fair results. "The New Dominion" is still as clever as ever, but the new show, "A Southern Gentleman," was not quite up to expectations. Mr. Clements is not yet sure of his Southern accent, and traces of his Baron Hohenstauffen crop out every once in a while. The company work hard, such well known people as Frank E. Arken, Eleanor Carey, Karra Kenwyn, Mrs. Chas. G. Craig and Wm. B. McGillicuddy, all making the most of their respective roles. This week Modjeska, supported by Joseph Haworth, comes the first three nights, in "Mary Stewart." "Madge" and "Macbeth." The last three nights, for the first time here, Belasco's "The Heart of Maryland."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Last week Hanlons' "Superba" did a good week's business. The show is as clever as usual, the first act being entirely new this season. Charles Guyer is still the hit of the performance. This week "Tennessee's Pardner" will run for the week. Following comes Primrose & West's Big Minstrels.

NINTH STREET THEATRE.—Last week "The Fast Mail," "The Tornado" and "The Defaulter" were given to medium houses. This week Roberts, in "Faust" and "Don Cæsar," and next week "Darkest Russia."

GILLIS.—The Faust Bros. Vaudeville Co. open Sunday matinee.

NEWMARKET.—Tom Fey, May Wright, John Doherty, Edith Wilma, J. J. Clements, Tillie Collins and May Clements.

AUDITORIUM.—Under the management of Paxton and Burgess this house will open Oct 18 with the Woodward Stock Co. in "The Lost Paradise" as the inaugural, with Mme. Marie Tavary and Prof. Morris' trained ponies as vaudeville features. The price will be ten cents to all parts of the house, with the exception of a few twenty-five cent seats on the first floor. This is a new departure here and will be watched with interest.

CLIPPERINGS.—The advance guard in town this week are "Pop" Hunt, of "Tennessee's Pardner;" Wm. B. Hull, with Modjeska; Ed. R. Salter, ahead of Roberts, and W. C. Huested, with "The Heart of Maryland."....Uncle Billy Warren has resigned his position at the Ninth Street Theatre, and will be the local manager for Paxton & Burgess at the Auditorium.....Local labor unions are attempting to boycott the Grand Opera House on account of some disagreement in regard to salaries of stage hands. It seems Manager Judah discharged some employees for drunkenness, and these are the chief kickers. It has had no effect whatever on the attendance. Some three or four union men were employed on the stage, and walked out during the first act of the "Superba" show Sunday night, but it had no effect on the performance. In fact, seven minutes were gained on the afternoon show.....A. G. Mackenzie has been installed in his old position of treasurer of the Ninth Street Theatre.....The first car of Lemen Bros.' Circus is in. The show will soon go into Winter quarters here.....Colvin Kemper, of Wagenhalls & Kemper, passed through here the other day, and announces that their new production of "Twin Saints" will have its inaugural in New York about February.....James Casaway is the treasurer of the Newmarket.....The Litz & Davis "She" Co. is still in the city and will not go out until the weather gets cooler.....Manager Judah took one of his weekly fishing trips last week and landed forty-one pounds of bass in two hours.

St. Joseph.—At Tootle's Theatre "At Gay Coney Island" opened Oct. 15 for two nights and matinee, to S. R. O. At the close of Mathews and Bulger's specialty turn in third act a floral tribute about six feet in height was presented them by their St. Joseph friends. Mr. Mathews made a neat speech of acceptance. "Tennessee's Pardner" had good business 14. Clay Clement comes 21. Primrose & West 23.

CRAWFORD'S THEATRE.—"A Milk White Flag" was seen here for the first time 15, when they opened for two nights and matinee to a packed house. Mary Marble, who is quite a favorite here, apeared to excellent advantage. The Paiges open 18, for one week.

WAGNER'S WONDERLAND.—Business last week was splendid. The people for week of 18 are: Forrester and Floyd, Moncrief and Meredith, Kelly and Woods, Hednix and Prescott, Vernon and Armour, K. Ando, Chas. E. Witt, and Zozell and Vernon.

EDEN MUSEE.—This house was reopened 14, under the management of Bert Martin. Business has been very satisfactory since the opening night. The people for week of 18 are Lilus Neuville, Frances Skelly, Wright De Hoven, Murratt and Croft, Hanson and Mack, Kehoe and Raynor, Emma Reider, J. J. Leland, the Ingrahams, L. J. Kellam, H. D. Woodcock, E. E. Wright, Phil and Bessie Maher, and Buckskin Bill. Mons. Grothe will appear in curio hall.

FOREPAUGH-SELLS BROS.' CIRCUS comes 18.

Springfield.—At the Baldwin Theatre the Woodman and Slater Comedy Co. played three nights 11-13, at popular prices, to fair business. Lincoln J. Carter's scenic melodramas will be on the boards week commencing 18. "Sowing the Wind" is billed for 26, followed 29 by "The Girl from Paris."

CONNECTICUT.—[See Page 559.]

Hartford.—At Parson's Theatre "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley" had medium attendance Oct. 16. "My Wife's Step Husband" entertained a very small audience 11. Robert Ingersoll lectured 12, to fair returns. A fashionable audience of good size were well pleased with the performance of "A Coat of Many Colors," by the Kelcy-Shannon Co., 14. "The Widow Jones," with Flo. Irwin in the title role, did a good business 15. "For Fair Virginia" comes 20; Jos. Jefferson, in double bill, 21; "The Swell Miss Fitzwell" 23, Waite Comedy Co. entire week of 25.

HARTFORD OPERA HOUSE.—Al. Reeves' Burlesque Co. did well 15, 16. "The Cherry Pickers" did the business of the week 11, 12, with full houses at all three performances. "Brother for Brother" had light houses 13, 14. "The Span of Life" is due 18, 19. "A Breezy Time" 20. "A Gay New Yorker" 21, Hopkins' Trans-Oceanics 22, 23. "Blue Jeans" 23, 26, "Human Hearts" 27, 28, "Peck's Bad Boy" 29, 30.

THE MEMBERS of "The Widow Jones" Co. occupied boxes at the performance of the Kelcey-Shannon Co. 14. They were to have played Northampton, but through some misunderstanding they were not expected there and had not been billed.

Bridgeport.—At Smith's Auditorium big business rules. The Manhattan Burlesque and Comic Opera Co., and a vaudeville bill made up last week's performances. Coming: Rogers and Ryan, in "A Gay New Yorker," 18-20; Edward Harrigan, in "The Grip," 21-23.

PARK CITY THEATRE.—Fair business was the rule at this house up to Oct. 16. The attraction for that date, "A Coat of Many Colors," had a full house. Coming: Joseph Jefferson 23, "The Span of Life" 26, Colonial Opera Co., in "The Maid of Marblehead," 29; "A Contented Woman" 30.

— D. Adam Brown is now manager of McKanlass Comedy Co., now touring Michigan.

NEW JERSEY.

Newark.—The first appearance in Newark of Chas. Frohman's company, in "Never Again," drew a good audience to the Newark Theatre Monday, Oct. 18. The excellence of the cast, as well as the play, will no doubt obtain gratifying results. Last week the De Wolf Hopper company, in "El Capitan," played a very pleasant week. Business was excellent, and the show gave entire satisfaction. "One Round of Pleasure" is booked 25 and week.

COLUMBIA.—"The Two Johns" will dispense fun this week of the kind that will probably draw. N. S. Wood's business was quite satisfactory last week. "The American Girl" will be given 25 and week.

JACOBS'.—A. S. Lipman, in "The Indian," opened here Monday night, to a well filled house The play is new in Newark and gives promise of a good week. The Byrne Bros were well received last week, their business being somewhat in excess of their last visit. Coming, 25 and week, Thos. E Shea in "The Man o' War's Man."

WALDMANN'S.—The Knickerbockers had all of their magnetism with them on Monday night, 18, and the result was a large and well pleased audience. They will make it a lively week. Scribner's Burlesquers closed a fairly good week 16. Hopkins' Trans-Oceanic Co. will be here 25 and week. On Friday, 29, will occur another of the popular matinees for ladies which Manager Waldman has established.

TRILBY NICKELODEON.—Another good bill this week, including the Killingbecks, Bella Henshaw, Babe Reil, Ada Brown, Cad Hunter and Cissel and Trible.

NOTES.—Maude Cleveland opened with Byrne Bros., in "Eight Bells," on Monday night, 18 in Brooklyn..... Manager Egbert, of the Trilby, received a benefit on Friday night, 15. A large crowd, both before and behind the footlights, testified to his popularity, and a handsome silver mounted cane and a large floral horseshoe partially expressed the good wishes that were tendered him..... The usual Sunday performances in German, at the Krueger Auditorium, are to be alternated with American vaudeville. The first vaudeville programme was rendered 17, when the following people appeared: Warren and Howard, Estrus, Sheehan and Sheehan, Florence French, the Asbys, Ed. L. Lang and the Weston Sisters, assisted by Sam Weston. The performance was well received, and will probably become popular. J. M. Lederer is manager and Harry Healy stage manager.

Jersey City.—"Shall We Forgive Her," with Marie Wainwright, supported by a competent cast, is the Academy attraction for the current week. The opening night, Oct. 18, brought out a goodly attendance, which seemed to enjoy the play, if applause be any criterion to go by. To follow, 25-30, the ever popular "Eight Bells." "The Privateer" scored a fair week ending 16.

COURT HOUSE THEATRE.—Belle White, the Three Zereeths, Ed. Dennella and Ida, Belle Cushing, Florence Zeller, Amy Clausen and the Princeton Sisters

OLYMPIC.—Mamie Howe Maude Bevington, May Harding, Mabel Leonard and Katie Mae.

BON TON.—Reilly & Wood's aggregation, comprising many new faces and a few familiar ones, opened a week's stay 18, with a largely attended matinee. An overflowing house prevailed at night. The roster includes Eulalie, a dancer of merit, always a favorite here; the three Sisters Franchonetti, whose act was indorsed as good; Frobel and Ruge, in their thrilling mid air act; the three Lane Sisters, introducing some new ideas; the the Deonzo Brothers, in a novel acrobatic act; Frank D. Bryan, in a good selection of songs; three Gardiner Brothers, musical experts and one of the many hits; the Eldridges, with an enjoyable comedy sketch, and last, Pat Reilly himself, in an act that always pleases. For week of 25-30, Irwin Brothers. The Bohemian Burlesquers closed a good week 16

NOTES.—Reilly & Wood have as a special feature this season the "Four La Champagne" quadrille dancers, also the Six Parisians, a study in French styles and fashions.. Geo. Dollinger, the first leader at Wareing's Hoboken Theatre (now the Lyric), is now second violinist at the Academy..... A great many changes were made in the cast of "The Privateer" while here, and at one time it was doubtful if the attraction should proceed or close. Advance Frank Hawley, has booked the attraction for Baltimore, Md., this week, with Washington, D. C., to follow. Author Harrison Grey Fiske was a visitor during the week.....Scenic Artist Paul Mellon is at home again after being out with the J. Al. Sawtelle Dramatic Co. Mr. Mellon states that every scene and set the company carries is new and the business something phenomenal..... F. Marion Crawford, by the courtesy of Major James B. Pond, gave a complimentary lecture at Hasbrouck Hall, 16, on "Italian Home Life in the Dark Ages."..... At the Bon Ton matinees all the seats have been placed at the universal price of 25 cents. .....Edward J. Groebl, son of the celebrated pianist, Marie Bonsivet de Moricourt, of Continental fame, and a brother of Marie Groebl, has been secured by the Hasbrouck School of Music for the pianoforte department..... Little Andrew Byrnes has been secured as solo violinist for the pupils concert of the German Conservatory of Music of your city, which takes place at Chickering Hall, 22. The prodigy will also appear at the Palma Club House, 20..... Francis Smyth has been resting the past three weeks on account of bronchical troubles.....Joe Byron and May Blanch are resting this week. They are booked for the Brooklyn, N. Y., Music Hall next week.....Ford and Lewis, after a thorough rehearsal of their new sketch, open at Philadelphia week of 25.

Hoboken.—Koster & Bial's musical burlesque extravaganza, "Gayest Manhattan," with a complete ballet and chorus, is Manager Souller's Lyric Theatre attraction Oct. 18-20. The presentation was given on Monday night, before a well filled house, and was thoroughly enjoyed. Business last week was fairly good.

IMPERIAL.—Carlin and Price, Chevalier Sisters, Lena Cooley, Bertha Stead, McCabe and Emmett, Lizzie Meeks and Hattie Bennett.

GAIETY.—Maud Bruce and May Shannon, Kitty Miller, Fox and Darwin, Mabel Mansfield, and Gussie Harrison.

BIJOU.—The Major Sisters, Nannie Russell, Lizzie Heywood, Josie Wolby and Walter Vernon.

GANTZBERG S.—Dolly Allen, Ray Sully, Gertie Larsen, Frieda Von Norden, Hugo Gottschall and Helene Bauman.

NOTES.—"My Wife's Step Husband" closed the season at the Lyric 16. Manager Wm. J Hanley states that the closing is only temporary, solely for the purpose of pruning some portions of the play and strengthening other places that now are weak. A majority of the people will be retained. The date for the reopening is uncertain. Mamie Ryan, last season with "A Bowery Girl," was very effective as the voluble Georgiana McCracker. .....The bookings at the Lyric are the Rossow Midgets 21-23, A. S. Lipman, in Morrison's new play, "The Indian," 25-27, and "Under the Polar Star" 28-30. Manager Souller has inaugurated a scale of reduced prices for matinees. All balcony seats 15 cents, and parquet and orchestra seats 25 cents..... G. M. Miles will shortly place on the road a travesty on "Half a King," entitled "Half a Jack," the author of which is James Anderson Russell.....The Major Sisters, two clever singers and dancers made themselves favorites at the Bijou on the opening night, 18.....The Chevaliers, who were booked to open at the Imperial 18, failed to appear. One of the sisters met with an accident..... Dolly Allen has signed contracts to do a six weeks' tour of the continent of Europe.

Paterson.—At the Opera House "The Wyoming Mail" had deservedly poor houses Oct 11-13. O'Dell Williams presented "The Alderman" to top heavy houses 14-16. Bookings: Rossow Midget Star Specialty Co. 18-20, "Montezuma of Mexico" 21-23, "Shore Acres" 26, 27, Edward Harrigan 28-30

EDEN THEATRE.—"O'Hooligan's Wedding" caught on in great shape at this theatre 11 and week. They are booked for a return date. "Always on Time" is the bill for 18 and week. Manhattan Burlesque Opera Co. 25-30.

BIJOU THEATRE.—Lang's Operatic Burlesque Co. closed a successful week at this house 16. Scribner's Columbian Co. is the attraction for 18 and week. For week 25 we have the White Elephant Extravaganza Co.

Trenton.—At Taylor's Opera House "Secret Service," Oct. 13, came to big business. "Peck's Bad Boy," 15, 16, had S. R. O. Booked: Corse Payton 18 and week, Donnelly and Girard 25, Banda Rossa 26, matinee only; "A Coat of Many Colory (night) 26, "For Fair Virginia" 27, "Shore Acres" 30.

NICKELODEON THEATRE.—Week of 18, Mitchell and Marion's All Star Specialty Co.

Elizabeth.—At the Lyceum Theatre Rice's Comedians came Oct. 11-16, to fair business. To arrive: Margaret Mather, in "Cymbeline," 23; "Coat of Many Colors" 25.

STAR THEATRE.—"The World Against Her," 11, came to a light house. United Order of Workmen (local) 16. To arrive: Spear's Comedians 18-23.

TIPS.—Arrangements are being perfected for a chrysanthemum exhibition in November for sweet charity's sake by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Atlantic City.—At the Academy of Music Agnes Wallace Villa, in "The World Against Her," attracted a large audience Oct. 14. Margaret Mather, although announced at short notice, drew a big house 16, appearing in "Romeo and Juliet." So far as is known, week of 18 house will be dark. "For Fair Virginia" is announced for 25.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Charlotte.—At the Charlotte Opera House "Joshua Simpkins" comes Oct. 21. R. E. Graham 25 (return engagement), Richards & Pringle's Minstrels 28.

Clipper Post Office.

☞ A STAMPED ENVELOPE, plainly addressed, must be inclosed for each letter, and the line of business followed by the person addressed should be given, in order to prevent mistakes.

NOTE.—Professionals and others should bear in mind that all letters, etc., in transit between the United States and Canada, must be prepaid, otherwise they are not forwarded.

WE HAVE a letter for James Michael at this office.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee.—The offerings during the past week at the theatres have not been of especial interest. The heat has shown its effects at some of the places, and light houses have been the order of the day and night.

THE DAVIDSON.—"Never Again," Oct 10-13, played to very light business. "Captain Impudence," for the rest of the week, played to fair business. The company is strong. For week of 17, "Jack and the Beanstalk." Andrew Mack, in "An Irish Gentleman," 24-27; Modjeska, in repertory, 28-30.

BIJOU OPERA HOUSE.—"Boy Wanted" was liberally patronized during last week. For week of 17, "Two Little Vagrants;" "At Gay Coney Island" 24-30.

ALHAMBRA MUSIC HALL.—Specialties have gladdened the hearts of large audiences during the week. Prof. Leonidas made one of the greatest hits ever recorded in this city with his performing dogs and cats. Myra Morella and Emila Glover, Wertz and Adair, and Leopoldie were also well received. For week of 17: Francella and Lewis, Ward, Bradburn and Ray, Geo Thatcher and Ed. Marble, Ford and Frances, Jno West, the Aherns, Val Vousen and the Herras Family.

ACADEMY.—Sam T. Jack's "Orange Blossoms" have done a tremendous business all week, the house being crowded to the doors at all performances. For week of 17, Sam T. Jack's "Kl

World of Players.

— Once more Death has dropped the curtain on a tragedy at Robinson's Opera House, Cincinnati, O. Without warning the dome of that theatre fell upon the audience gathered therein Oct. 15 to witness the play, "Dangers of a Great City." Little did those in front know of the dangers that encompassed them. Little Alice Opie had just finished her "Yellow Kid" specialty. She was being thunderously applauded. As she appeared at the wings to bow her acknowledgment there was a crackling sound. A stream of dry mortar and plaster poured from the ceiling Then there was another, more terrible crash. The dome was in the centre of the ceiling. seventy five feet from the orchestra chairs, and was used for a circle of lights that furnished the illumination for the gallery and balcony. This dome, as though torn from its fastenings by a mighty hand, suddenly swayed, the plaster about it fell, timbers parted, and the canopy fell from its place. The dome's peculiar shape kept it from falling rapidly and this saved many lives. It dropped to the orchestra chairs, but a place had been cleared for it by the frightened people, and no one was crushed by it. But that was only the beginning. In a moment the interior of the theatre was a scene of bedlam. When the debris reached the gallery it carried a portion of each end with it, and down the whole mass went to the parquet. No sooner had the dome fallen than the lights went out, leaving the theatre in total darkness. This lasted but a few moments, when, magic like, the lights flared up on the scene. Scores had been hurt in the mad rush for the exits. Like wildfire the story of the accident spread about the city, exaggerated a hundred fold. Tens of thousands mad excited people choked all the streets leading to the theatre. Only two were killed. Six were dangerously hurt, while nearly one hundred suffered injuries and bruises. Fortunately there was no spark to kindle a fire, and without the added horror of a holocaust the wounded were rescued by a brave band and hurried either to hospital cots or their homes. Not a member of the company was hurt. This catastrophe recalls a similar calamity at that place twenty-one years ago On the afternoon of Feb. 5, 1876, the school children were concluding a week's presentation of an allegory, "The Great Republic." Just as the curtain was about to be raised at 2 o'clock some one in the balcony cried "Fire!" A stampede followed, though the alarm was false, and many were trampled beneath the feet of the frightened throng. Eight persons were killed and many injured. It is generally believed that this last accident was the result of decayed timbers. John Robinson, part owner of the house, says: "We shall have all this repaired and be giving performances as usual in two weeks." The audience was not very large or there would have been more fatalities. Much comment has been made that the accident occurred during the engagement of "Dangers of A Great City," and that it prefaced the engagement of "Under the Dome." It was certainly a strange coincidence.

— Salter & Martin's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Notes: On Saturday night, Oct. 9, we played Marion, O. In the evening seven prisoners escaped from the county jail, during the performance in the Grand Opera House, and the marshal called on Manager Duclos, and tried to secure some of our dogs, in order to find the prisoners, but the request was not granted. About an hour later the marshal returned with four police and demanded the dogs. In order to save any trouble they were allowed to be taken. They went to the jail, where the dogs were put in the room from which the prisoners had escaped, and after a few minutes the door was opened and they let them go. They ran around for a few moments and then started off; the marshal says they went nearly twenty miles before they got the prisoners, but they were captured and returned to jail. The dogs were brought back to our cars at 5.15 A. M., pretty well done up, but they are all right again, and ready for the next run.

— Gracie Cumings has joined the Murray and Mack Co., as principal soubrette, making her fifth season with this company. Joe J. Mackie has replaced Sadie Connelly in the cast as the Irish woman.

— A. D. McLean. writes that "The Broadway Girl" is playing to good business.

— Fred M Gray and E. J. Greenslade, stage carpenters, were injured Oct. 13, in the saw mill scene in "Blue Jeans," at the Bowdoin Square Theatre, Boston, Mass.

— Joe H. Hodge, manager of the Will T. Hodge Co., writes as follows: "Business for the past six weeks has been the largest since our opening last May. In Canton, N. Y., we broke the record, having played to more money than any reper ory company that ever played the house. In Malone, N. Y., last week, we turned people away three nights during our stay, and Manager Putnam assured me that it was the first time he had used the S. R. O. sign in three years. Saranac Lake fell into line this week with a crowded house on our opening night. We have all new plays in our repertory, and are using none of the pieces we opened our season with. The company comprises fourteen people, and is giving the best of satisfaction. My ad. for open time in THE OLD RELIABLE secured me some good bookings, once more demonstrating that there is only one way to obtain anything in this business, and that is through THE CLIPPER."

— Harold Roorbach has recently added to his list of printed and published plays "All the Comforts of Home," "A Night Off" and "Seven-Twenty-Eight." These taking comedies are well printed, and issued at the uniform price of twenty-five cents Although the acting rights of these plays are reserved, information is given concerning the way to acquire the right to present them.

— Mrs. Frances M. Bennett, wife of Henry N. Bennett, of R. M Gulick & Co., of the Bijou circuit, died Oct. 13, at Farmingdale, N. J, aged sixty-eight years.

— Lederer & McLellan, of the Casino, have requested Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger to cancel the holiday road time booked by that firm for "The Belle of New York," as the firm announces that an all Fall and Winter run of the play will be made. This action cancels the late Winter dates of productions listed to succeed the Casino's present tenant.

— William Brady has completed arrangements whereby he secures the spectacular play, "Nature." He will endeavor to secure the services of Clay M. Greene, or some other prominent playwright to rewrite it in time to produce it on the road by Jan. 1, opening either in Boston, Philadelphia or Chicago.

— Thomas Q Seabrooke, who closed his season in "Papa Gou Gou" Oct. 19, last, sailed for Europe 13, to appear as the leading comedian in a new comic opera to be produced by Williamson & Musgrove, at the Shaftesbury Theatre, about Nov. 13.

— Joseph Coyne and Charlotte Crane will head a No. 2 "Stranger in New York" Company, which will open in Elizabeth, N. J., on Nov. 22.

— Wilbur Higby and Nellie Diamond Higby have joined the Orpheum Theatre Stock Co., Denver, Col., the former for leading heavy, and the latter for soubrette and juvenile business. They state that they received about twenty-five offers from their ad. in THE CLIPPER.

— Hugh Dolan, manager of the Irene Taylor Co., writes: "We opened in Bordentown, N. J., Oct. 11, in 'Fate' to a good house and business has been improving at every performance since. 'East Lynne,' 13, drew out one of the largest audiences ever in the house. Our engagement at Washington, N J., week of 4 was most profitable and at the same time very pleasant. Business increased with each performance and Saturday afternoon the entire house was sold out for our evening performance of 'Streets of New York,' and the S. R. O. sign put in an early appearance. We play Bridgeton, N. J., week of Oct. 18."

— Charles E. White, business manager of Gus Hill's "McFadden's Row of Flats" writes that this attraction continues to play to big business everywhere it appears.

— "A Gay New Yorker" Notes: Our play has made a most decided hit, and return dates are requested at every place in which we have appeared. It is a rollicking musical farce comedy, and is not to be confounded with any burlesque company bearing a title similar. Rogers and Ryan have introduced many new features since our opening, and now it is one of the most pleasing attractions on the road.

— Charles Arnold, who has been touring England, Australia and Africa during the past ten years, will return to America the end of October to arrange for the production of his own and David Christie Murray's play entitled "Paul o' the Alps."

— Roster of the Van Dyke & Eaton Co.: H. Walter Van Dyke, Harden Klark, Fred Wayne Campbell, Walter L. Ranken Jr., Harry W. Blanchard, Fred McClenahan, Henry Watters, C. Mack, Ollie Eaton, Zula Klark, Bertie Van Dyke and Mrs. R. McClenahan.

— "In Old Vienna," Theodore Kremer's comedy, is not to be produced by F. C. Whitney after all. Charles Coghlan had been engaged for the leading role, but after he had read the part he declined to play it.

— "The Circus Girl" company, which was organized under the direction of A. H. Canby, will open about Nov. 1. J. A. E. Malone, who originally produced the play in London for George Edwardes, is rehearsing the American company at the Knickerbocker Theatre daily. The company numbers seventy-five persons in all, prominent among them being Amanda Fabris, Mabelle Howe, Mary Young, Mabella Baker, John Slavin, Samuel Edwards, Alfred Hickson, E. D. Tyler and Charles Whalen. Mr. Canby has another musical comedy under preparation, called "Little Miss Nobody," composed by a prominent English author. The music is by Arthur Godfrey. Another new operetta, by Anthony Mars and Maurien Desralliers, with music by Planquette, is on its way over here from Paris, where the play was produced for the first time at the Gaities the early part of this month. This also will be produced under Mr. Canby's direction.

— Henry E. Dixey signed a ten years' contract, Oct. 15, with Edward L. Bloom to appear before the public as a prestidigitateur. He will use entirely the scenery and property formerly owned by Bancroft, the magician, and Manager Bloom has ordered from Europe two new illusions.

— Mrs. Lillie Lawrence, known as a singer twenty years ago under the name of Lillie Howard, was taken to Bellevue in this city, Oct. 15, to be examined as to her sanity.

— Ruben & Andrews announce that early in the season they will produce at the Hotel Astoria a pantomime entitled "In Old Japan," by Vance Thompson, with music by Aime Lachaume. A Japanese artist is superintending the costuming, and the rehearsals and real Japanese dancing girls will appear. Mlle. Pi ar Morin will have the leading part.

— Manager Haskell, of the Auditorium, Ashtabula, O., served a banquet to the members of Rook's Players Co., at the conclusion of their engagement in that city.

— Manager E. A. Thompson reports prosperity for the John E. Dovrack Co. through Illinois.

— Manager D. V. Arthur has engaged Edwin Holt for Stuart Robson's Co.

— Rook's Players have been augmented by Cyrene, the dancer.

— Pauline C. Rust and Dore Davidson have changed the title of their mystic drama, "An Exchange of Identity," rechristening same "A Soul's Exchange." The public reading rehearsal, which was planned for the early Fall, will take place during the month of April. The authors of "A Soul's Exchange" are now at work upon a new play, treating upon incidents in the late rebellion.

— Davis & Keogh promise that their production of "Heart of the Klondike," at the Star Theatre next month, following the Lilliputians, shall be extensive.

— The Blaisdell & Brown's Empire Comedy Co. opened the season, Sept. 27, for the week, at Oak Harbor, O.

— The Lambs Club held in annual election Oct. 14, with this result: Shepherd, Clay M. Greene; boy, Augustus Thomas; corresponding secretary, Thomas B. Clarke; recording secretary, Thomas Manning; treasurer, E. Clifford Potter; librarian, Edward A. Paulton; council, De Wolf Hopper, Cyril Scott, John Drew, Charles H. Hoyt, Charles H. Riegel, Joseph D. Redding, M. Roosevelt Schuyler, Fred H. Von Stade and George H. Taylor.

— Sophie Traubman, the opera singer, who was recently married to Charles Patzowsky has decided to retire from the stage. She made her first appearance at the Metropolitan Opera House in the Autumn of 1889, in the German company, and she has been for the last two seasons a member of the company under the management of Abbey, Schoeffel & Gran at that house.

— "A Ward of France," under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger, was produced for the first time on any stage at Lyceum Theatre, Scranton, Pa., Oct. 14.

— Frank Lee Miles, manager Miles' Ideal Stock Co., who was wounded in the hand by the accidental discharge of a pistol at Halifax, has so far recovered as to personally attend to business, and reports that his company and young star, John E. Miles, have met with success.

— Roster of Blaisdell & Brown's Empire Comedy Co.: Blaisdell and Brown, managers; Joseph H. Slater, stage manager and director; Chas. W. Guthrie, Frank G. Long, Harry R. Stetson Thos. H. Sewell, Joseph Canterbury, Winifred E. Allen, Maude Selden, Nellie Heimer, Miss Horton, musical directress. Repertory: Joseph H. Slater's "In the Rogue's Gallery." "A Dashing Widow," "A Soldier's Sweetheart," "The Mascot of the Mine," "A Mock Marriage," "A Wicked World" and "My Wife's Husband."

— W. H. Macart closed with Gilmore & Leonard's "Hogan's Alley" at Indianapolis, Ind. He is now at work upon the third edition of the farce for use next season.

— De Witt Clinton and wife, Gracie Beebe, have closed with "Railroad Jack" to join Lincoln J. Carter's No. 1 "Heart of Chicago" Co.

— June Agnott is sole proprietress of the company bearing her name as title, and T. C. Howard is her general manager.

— Gipsy Warde and Ruby Erwood are visiting Viola Valora at her home, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

— W. G. Brown writes: "My four act drama, 'The Heart of Cuba,' has made a success. I have leased it on royalty to the following repertory companies for the season: Dick Sutton, Marks Bros., Rooks Players, F. S. Krebs, Boston Comedy Co., Harry Coffin, Rhodes Merrymakers, Sharpley Lyceum Co., Murray Comedy Co., Senter Payton Co., Orpheum Stock Co. (Denver). Tommy Shearer Co., J. N. Rentfrow Co., Frederick Wilson Co., and several others are negotiating for its early production. I am now putting the finishing touches on a new farce comedy."

— John P. Smith, a veteran manager, is being cared for by the Actors' Fund in a local hospital.

— At a meeting of a special committee of the Actors' Society of America, held Oct. 15, the question of joining the Federation of Labor was discussed and an opinion favorable to such action from Mrs. Clara Foltz, the society's counsel, was read. No action was taken.

— Joseph Hofmann, the pianist, who was seen here ten years ago under Abbey & Schoeffel's management, will return to America. Theodore Thomas has engaged him to play with his orchestra and to give a series of recitals in the principal cities. He will be heard in this city in March during Mr. Thomas' series of concerts at the Metropolitan Opera House.

— Bobert Herndon has completed a new opera house at Yorkville, S. C., which the "Joshua Simpkins" Co. will dedicate Oct. 26.

— Lee J. Kellam states that Eldon's Comedians closed Oct. 16, at Coshocton, O. He goes to the Eden Musee, St. Joseph, Mo., to produce plays.

— The Klondyke Four will be a new act, to open soon, including Wm. A. Williams, F. G. Ferguson, Geo. R. Clark and Walter G. Spanfield.

— Manager Edwin Walter assures us that "A Divorce Cure" has not closed, and that Margaret May will continue with the company, not going with "Secret Service" as stated.

— 'The Man in Black," Espy Williams' four act romantic drama, adapted from Stanley J. Weyman's novel, which was acted for the first time in America Sept. 3, at the Eleventh Street Opera House, Altoona, Pa., was given a simultaneous production at the Vaudeville Theatre, London, Eng., for copyright purposes.

— Frederick Warde produced his new play, "Iskander," by W. D. Eaton, for the first time, at Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 14.

— "A Cavalier of France," a five act melo drama, by Espy Williams, which was given its first production under this title Sept. 7, at the Winnepeg, Man., Theatre, by Louis James and company, was originally called "The Queen's Garter," and contained only four acts. Under its first title it was given its premier March 12, 1896, at the Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, O., by Robt. Mantell and company.

— Proctor's Pleasure Party Notes: We are now in our tenth week, and have played to excellent business everywhere, with the exception of two weeks in the Black Hills. We open at Butte, Montana, for three weeks, Oct. 25, then go direct to California.

— Manager Earl Burgess writes as follows: "THE CLIPPER is without a doubt the greatest advertising sheet in this country. My ad. in last week's issue brought me one thousand and eighty-one (1,081) answers; many from the best people in the profession. Our business continues big at Bellefontaine, O; we turned people away at each performance. We are doing the largest business this week that was ever done in East Liverpool, O. We are rehearsing Octavus Cohen's new play, 'The Waif of Sefton,' in which we will feature Little Irene Myers."

— The "A Wild Goose Chase" Co. opened its season at the Fairmont (W. Va.) Opera House Oct. 14 The roster: Harry Sargent, Cliff. Farrell, Lillian Leach, Bancroft and White, Stanley and Scanlon, Sisters Onri, Mable Wright, Boston Ideal Comedy Quartet, Harry Emgun, tenor; George Platte, alto; Arthur Lewis, baritone; Howard Clifton, basso; Chas. Cohen, musical director; Chas. Yahle, property man; James K. Cornell, programmer; W. C. Robey, advance agent, and Chas. W. Goodwin, proprietor and manager.

— Richard P. Murphy, Blanche Andrews and little Kathleen Murphy appeared last week at the Third Avenue Theatre, this city, with Dan McCarthy, in "The Dear Irish Home."

— Milton Lackaye, in Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 14, was granted a verdict in his suit against Nixon & Zimmerman for $266, an amount, with interest, said to be due him for salary. His claim was founded upon an order written to Nixon & Zimmerman by George W. Lederer, of the firm of Lederer & Hamilton, Lackey's employers, from New York, and bearing date of April 15, 1892. During the week that the order was written Mr. Lackaye was appearing as leading man at the Broad Street Theatre in the play, "Pompadour." The company had played the preceding week in Baltimore, and on April 6, 1892, Mr. Nixon had been notified by the manager of the company that the members refused to go to Philadelphia to play the week of April 11 unless they received a sum of $700, and unless the defendants advanced that sum, to be paid to the company, they could not appear in Philadelphia during the next week. This amount Nixon & Zimmerman advanced, and Mr. Lackaye sued to recover his salary for the Philadelphia engagement, claiming that his portion of the salary advanced was in payment of his week at Baltimore.

— Charlotta M. Crabtree (Lotta), at Akron, O., Oct. 16, brought suit against the estate of Henry E. Abbey for $22,940. That amount is asked for the principal and interest on a loan of $20,000 made a little over two years ago, none of the interest ever having been paid. Mr. Abbey, as security, gave a mortgage on a business block he owned in that city, he having once been a resident of Akron. This block is covered also by a second mortgage for $45,000, the two together amounting to the entire value of the property. This property was formerly owned by Lotta, and it passed to Abbey, who was her manager, some years ago.

— Robert B. Monroe, for the company to support George W. Monroe in "A Happy Little Home," has already engaged Annie Lloyd, Daisy Bowers, Edwina Arnold, Laura Bennett, Heloise Durant, the Four Rosebuds, John W. Byrns, Frank H. Howard, Clint Adams and Rosina Thurber. Rehearsals begin Nov. 8, and the season opens Nov 22.

— Burton's Comedians Notes: We now have eighteen people, including Harry Burton, Geo. H. Hamler, the Denvers, Lloyd Engraham, Thomas Dowell, Eugene Delemater, Bob Whitney, Fred P. Green, D. N. Martin, Leighton Shaw, Frank Carroll, Carl Duboce, the Hoyts, Blanch Stoddard and Kate Schermerhorn. Our time is already all filled in Iowa and Nebraska. We received over two hundred letters from our ad. in THE CLIPPER, and now have the strongest company we have ever carried.

— Barney Ferguson has rewritten "McCarthy's Mishaps," and will take the road Nov. 8, under the management of Frank V. Dunn, of Boston, Mass. Among those engaged are Sam J. Ryan, Murphy and Mack, the Monroe Sisters. Lew Spencer, Steve Ferguson, and the Bland Sisters.

— Conroy and Edwards have joined W. B. Watson's "O'Hooligan's Wedding" Co., to do their specialty and play parts.

— Notes from the Spooners: B. S. Spooner, Roy N. Hair, C. C Palmer, of the Spooners Co., joined the B. P. O. Elks, Lodge 234, at Bradford, Pa., Oct. 15. The Elks bought two hundred seats that evening, and gave a banquet to the company after the play. Cecil Spooner had an elk's head and a picture for her kaleidoscope dance, that received great applause from the audience.

— Notes from the Spears Comedy and Dramatic Co., supporting Clarence Bennett: We are now in our fifth week and doing good business. Maude Madison, in dances; Marie Malten, in operatic and descriptive songs, and the orcheatra, under the direction of Charles Kuebler, are features. Roster: Edward T. Spears, Raymond Gilbert, W. F. Kohman, Ralph Durfee, Clarence Bennett, Francis Morey, Joseph Carey, Charles Kuebler, Fred Russell, Walt. Walling, Wm. Gorman, Ed. Weber, Stuart Brian, Bertram Poland, Capitola Marshall, Faithe Oberg, Una Clayton, Maud Madison, Marie Malten, Edna Marshall; Edward T. Spears, manager; Charles H. Kuebler, musical director.

— Katie Rooney opened her season Oct. 18 in her new farce comedy, "The Girl from Ireland," written for her by Harry B. Marshall. The tour is under the management of A. C. Dorner and Alex. Campbell, who have secured W. C. Elmendorf as business manager and representative.

— The Boston Ideal Comedy Quartet has signed with Goodwin's Comedians, in "A Wild Goose Chase."

— Manager Moore, of the People's Theatre, Trenton, N. J., opens his house with a stock co. Oct. 25, playing stock stars, two plays a week, eight performances. Fanny Herring is the opening attraction, in "Jack Sheppard" and "Little Buckshot." The stock includes Geo. A. Hill, Jas. C. Malaidy, Phelan Werder, Howard Tills, W. T. Hodson, Ed. Lacy, Junius Bernard, John Brock, Mollie Bernard, Louise Stone, Minnie Faran and Baby Etta. House attaches: John T. Moore, manager; Elmer Naylor, gallery office; Thomas Hunt, door tender; McKniff Bros., ushers; J. Smith, special officer; Geo. A. Hill, stage director; Harry Beers, adv. agent; Charles Nutt, lithographer, with two assistants; Charles Best, stage carpenter and electrician, and C. E. Davies, musical director.

— Notes from Wiedemann's Comedians: Business through Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri has been good ever since our opening. This week winds up our fair dates, being our twelfth. Our band and orchestra, under the leadership of E. G. Grosjean, are the attraction everywhere. The following is our complete roster: Thos. F. Wiedemann, Nellie E. Wiedemann, Willis Boss, Lou N Harrington. Sam J. Myers, Arthur Wood, Ez. Rail, E. G. Grosjean, Ghas. A. Patton, Dan'l Hoyt, Harry E. Silvey, Ellsworth McQuithy, Will G Fry, Tobe Garrett, Michael Carney, E. B. Russell, Frank R. Hays, Ella Grosjean, Leo Dale InGraham and Little Zella Marie.

— Stanislas De Soissons, a playwright, has sued Minnie Seligman Cutting to recover $5,000 for three plays, said to have been given to her to read in April, 1895. He claims that the plays have never been returned, and that Mrs. Cutting has converted them to her own use.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston.—The second, and last week of Daniel Frohman's New York Lyceum Theatre Co. begins Oct. 18 at the Hollis Street Theatre, the week being devoted to a repertory arranged as follows: Monday evening and Wednesday and Saturday matinees, "The First Gentleman of Europe;" Tuesday and Friday evenings, "The Late Mr. Costello;" Wednesday evening, "The Prisoner of Zenda;" Thursday evening, "The Mayflower," and Saturday evening, "The Home Secretary." "The First Gentleman of Europe" will be preceded by the one-act play, "When a Man's Married," and "The Late Mr. Costello," by the one-act play, "The Wife of Willoughby." Last week "The Prisoner of Zenda" filled the house at every performance. Next week, "The Highwayman."

BOSTON THEATRE.—It was a foregone conclusion that Joseph Jefferson's one week engagement here would result in crowded houses at each performance of "Rip Van Winkle" vacant seats in the house were few and far between, and the receipts must have been of a most satisfactory nature. It was the supposition that the enaggement of Fanny Davenport would begin 18 in her new play (the name of which she still has not made public), but her opening has been postponed until Wednesday, 20.

TREMONT THEATRE.—DeWolf Hopper, with an exceptionally well organized company, opened 18 a two-week date here, presenting Sousa and Klein's comic opera, "El Capitan." "The Swell Miss Fitzwell" closed 16 a splendid fortnight's business.

PARK THEATRE.—"The Girl from Paris" has just caught the town, a fact substantially demonstrated by the crowded houses of last week during which time there was not a single night when people were not turned from the doors, unable to gain even admission. It is on for a run.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—George Richards and Eugene Canfield come to this house for a single week, assisted by a very capable company, in the dashing comedy, "My Boys." Next week, "McFadden's Row of Flats." Last week, "Shall we Forgive Her" drew well.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"The City of New York" did a fine week's business, closing 16 to a packed house. For week of 18 Manager Magee stages Merritt & Davis' farce comedy, 'McSorley's Twins," with a cast which includes Mark Murphy, John T Tierney, Nat M. Wills, Marie Stuart, Marguerite Ferguson, the Addis Sisters, Horwitz and Bowers, Mae Loreto, Gertie Millington, Pansy, Arbuckle, Nate Jackson, and Queeny Mansfield, the English chanteuse Next week "Gayest Manhattan."

BOSTON MUSEUM.—Wilson Barrett's great play, "The Sign of the Cross," will be presented here for a run, beginning 18. It will be produced under the management of Chas. Frohman and Frank W. Sanger, and will introduce Charles Dalton and Wm. Greet's company from the Lyric Theatre, London, Eng. "One Round of Pleasure" closed 16 a most successful engagement.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—The sensational scenic melodrama, "In the Name of the Czar," will be the attraction here for week of 18. It will be finely cast and mounted. Next week, "The Girl I Left Behind Me." Last week "Blue Jeans" closed 16, to excellent business.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—Week of 18 will be a notable one in the history of this house, in that its close will mark the third hundred of consecutive performance by the stock company of the theatre. The initial production of this long and brilliant season was Belasco and Mille's drama, "The Wife," and, by special request, it will be reproduced for week of 18. The cast includes the entire company of the house, and the performances promise to be of the most successful nature. Next week, Pinero's "Sweet Lavender." Last week, "The Amazons."

KEITH'S NEW THEATRE.—Henry E. Dixey, in his new monologue, entitled "Twenty Minutes with Dixey," made a big hit here last week, and will remain for one week more. The American biograph, with its new views weekly, is also a strong attraction, and the vaudeville portion is always kept up to the highest standard. On the specialty list for week of 18 are: Johnstone Bennett and S. Miller Kent, in a comedy sketch, entitled "A Quiet Evening at Home;" Servais Le Roy, magician; Leo Devalto, ascending a spiral pathway on a revolving globe; Gracey and Burnett, in a comedy sketch; Busch, contortionist; Jessie Millar, cornet soloist; Merritt and Gallagher, Howard and Bland, the Emerson Ladies' Quartet, Polk and Kollins, the Healeys, Eldora and Norine, the Marians, soloists, and Gus Garholt, equilibrist.

PALACE THEATRE.—Harry Morris comes with his Twentieth Century Maids to Manager Dunn's theatre week of 18, during which they will be seen in two new burlesques, "The Century Widows," beginning the entertainment, and "Too Much Trilby" closing it. A series of entirely new and fully up to date living pictures will be shown in the final piece, and the scenery will be of a most elaborate character. In the interpolated olio are: Comedian J. S. Harrington, Beasley and Simonds, in a comedy sketch; Abaco and Page, acrobats; the Johnson Trio, songs and dances, and Odette, in dances

AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM.—In the lecture hall will be seen, for the last appearances in this country, Lalloo with his intended young bride. Raye, acrobatic dancer; Jaquarins, swordswoman; Nelson K. High, in sword bout. The finale will be "The Three Lost Brothers," by the company, after which the Howard's own specialty show will follow, with the Vaidis Sisters, Imogene Comer, Annie Whitney, John and Anna Chick, Alex. Wilson, Al. Dashington, Dollie Lafferia, James Neary, Joe Cannon and Mazie Howard as entertainers.

GRAND THEATRE.—J. D. Clifton's five act melodrama, "Myrtle Ferns," is announced by Managers Thomas & Watson as their strong card for week of 18. Leading in the principal roles of George Kavanaugh and Alice Morton are those sterling favorites with patrons of this house, Frank J Keenan and Isabel Pitt Lewis, and the characters could not be entrusted to more competent people. They will be fittingly supported by the full company of the house. In the variety entertainment will be seen Prof David Burke's dog circus, Marion F Sawtelle, Grant and Pomeroy, comedy instrumentalists: Joe Byron and May Blanch in a sketch; Gorman and West, in a comedy sketch; Minnie Searles and May Abby, in negro song and dance, and the Tyler Troubadours, in a descriptive comedy turn.

THE ZOO.—The constant addition of rare features is the policy pursued at this popular resort, which is now under the direction of the Boston Zoological Society, and has become one of the prominent attractions of this city. Eight large halls are occupied for the display of the numerous curiosities in the living wild animal line, and a more fitting place to study animal nature and habits cannot be found in Boston A striking attraction at present is afforded in the Klondike Twins, two little girl natives of Alaska. Another feature is the great Nevada, who ascends a spiral incline while securely locked within a metal globe twenty-seven inches in diameter. Also to entertain patrons are the Glees, instrumentalists and vocalists; Zororra, acrobat, and other specialists. The feeding of the animals at stated hours always draws big crowds and in itself is well worth a visit. Next week three huge polar bears will make their debut in this city.

NOTES—"A Naval Cadet," with James J. Corbett as the star, comes to the Grand Opera House next month .....The second professional matinee of the season at the Castle Square Teatre will be given next Thursday, 21. ....."Neck and Neck" will follow "Myrtle Ferns" at the Grand Theatre. NEW GILMORE.—This week's bill is headed by the equine wonder, Forest Tempest. The vaudeville people included: Hill and Whittaker, Lodell and Alverz, Devereaux and Brien, Riggs and Crowley, Miles and Ireland, Mazziotta and Marie Burns.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia.—Midsummer weather is not calculated to encourage theatre going, and that was the kind of weather in evidence here last week. The attendance at the theatres was generally good enough to be profitable, but, considering the excellence of the attractions, should have been much larger.

ROAD STREET THEATRE.—The current week is the second of the three weeks' engagement of the Empire Theatre Co., in "Under the Red Robe," at this house. The play and company made a gratifying success last week. Large houses were in attendance throughout the week, and curtain calls were numerous. The next attraction will be Daniel Frohman's Lyceum Theatre Stock Co., opening Nov. 1

CHESTNUT STREET OPERA HOUSE.—The Bostonians, in "The Serenade," this week bring to a close their fortnight's engagement at this house. The first week was satisfactory, both from a business and artistic standpoint The house was largely filled every evening, and the new opera appeared to appeal favorably to the audiences. Henry C. Barnabee, Jessie Bartlett Davis, William H. MacDonald, Eugene Cowles and the others were excellent in their respective roles. Next week, Geo. Edwardes' London Gaiety Theatre Co., in "In Town," opens a fortnight's engagement. Nov. 8, De Wolf Hopper, in "El Capitan."

CHESTNUT STREET THEATRE.—"The Girl from Paris" is still a drawing card and attracted excellent patronage to this house last week The date for the end of the run is not yet announced. Next attraction, "One Round of Pleasure."

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—The production of Franklin Fyles and Eugene W Presbrey's new play, "A Ward of France," made by Klaw & Erlanger, with an excellent company, headed by Maurice Barrymore and Olive Oliver, is the attraction for the current week at this house. The play was first produced last Thursday night in Scranton, Pa. Wilton Lackaye, supported by a good company, in "The Royal Secret," was last week's attraction Mr Lackaye, as Mondory, a strolling player, was excellent, and was ably aided by Fanny McIntyre and the others in making the production a success. The play is interesting, and lends itself to attractive costuming, the plot being laid at the court of Louis XIV. of France The attendance was fairly good.

PARK THEATRE.—This week ends the two weeks' engagement of Donnelly and Girard, in "The Geezer," at this house Last week resulted in well filled houses and the audiences appeared to derive much amusement from the travesty. Next week, August Von Siene, in Frank Harvey's comedy drama, "A Musician's Romance."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Sir Julian Benedict's lyrical version of "The Colleen Bawn," known as "The Lily of Killarney" will be produced by the Castle Square Opera Co. at this house this week At each performance Lizzie MacNichol will sing "Kathleen Mavourneen." "Clover" was excellently sung last week, and was enjoyed by good sized audiences Next week, "Paul Jones." On Nov 1 "Lohengrin" will be produced, inaugurating a season of grand opera For this season there will be a slight increase in prices, the highest for orchestra chairs being 75c., instead of 50c. as previously, and with a bargain matinee on Wednesday with all seats at 25c. The chorus and orchestra will be largely increased and recognized stars engaged from time to time.

NATIONAL THEATRE.—The attraction for the current week at this house is William Calder's Co. in the romantic war play, "Northern Lights." Edward Harrigan, in "The Grip," entertained large audiences last week. The play is hardly equal to this author actor's previous efforts, but still proved acceptable to those who attended the performances. Next week, "Chimmie Fadden."

FOREPAUGH'S THEATRE.—The stock company of this house is given a well earned rest this week, and the entertainment is provided by Agnes Wallace Villa and company in "The World Against Her." "Passion's Slave" was carefully acted by the stock last week. Geo. Learock, Carrie Radcliffe and the others doing excellent work, and their efforts were appreciated by the large audiences in attendance. Next week, stock co., in "Lord Chumley"

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—The attraction for the present week at this house is W. A. Brady's production of "Under the Polar Star." The Indian actress, Go-Wan-Go-Mohawk, attracted fair houses last week. Next week, "The City of New York"

GIRARD AVENUE THEATRE.—At this house the stock company, including the new leading man, Edward M. Bell, appears in Bronson Howard's war play, "Shenandoah," this week. "Innocent as a Lamb" gave the members of the company, especially Frank B. Hatch, excellent opportunities last week, of which they took every advantage. The attendance was good. Next week, "My Partner."

THE BIJOU.—There is seldom any appreciable decrease in the attendance at this house, and last week was fully up to the standard, the house being continually filled by an appreciative audience. For the present week the bill contains the biograph, Pauline Hall, Isabelle Urquhart, assisted by Sidney Wilmer and Walter Vincent; the Three Richards, Lizzie and Vinie Daly, Canfield and Carleton, Collins and Collins, Howard and Johnstone, Mudge and Morton, Loney Haskel, Conwell and O'Day, J. W. Harrington, Eugene Niedert, the Loretta, and Budworth and Brimmer

THE AUDITORIUM.—The first attraction controlled by the new Interstate Theatrical Production Co., of which Wm J. Gilmore, Chas H. Yale and David Henderson are at the head, holds the stage at this house during the current week. It is a production of "The Crystal Slipper or Prince Prettiwitz and Little Cinderella," "Gayest Manhattan," which was the attraction last week, drew large houses. Next week, Reilly & Wood's Big Show.

ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE.—Dumont's Minstrels put on another new burlesque this week, which is entitled 'The Girl from Paris—Green," with a cast of "plaster of Paris" The bill last week was entertaining and was enjoyed by well filled houses.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—The entertainment for the present week at this house is provided by the Rose Hill English Folly Co. Last week, Rice & Barton's Big Gaiety Spectacular Extravaganza Co received good patronage. Next week, Gus Hill's New York Stars and Steve Brodie

STANDARD.—John W. Isham's Octoroons hold the boards at this house during the present week. Gus Hill's New York Stars and Steve Brodie attracted excellent patronage last week. Next week, Ed F. Rush's White Crook Extravaganza Co.

TROCADERO.—For the present week this house has Al. Reeve's Big Burlesque Co. Isham's Octoroons pleased the well filled houses last week Next week, Rose Sydell's London Belles. Broadway Burlesquers Nov. 1

KENSINGTON THEATRE.—The current attraction at this house is Rice & Barton's Big Burlesque Co. City Sports Co entertained fairly good sized audiences last week. Next week London Gaiety Girls

ARCH STREET THEATRE.—Performances in Hebrew were given at this house all last week, to satisfactory patronage

NINTH AND ARCH MUSEUM.—The features in the curio hall at this house are: Nagib Farris' Oriental Troupe of Turkish and Egyptian Specialists, and Mascot, the educated horse. In the theatre are: Julia Kelly, Fredo and Dale, Ada Darling, Burton and De Almo, Chas. Pacey, Arno'd and Gardner, Gus Mills, the Three Graces and D'Alma's great dog and monkey circus. No complaint could be made regarding business last week, which was excellent.

NOTES—Eugene Pierson, who was put in prison on a capias issued at the suit of D. J. Marchant in Camden week before last, was discharged last week by Judge Miller, who dismissed the writ on the ground that it was improvidently issued.....Wilton Lackaye appeared as plaintiff in Court No. 2 last week in an action against Nixon & Zimmerman, the theatrical managers He sued to recover $200, with interest from April 16, 1892 His claim was founded upon an order written to Nixon & Zimmerman by Geo. W. Lederer, of the firm of Lederer & Hamilton, who were then managers of "The Pompadour" Co., which was playing at the South Broad Street Theatre here. The order was written to enable the actor to get this amount of back salary due him. The order was O K'd by Samuel F. Nixon at the time, but not paid. In proving these facts Wilton Lackaye, Joseph Penrose, stage manager of the company, and Chas Fred Nordlinger, author and sponsor of the play, were called to the stand. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of Mr. Lackaye for $266.....Beale's Municipal Band, which was organized last year under the auspices of the city government, will start a series of Thursday afternoon concerts at the Grand Opera House, beginning Oct 28.....Mme Marcella Sembrich, the renowned Polish prima donna, will appear in an operatic concert to be given at the Academy of Music on Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Pittsburg.—Business showed an upward tendency last week. At the Alvin Theatre "The Prisoner of Zenda" Oct. 18 and week. "The Whirl of the Town" whirled into popular favor last week. Lillian Russell, Della Fox and Jeff. de Angelis present "The Wedding Day" 25, for the first time here.

BIJOU THEATRE.—"Sidewalks of New York" will hold the stage 18 and week. "Northern Lights" will succeed it. 'On the Bowery" retired 16.

DUQUESNE THEATRE.—"The City of New York" this week for the first time. The says, in "A Hot Old Time," closed a mirthful week 16. "Two Little Vagrants" will be given 25 for the first time here.

THE HARRY DAVIS THEATRES is the caption now adopted by Manager Davis for his three theatres under one roof. This week the dramatic stock company of the Grand Opera House presents "The Banker's Daughter." The vaudeville co. in the Avenue comprises McAvoy and May, Gilbert and Goldie, three Dunbar Sisters, Howe, Wall and Waters, Prince Satsuma, Alburtus and Bartram, Fox and Allen, Stanley and Jackson, William Windom, Sam and Kitty Morton, the two Judges, Mignon Gilbert, Emma Carus, Pansion, Courtney and Fanson, Agnes Miles and the Blacksmone Quartet. In the Children's Miniature Theatre Gable and Nelson, the midgets, will appear.

ADAMS' EAST END THEATRE.—James Young tragedian, makes his first appearance here 18, and continues one week in repertory. Business last week was the best in the history of this beautiful house "McNulty's Visit" occupying the stage the former half of the week and "Darkest America" the latter half Standing room only was the rule, and on several occasions the box office had to be closed and the sale of tickets stopped. The Bon Ton Burlesquers come 25, for one week.

HARRY WILLIAMS' ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Irwin Bros.' Burlesquers did a fine week. The Gay Masqueraders did the usual large business of this house the past week.

AUTUMN LEAVES.—John Philip Sousa, leader of Sousa's Band, gave an elaborate banquet at the Hotel Lincoln after his night performance at the Pittsburg Exposition 15, his guests including a number of our representative citizens.....Manager N. N. Adams, of the East End Theatre, will make a business trip to New York the current week.....H Brady Wilkins, dramatic editor of The Evening Press, is now also press agent of the Duquesne Theatre.

Harrisburg.—At the Opera House business was not very encouraging during the past week. A State convention and the big fair at Hagerstown, Md., no doubt caused the decrease. The week opened Oct. 11, to a fair sized audience, with "Secret Service." "The Electrician," 12, and Margaret Mather, 13, did very little better. The production of "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," by local talent, for the benefit of the local military organization, drew good crowds 14-16. The attractions for this week are: Sousa 20, John Drew 21, Wilton Lackaye 22 and James Mackie 23.

NOTES.—Manager Nathan Appell is receiving very encourging reports from the Cameron Clemons Co., in which he is interested.....John Major, representing Margaret Mather, stated to THE CLIPPER representative that all difficulties regarding the hiring of a Chinese maid for Miss Mather had been adjusted and that the maid would arrive at Washington D. C., next week, from San Francisco.....Woodward Barrett, of "The Secret Service" Co., was entertained by a number of his friends 11.....Charles Gumpert, of this city, known professionally as Edward Barton, vocalist, did not join Diamond Brothers' Minstrels, but has joined hands with W. E. Zieglar, and will do illustrated songs.....Norine Dunham has joined Donnelly and Girard, in "The Geezer" Co.....Mabel Davidson, the well known skater, is in very poor health, and will go to Denver, Col., to recuperate.....Byron Douglass, of the "Secret Service" Co., was very ill, 11, but notwithstanding assumed his role in a masterly manner. He was obliged to take his bed immediately after the performance. Mr Douglass recovered sufficiently to accompany his company to Reading the following day.

Wilkesbarre.—At the Grand Opera House Katie Emmett, in 'The Waifs of New York," Oct 11-13, had fair business at popular prices. John Drew, in "Rosemary," had a well filled house at advanced prices. The Welsh Singers packed the house 16. Coming: "Patent Applied For" 18, 19, Wilton Lackaye, in "A Royal Secret," 20; Joseph Murphy, in "Kerry Gow," 21, 22; Fred Warde, in "Iskander" 23.

NOTES.—The opening of the new theatre "The Nesbit," has been postponed until sometime early in November owing to inability of contractors to complete inside furnishings and decorations. Mr. Burgunder has therefore been obliged to change the attractions at the Grand to accommodate Wilton Lackaye in "A Royal Secret," which was to have opened the Nesbit 20, by canceling that date for "Patent Applied For," giving to that company 18, 19 and a matinee. Oct. 21, 23 have also been canceled and those dates given to "Kerry Gow" and Fred Warde's new play, "Iskander" After that date all attractions at the Grand will be for three nights and two matinees at reduced prices.

Altoona.—At the Eleventh Avenue Opera House Waite's Comedy Co. did good business week Oct. 11-16 Thos. Dixon will lecture on "Backbone" 20, Himmelein's Ideals come 25 and week.

NEW MOUNTAIN CITY THEATRE.—Arnold Wolford's Repertory Co. pleased good sized audiences 11-16 This week the theatre stock company, consisting of the following people: Maude Atkinson, Gertie Claire, Florence Stafford, Jennie Lamonte, John Terris, Frank Haren, R J. Johnstone, John Grist or, Louis Emery and Clark Earle, with George Graham, monologue, and Kisie Eastman, 'Fanchon the Cricket" will be presented the first three nights, and "All that Glitters Is Not Gold" the last three nights

ARTHUR YOUNG, formerly manager of Harry Davis' Eden Musee and the Lakemonte Park Theatre, accompanied by his wife, were guests of Manager Edwin Young last week.....Manager Young was in New York 13, 14, booking attractions for the New Mountain City Theatre.

Reading.—"Patent Applied For" was well received at the Academy of Music Oct. 11. "Secret Service" had a good sized house 12. Frederick Warde, in his new play, "Iskander," did a flattering business 15 16. Although this was but the second presentation of the piece, a smooth performance was given. During the third act Mr. Warde was accidentally cut across the eye with a Turkish sword in the hand of a supernumerary The injury was slight. The play was well received by the audience, and Mr. Warde was called before the curtain. Waite's Comedy Co. (Western) is booked for two weeks, beginning 18

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The Elroy Stock Co., in repertory, did a large business week of 11. Katie Rooney, in "The Girl from Ireland," comes 18-20, "A Big Heart" Co 21-23

AUDITORIUM.—The London Gaiety Girls drew large audiences 14-16. The American Burlesquers are due 18-23.

Erie.—At Park Opera House "Chimmie Fadden," Oct. 11, played to good attendance. "Mme Sans Gene," 16, matinee and evening, was favored with large business and gave good satisfaction. Frank Daniels, in 'The Idol's Eye," 18.

J. E. GIRARD'S POPULAR PRICE THEATRE was favored with fair business during week of 11, considering the very warm weather, with "Dad, the Tom Boy" Wilbur and Brown come 18, for a week of repertory.

Scranton.—At the Lyceum, the Camille D'Arville Opera Co is due Oct. 18, Wilton Lackaye 19, John Drew 20, Joseph Murphy 22, 23. "A Ward of France," 14-16, had fair houses.

DAVIS' THEATRE.—Lang's Operatic Burlesquers 18-20. Robie's Knickerbockers came 14-16, to very large houses.

CONNECTICUT.

New Haven.—The business of the past week, while not surpassingly large, was on the whole decidedly encouraging, and with cooler weather and an unusually strong list of attractions for the present week a decided boom is anticipated.

HYPERION.—But two professional companies were booked at this house last week, the rest of the time being devoted to conventions, etc. Lewis Morrison in "The Master of Ceremonies," 11, had only a moderate business, and the financial returns of "The Cherry Pickers," 15, 16, were only fair. The current week should prove a winner, the list of attractions including James O'Neil in "Monte Cristo," 18; Robert G Ingersoll 19, the Broadway theatre Co., of New York, presenting De Koven and Smith's new comic opera, "The Highwayman," 21; Joseph Jefferson 22, "Gayest Manhattan" 23.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Montezuma of Mexico" was presented to fair business 11-13, and was followed by "Northern Lights" to standing room only 14-16. "A Divorce Cure" with Margaret May as the stellar attraction, is due 18-20; "The span of Life" 21-23, "Little Trixie" 25-27, "The Broadway Girl" 28-30, Waite's Comedy Co Nov. 1-6

POLI'S WONDERLAND THEATRE.—Maxwell and Simpson, with their illustrated songs localized, proved a drawing card last week, and overflowing business was the result. This week Laura Biggar and Burt Haverly, in the comedy "She Would Be An Actress," head the bill, which includes the three Power Brothers, the De Moras, Stine and Evans, Manning and Weston, the Francioli Sisters, Prof Doherty's Canine Circus, Murray and McCoy, Paulinetta and Piquo, Myrtle Tressider.

OHIO.

Cincinnati.—Jack Frost must have forgotten something. At any rate, he has hurried away and the reign of Summer has been resumed. Last week was like a slice out of July's calendar. The mercury rose to over 90 degrees in the sun Oct. 15. The nights have really been sultry. That was the handicap against which the managers struggled to be happy, while Summer amusement caterers wondered if they had not closed their resorts too soon. The Queen City Opera House was dark, but on the walls was emblazoned the sign: "This house will open on or about Oct. 31, under the same management, but entirely different policy." Dan Young hopefully talks of converting the Queen City into a combination house, but while this talk of a revival is heard there is another story in other quarters. The Boston Stock Lyric Co. threatens to desert Cincinnati unless better patronage is given them. Col. W. H. Thompson went to Chicago last week, and it is possible the company will go there after the Cincinnati engagement. The terrible catastrophe at Robinson's Opera House, 15, is treated in another column.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Henry Miller comes 18, in "Heartsease." Roland Reed presented "A Man of Ideas" last week, to pretty fair business. Isadore Rush as usual shared honors with the comedian. The Lyceum Theatre Stock Co., in "The Prisoner of Zenda," 25

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.—"Madeline, or the Magic Kiss," with Frank Deshon and Hilda Hollis in the cast, opens 17. Last week "The Crystal Slipper" played to fair business. It was the first week of the revival of the spectacular extravaganza, and both W. J. Gilmore and David Henderson, who are interested in the Interstate Theatrical Production Company, were present at the opening performance Everything was running much smoother before the week ended. Sadie Stephens is the Prince and Minnie Jarboe Cinderella of the new cast The properties are bright, and the spectacle quite as brilliant as of yore. Kelly and Mason, in "Who is Who?" 24.

PIKE OPERA HOUSE.—Frederick Hallen and Molly Fuller are topliined for 17, in their sketch, "The Twentieth Century Girl" Smith and Cook, Florence Bindley, the Baggesons, George Fuller Golden, Lewis and Earnest, and Johnson, Davenport and Lorella are other cards Marie Tavany was warmly greeted last week by audiences of good size. The Pike was gorgeous last season, but the arrangements this year border on the magnificent The foyer and reception rooms are palatial.

HEUCK'S OPERA HOUSE.—"Fallen Among Thieves" comes 17. "Humanity," W. A. Brady's production, played to nice business last week. "The Woman in Black" 24

ROBINSON'S OPERA HOUSE.—Lincoln J. Carter's recent success, "Under the Dome," was booked 17, but the accident 15 cut short the engagement of "Dangers of a Great City" and caused a thrill of horror to sweep over the play world. The date of reopening cannot be given Brady's Stock Co. expected to return 24 for a protracted run.

FOUNTAIN SQUARE THEATRE.—Gus Hill's World of Novelties makes the first stand below the Rhine 17. Last week Bob Fitzsimmons' Specialty Co commenced its tour here, and business was eminently satisfactory, most of the audiences being big. Mike Conley, the Ithaca giant, joined the company here as Bob's sparring partner The roster of the company is as follows: George Whitman and Lizzie Davis, Charles S. Lawlor, Lizzie Mulvey and Pearl Inman, Crane Brothers, Thos. J Ryan and Mary Richfield, McCale and McDaniels, Nelson, Glinseretti and Demonio, and Ernest Roeber and Carl Beck. Martin Julian is manager and personally directed the athletic portion of the programme

THE AUDITORIUM.—The Boston Lyric Stock Co. announce a change of bill during the week of 18. "Cavalleria Rusticana" and the third act of "Faust" will be given the first three nights and then "Fra Diavolo" was put on last week "The Mikado" was enjoyed by audiences of fair size.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—"The Gay Masqueraders" comes 17 with the 'Sporty Widows' and their burlesque, "A Day at Coney Island." Last week Weber & Fields' Vaudeville Club did splendidly. Tom Miaco's City Club 24.

HECK & AVERY'S MUSEUM.—Mons. Golich, Catherine Norris, the flower queen; Princess Flo, Commodore Foote, Victor F Cody, Settrick's family brass band, and Carroll & Lewis' Vaudeville Combination are offered as magnets 18.

GOSSIP OF THE LOBBY.—Manager M. C. Anderson is home from the East.....Ethel Carter's benefit at the Scottish Rite athedral did not take place One of the projectors of the tribute to the unfortunate songstress decamped with something like $75 that had been realized by the advance sale of tickets Ike Rose came in advance of "The Gay Masqueraders." S. Goodfriend one of the best known of dramatic couriers, came to tell of Henry Miller's engagement..... Jack Flaherty joined the colony of transients..... Harry Lightwood, who was business manager of the Queen City Opera House, has joined the Marie Bell Opera Co..... Harry B. Williams and wife, of "The King's Fool" Co., stranded at Greensburg, Pa., reached Cincinnati en route to Lebanon O.....Anton Seidl's Orchestra and Julie Rive-King are to be heard at Music Hall 27.....Treasurer Tom Nelson, of Heuck's Opera House, has been threatened with pneumonia.....Jean H Williams spent the week here preparing for the engagement of "The Magic Kiss."Two Jacks—Ed. and Sam—happened in town at the same time..... Manager D. H. Hunt, of the Pike, is in New York..... Most of the members of the "Bo Peep" company have left town..... The Apollo Club has announced its plans for the coming season Goring Thomas, Antoinette Trebelli, Ida Smith Lemmon, George Hamlin and Carl E Dufft with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, will be heard at the first concert Dec 9.....The Empire circuit managers gathered at the People's Theatre 14, and held another of their secret conferences. Those present included H. W Williams, of Pittsburg; J. H Whallen, of Louisville; James J Butler, of St. Louis; W. T Campbell, of Cleveland, and Herbert Heuck and James E Fennessy, representing the members from Cincinnati, Chicago and Indianapolis.....Charles J. Bowles, of unfortunate "Bo Peep" went to New York, where he secured a position to handle "The Circus Girl."Charles H. Yale spent the week here overlooking "The Crystal Slipper"

Cleveland.—The diversity of attractions offered our show going people during the past week was surely meant to please all tastes. From the fine production of "Heartsease" by Henry Miller and company to the excellent show of the Broadway Burlesquers, and from the classic repertory of Robert Downing to Frank Daniels with his mirth provoking comic opera, "The Idol's Eye," gave a choice of entertainments to suit the most fastidious.

EUCLID AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.—Few attractions or artists have received the spontaneous and generous reception in Cleveland that was accorded Henry Miller in "Heartsease," Oct. 11-13. After the interes

KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE.—Nat C. Goodwin began an engagement at this house Oct. 18, and presented, for the first time in this city, "An American Citizen," an original comedy, in four acts, by Madeline Lucette Ryley. We believe that Mr. Goodwin gave this play its first production in Australia. Its first presentation before an American audience, however, was made at the Baldwin Theatre, San Francisco, Cal., on Nov. 23, 1896. Upon that occasion it was received with marked favor, and it has since won success wherever it has been presented, having proved, we are informed, one of the best money winners he has ever had. Its story has already appeared in our columns. It is not a great play, nor can it truthfully be called a good one, but it nevertheless has many merits, its chief claim to favorable consideration being that it fits Mr. Goodwin snugly, wherein it accomplishes the principal aim of its existence. It proved to be entertaining, but the judgment of the first night's audience can be surmised through the statement of the fact that it evoked much laughter but little applause. It is in the main good comedy, although in some places it becomes absolutely farcical, and quite unnecessarily so, but at intervals it grows serious and at times tender and pathetic. Its story is scarcely plausible, but nevertheless it displays richness of invention and satisfactory coherence. Its chief fault is in its careless arrangement of stage business, which renders its action fidgetty. Its characters continually exit through doors without any known destination beyond the portals, and return spasmodically without any clearly defined incentive. The incident of the wrong delivery of the letter is not allowed to run its course as a merrymaker, but this is probably well, as it leads, as it is, into a quagmire of farce, in view of which result it would have been better to have omitted it altogether. It, moreover, might have been well to have removed in the second act to a less expensive resort than Nice, for the legacy divided between the Carews was not large enough to warrant their engaging in expensive frivolty unless they were sufficiently improvident to expend the principal. If, however, for the sake of picturesqueness it was preferable to select Nice as a scene of action the amount of the bequest might have been increased, for there is little reason for an author to be penurious in the matter of stage legacies. These may seem but trivial faults, and we are willing to admit that such they are, but their remedy is correspondingly simple and the dramatist should guard against small errors less they should prove to be like the fly in the apothecary's ointment. It is gratifying to note, however, that in addition to the merits of this play, already noted, Mrs. Ryley has supplied two clever character sketches, one a stolid English serving man, with admirable discretion, and the other a very impressionable gentleman with a convenient deafness, a reference to which he continually uses in his formula of lovemaking. She has, moreover, endowed the lines with both wit and humor, and has fairly won the tribute of laughter. It is impossible to deny this tribute when the impoverished Carew, in his eagerness to conceal his hunger, replies to his solicitous friend and former partner, "Oh, yes! I dined weeks ago." Mr. Goodwin's performance was of his usual mirth provoking sort. He has the happy faculty of keeping constantly in touch with his audience, and his air is at times irresistably droll. He furthermore gave adequate expression to the serious moods of the unfortunate Carew, and in his scene with the little boy, Mercury, he was genuinely tender. Maxine Elliott was thoroughly acceptable in the role of Beatrice. Her pulchritude gave abundant reason for Carew's growing fervor, and each phase of the girl's character was indicated by her with clearness and decision. In fact, the entire performance was of unusual merit, Clarence F. Montaine, as Peter Barbury, the deaf man; Neil O'Brien, as Simms, Carew's man, and Gertrude Elliott, as Georgia Chapin, being especially commendable. The cast: Beresford Cruger, of Barbury, Brown & Cruger, afterwards called Carew, N. C. Goodwin; Peter Barbury, Clarence F. Montaine; Egerton Brown, Wm. Ingersoll; Sir Humphrey Bunn, Clarence Handyside; Willie Bunn, Richard Sterling; Otto Stroble, Louis Payne; Lucas, Henry Lewis; Simms, Neil O'Brien; Carola Chapin, Estelle Mortimer; Lady Bunn, Hattie Russell; Georgia Chapin, Gertrude Elliott; Annette, Sophie Eggert; Mercury, Master Ralph, and Beatrice Carew, Maxine Elliott. Mr. Goodwin's tour is under the direction of George J. Appleton.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Denman Thompson, with an excellent supporting company and a rejuvenated production of "The Old Homestead," returned to scenes of former triumps Monday, Oct. 18, and was greeted by a crowded house. Not a note of sympathy, humor or quaintness is lacking from the portrayals of New England life we first learned to admire, and the run of this best of American pictures of rural life and city wiles seems likely to result in a total of excellent profits. Annie Thompson's Rickety Ann was a feature of the performance. The scenery was ample and the entire supporting company commendable. The cast: Joshua Whitcomb, Denman Thompson; Cy Prime, Will M. Cressy; Happy Jack, Fred Clare; Frank Hopkins, Louis N. Croxson; Eb Ganzy, John Baker; Rickety Ann, Annie Thompson; Aunt Matilda, Louise Morse; Annie Hopkins, Lillie M. Stone; Maggie Flaherty, Celia Baker; Nellie Freeman, Bertha A. Brierly; Minnie Freeman, Sadie F. Cullen; Seth Perkins, Chas. H. Clark; Jack Hazzard, Fred Clare; Reuben Whitcomb, Frank Knapp; Pat. Clancy, Barney Reilly; Len Holbrook, C. M. Richardson; Warren Ellis, P. Redmond; Mrs. Anna Maria Murdock, Marie Kimball; Eleanor Stratton, Katheryn Miller; Jane Stratton, Sadie F. Cullen; Bessie Stratton, Bertha A. Brierly; Hoboken Terror, Dan Regan; One of the Finest, R. E. Rogers; U. S. Letter Carrier, C. M. Richardson; Mrs. McGuire, Marie Kimball; Henry Hopkins, Gus Kammerlee; Judge Paterson, R. F. Rogers; Frank Hopkins, Louis H. Croxson; Francois Fogarty, Stephen Baker; Mrs. Henry Hopkins, Annie Thompson; Nellie Patterson, Katheryn Miller. The Old Homestead Double Quartet: A. C. Orcutt, S. P. Cutter, L. H. Croxson, S. Baker, R. E. Rogers, A. B. Meyers, G. Kammerlee, F. Clare. Denman Thompson is sole proprietor; Frank Thompson and W. I. Kilpatrick, managers, and B. E. Rogers, stage director.

MINER'S EIGHTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Andy Hughes' Gay Girls from Gotham made their first local appearance at this house Oct. 18, a good attendance being in line to receive them. The first part went off swimmingly, and "The Gay Girls at a Tenderloin Hotel" had a hot time. It would be uncharitable to say much about the burlesque, "The Isle of Tutti-Frutti," what little there is of it, as its performance was evidently a farce of what was intended. Stage waits predominated, and all concerned showed grave lack of rehearsal, and were evidently wholly at sea. Nellie Sylvester proved a shapely principal, and conducted herself becomingly, but the comedians could have been much more comical, and Laura Moore was entirely out of place. There is little doubt but that as this is written there is now in progress at the theatre thorough rehearsal and perhaps a complete change in the final arrangement of the show. If there is not there should be. If there is the week will end in greater satisfaction to patrons. Having treated the first part and burlesque, nothing remains for comment but the olio, and in that feature the show shines brightly almost throughout. Laura Moore's singing specialty is the frailest number on the list, but Jim and Fannie Donovan, Topack and Steele, and Delmore and Lee offer specialties which constitute avowed hits. The funnyism of Hughes, Morton, McBride and Walton were laughed at inordinately, and Nellie Sylvester offered a single specialty which does her much credit. Goldie, St. Clair and Goldie present their well known specialty to the usual amount of genuine laughter and applause. Manager Hughes has the material to make this a splendid show. Frank Goldie is stage manager; A. J. Wilson, advance; Fred Brawn, musical director; Jas. Hughes, electrician, and Geo. Hardy, props. The full company is: Emma Haight, Marie Ames, Geo. M. Topack, James Jackson, Jas. Donovan, Geo. W. Steel, Jas Hughes, Albert Allen, Robt. Rollins, Chas. Gorman, Frank Goldie, Laura Moore, Nellie Sylvester, Fanny Donovan, Sallie St. Clair, Edna Topack, Sophie Steel, Rene Morton, Nellie Gray, Emma Fields, Dollie Davis. Next week, Scribner's Columbian Burlesquers, headed by Lettie Le Vyne, will be seen for the first time in this city.

STAR THEATRE.—Beginning the fifth week of their highly successful run, the Liliputians crowded this house Oct. 18. Business Manager Nugent has been kept busy during the stay of these diminutive entertainers supplying accommodations for the crowds which have rushed to attend "The Fair in Midgettown," and from present indications the attendance during the remaining weeks of their stay will maintain the record breaking average thus far maintained. Davis & Keogh's "Heart of the Klondyke" a new spectacular melodrama, is announced to follow.

THE LYRIC THEATRE (formerly Olympia Theatre) will open Oct. 21, with "La Poupee," in which Anna Held will assume the title role.

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE THEATRE.—Seats in parquet, balconies and boxes and the standing room all consumed was the early condition of affairs here Monday, Oct. 18, and enough were turned away to have made a good showing in an empty house. As for the entertainment, it is fully up to the top class Resident Manager Fynes is continually presenting. Patrice, in her dainty sketch, "A New Year's Dream," heads the list of notables and, assisted by Alf. Hampton and J. F. Whitbeck, consumes a space of time which seems all too brief from the standpoint of those whom she so thoroughly entertains. She is newly and exquisitely costumed this week, and a fresh stage setting is offered to back her pleasing one act. She was closely pressed for favor by Felix Morris, whom Jane Lennox, Walter Lennox Jr. and B. S. Cutler assist in giving "The Old Musician." Popular Joe Cawthorne, with his dexterously fingered concertina and fund of German mirth, scored a signal hit, and Phyllis Allen, in her sweet melodies, was a genuine favorite with all. She has a good repertory of songs, sings them at her best, with the pleasing results which are inevitable. Sparrow, a comical juggler, who can both juggle and be funny; Macart's dogs, entering on their last week, and Joe Welch, in Hebrew dialect recitals, were pleasing factors in the amusement. Others who aided in making the bill a splendid success were Ida Klein, Hassen Ben Ali's Arabs, the Newsboys' Quintet, Emerson and Scharf, W. J. Mills, Lew Randall and W. Rosaire. Pauline Hall will top next week's list, with Patrice retained, and Milton and Dollie Nobles will also be featured.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE.—Good bills and good business prevail at this resort. For week of Oct. 18 the programme includes four performers new to vaudeville. E. J. Ratcliffe and Ethel Chase Sprague, are new comers, and in their one act play, "The Black Butterfly," they found favor at the opening performances on Monday. Sylvia Lisle and Leonard Fletcher, in a musical comedietta, entitled "A Lesson in Love," were also new and acquitted themselves with credit. The Northern troupe of dancers made their first appearance at this house and fared well. Chip, a comedian little known in the metropolis, appeared and proved himself to be a capable laugh maker. Sydney Grant and Miss Norton, in a drawing room sketch, were entertaining. Hines and Remington, who call themselves the "American Costers," were as usual prime favorites. Murphy and Mack, in a comedy sketch, renewed old acquaintances and were as usual in favor. Irving Jones, Burt Grant and Sadie Jones, three clever colored performers, made a successful bid for public favor. De Hollis and Valora, jugglers, came in for their full share of approval. Annette Wilsey, in songs, was well liked. Charles and May Stanley, in a comedy wire act, did well. John O'Halloran, mimic, received ample proof that he pleased his audience. The living pictures were retained and continued to meet with the highest approval.

PROCTOR'S PLEASURE PALACE.—The curtain was rung up on Monday night, Oct. 18, with the auditorium, as usual, well filled. The wonderful Dunhams, on the triple horizontal bars, returned to this resort after a long absence, and scored a pronounced success with their clever performance. The Six Sisters Pinchiani were popular holdovers in their acrobatic work. The Alpine Trio found favor for their sweet singing, and the Carre Family, in their acrobatic ladder act, won rounds of applause. Douglas and Ford earned well deserved approval for their good dancing. George Betts, in his descriptive songs, did well. James Cook and Clara Sonora, in their acrobatic comedy sketch, received good recognition for their work. The Walker Sisters, in their up to date songs and dances, were great favorites. Mlle. Troja, in her budget of songs, was particularly well liked, and was recalled several times. The performance closed with a musical absurdity, entitled "The Girl from China," in which the entire strength of the Weber & Fields Vaudeville Club appeared. The Lobsterscope was introduced in the afterpiece, and received much applause.

HAMMERSTEIN'S OLYMPIA MUSIC HALL.—The Grand Opera Tableaux have proved a very strong attraction at this house. The attractive stage settings used in each tableau, together with the excellent singing by Emila Hitch, Frances Lee, Louise Hepner, Mme. Luddington, Ben Stevens and Signors Vanni and Quinto call forth rounds of hearty applause each night. The olio for the week beginning Oct. 18 is up to the excellent standard of the house. Harry Parker and his troupe of trained dogs were continued favorites, the various tricks and high leaps of the dogs winning rounds of applause. Josephine Sabel, a favorite chanteuse, reappeared here after a long absence and, as always, scored a big success with her songs. The Three Polos, in their aerial act, were still favorites. Sharp and Flatt, in their musical comedy act, came in for a good share of approval. Charles T. Aldrich, whose good work has made him a prime favorite, was retained. Benneto, contortionist, did well. The Americus Comedy Four and Titania were holdover favorities.

WEBER & FIELDS' MUSIC HALL.—The usual high tide business prevailed at this resort Oct. 18, and late comers were glad to get standing room. Vesta Tilley began her third week by singing for the first time in public "The Midnight Sun," which she rendered in her own clever way. The song is one of the best she has given us and on Monday night received the stamp of hearty approval. Miss Tilley was as prime a favorite as ever, and the audience would not permit her to leave the stage until she had rendered six songs. Those clever head to head balancers, the Pantzer Brothers, appeared, and by the dexterity and ease with which they performed the many difficult feats, fully earned the applause bestowed upon them. Allen Whitman, a more than ordinary clay modeler, moulded various heads of well known people cleverly, one of the best being that of Lew Fields. "The Glad Hand," with its pretty music and funny situations, continues on its merry way with no sign of waning popularity, although on Monday the eighth week of its stay was inaugurated.

MURRAY HILL THEATRE.—"Claire and the Ironmaster," was the offering by the stock on Oct. 18, and its presentation was made in the painstaking and thoroughly enjoyable manner which has become characteristic with productions here. The debut of Mary White Hall occurred on the opening night, and her success was most emphatic. Nance O'Neil carried her scenes with dignity and grace as became the role of Claire, and her acting elicited as favorable comments as heretofore. Audrew Robson is rapidly forcing himself to the fore as a leading man, and his work in the present revival will beyond doubt win for him fresh laurels. The staging of the piece and the interpretation of its minor characters were in every way satisfactory.

KOSTER & BIAL'S.—Good business continues at this house. The bill of last week was held over for week of Oct. 18. Paola Del Monte, in her French and Spanish songs, was still a favorite. Mlle. Rombello, in her novel colored sand modeling and designing, continued to win rounds of applause for her artistic work. The Brothers Griffiths, eccentric comedians, held over and were favorites. Their very amusing act creates much laughter. Graceful Lina Pantzer, on the wire, was retained in popular favor, and the De Kock troupe of acrobats continued to win applause for their work. The "Faust" ballet is still a strong feature of the bill, its handsome settings and costumes and pretty marches and dance figures never failing to win applause. Cleo de Merode, still billed as the particular feature of the programme, continues to make her appearance in the "Faust" ballet. Marie Lloyd began her second week and seemed to meet with favor for the rendition of her songs.

ST. NICHOLAS MUSIC HALL.—The following performers are announced to appear here this week: Mlle. Rialto, Charles B. Ward, Baldwin and Dailey, Healey and Mathews, Edith Vernon, Mlle. Dare, Annie Lloyd and Leona Bonnia.

MAUDE ADAMS will be transferred to the Garrick Nov. 8, and "A Stranger in New York" goes to Hoyt's Theatre, in order to enable John Drew to open at the Empire Theatre on that date.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—A. Q. Scammon's production, "The Burglar," with Horace Mitchell, a capable actor, as Wm. Lewis, drew a big house Monday evening, 18. The pathetic scenes of the well known play, in particular, met a hearty response from the audience. Little Ricca Scott, as Editha, proved to be a clever little actress. Earle Ryder, as Paul Benton, also deserves mention, as well as the entire cast, which included: David Miles, Joseph Le Brandt, F. C. Sheldon, Ida Bell, Gertrude Norris, Lucille Le Norr and Alice Grow. Next week, Oliver Byron, in "The Plunger."

THE HARLEM MUSIC HALL will be opened Nov. 1, on which occasion the proprietors, Hurtig, Seamon & Tuck, will present a vaudeville bill of excellence. The cafe, which has been newly refitted, will be under the personal supervision of the managers, Ben Hurtig and Sam'l. L. Tuck. The name of this house in future will be Hurtig & Seamon's Harlem Music Hall. Popular prices will prevail and high class peformances are promised.

FOURTEENTH STREET THEATRE.—The first performance of a four act melodrama, by Franklin Fyles, entitled "Cumberland, '61," was given at this house on Oct. 18. It treats of a Kentucky vendetta, and introduces its characters during the war of the rebellion, although no effort has been made by Mr. Fyles to introduce the war subject prominently. In forceful situations and stirring climaxes the piece is exceedingly well equipped, while its lines are strongly dramatic, and contain occasional humor in Mr. Fyles' best vein. We are presented in the play to all the melo dramatic characters with whom we have long been acquainted, but their adventures and trials are vested with a new interest under Mr. Fyles' skillful handling, and the sympathy which the people of the play have enlisted almost from the first scene is kept up without a break until the final situation. The last act is a marvel of spirit and action, its scenes being replete with interest and its situations such as are not easily foretold. Some passages in the piece that would beyond question have been extremely powerful if properly acted were but lightly passed over by the company on the opening night, but this can easily be remedied. Edgar L. Davenport permitted some very effective scenes to slip through his fingers, and played his role with surprising lack of fervor, although in the quieter lines allotted him he did most creditable work. Florence Rockwell was capable, except in several forceful scenes, which did not seem quite within her grasp, while Amelia Summerville achieved a fair degree of success. Frank Losee was good, but he could have played the villain less conventionally. W. J. Ferguson was capital, as usual, and C. G. Craig and Lionel Barrymore were thoroughly praiseworthy. John E Kellerd played the part of the half breed Indian cadet with fine dramatic effect, and seemed more thoroughly in touch with his role than did any of the male members of the cast. Viola Black carried her humorous scenes very creditably indeed, and her work was as near perfecton as it could well be. The others of the company were well chosen. The story opens at West Point, at a time when the cadets are leaving to take an active part in the war. Col. Murdoch, one of the officers there, is looking forward to his marriage with Alice Ainsley, whom he met some five years previous, in her home in Kentucky, and whom he had educated after making an agreement with her father that she should eventually be his wife. Her affections are plighted to Gordon Grayne, the son of her father's enemy, and she informs her father that Murdoch is not her choice. Murdoch thereupon informs Benner Ainsley, the father, that Gordon Grayne is responsible for his daughter's desire to free herself from the compact, and Ainsley swears that Alice shall follow the original agreement. The scene is changed to Kentucky, and Alice is married to Murdoch. Gordon Grayne is at the head of Union forces who are operating against Murdoch, who has command of a Confederate regiment. Grayne is captured while attempting to carry off Alice, but manages to escape. He is compelled to cross a bridge which divided the old fighting grounds of the Graynes and Ainsleys when their feud was hottest, and this bridge Col. Murdoch has given orders to set on fire. Ainsley has hurried to the bridge when he hears that Gordon Grayne has escaped, and here he means to kill him before he can rejoin the Union forces. They meet, and here Grayne gains the mastery, leaving Ainsley insensible on the bridge. This has just been fired, however, and Grayne, whose feelings of humanity will not allow him to leave Ainsley to perish in the flames, rescues him. Ainsley afterwards forgets all old grudges, and favors the union of Alice and Gordon, while Col. Murdoch is killed by Dick Kensitt, his son by an Indian wife, who has long been anxious to secure a written confession from his father to the effect that his blood is tinged with Indian, and not with Negro, as had been charged against him. The cast: Benner Ainsley, C. G. Craig; John Lenox, W. J. Ferguson; Leslie Murdoch, Frank Losee; Gordon Grayne, Edgar L. Davenport; Adolfus Drayton Lenox, Lionel Barrymore; Dirk Kansett, John E. Kellerd; Mr. Manning, S. K. Chester; Zeb, Richard Malchien; Rance, A. Vin Drehle; Absolom, Richard Webster; Alice Ainsley, Florence Rockwell; Mrs. Victor, Amelia Summerville; Pink, Viola Black; Mammy Han, Millie Sackett.

LONDON THEATRE.—Weber's Parisian Widows Co. appeared here for the first time on the Bowery and created a favorable impression at the afternoon and evening performances, Monday, 18. Both shows were well attended, the house being completely filled at night. Mr. Weber has secured a strong show. The first part is dispensed with, and Raymond and Clark open proceedings in their lively singing and acrobatic sketch; Lizzie Van, songstress, rendered several popular selections to encores; the Cosmopolitan Trio, Yule, Reno and Galpen, in their bright act, were one of the features on the bill; the Burman Sisters have improved greatly, and their act also was a go; Teniey and Simonds served up Irish comedy hot from the griddle, and their reception and encores left nothing to be wished for. Boyce and Black closed the olio with a darkey sketch, concluding with an interesting exhibition of buck dancing. Howard and Emerson produced several illustrated songs. "A Night on Broadway" was the burlesque. Letta Meredith, resplendent in handsome wardrobe, which set off her handsome form and features to best advantage, led the festivities as the dashing Gallic Widow and King of the Sports, and acted and sang well. Ida Emerson and Alice Sanson were her able lieutenants. Elmer Tenley, who is responsible for most of the successful features of the skit, played Dennis McTernan in different disguises, and contributed continuous comedy. Teddy Simonds played Sir Thomas Henry on original lines. The remainder of the company were appropriately cast, Mollie Little, Mabel Waite, Lizzie Taylor, Gladys Lemoine, constituting the chorus. Bobby Raymond, as Owney Gazzen, caused much laughter by his manœuvres. The incidental music and character interludes, including Miss Meredith, in several songs; the Burman Sisters, as the two reporters; the Manhattan Beach Girls, etc., were all well put on, and the costumes were numerous and showy. Next week, Irwin Brothers' Big Burlesque Co.

THIRD AVENUE THEATRE.—Thos. E. Shea, at the head of an exceptionally strong cast, opened at this house on Monday evening, Oct. 18, to a full house. The numerous strong scenes and particularly the many patriotic speeches in connection with a representation of Uncle Sam's naval force appealed strongly to the audience, and the applause was continuous. Mr. Shea, who displays marked ability as a careful actor in the role was readily accorded the recognition due him, and Henry Testa, Lawrence Grattan, Frank Bowman, H. Fletcher Harvey, Wm. Carnes, J. Irving Southard, J. E. Gilbert, Richard Hutchins, Wm. Johnson, George West, Charles Rollins, John Wilton, Louise Brooks, Eleanor Francis Shea and Rose Adele gave strong support. The scenery and mechanical effects were thoroughly in keeping, and were also applauded. The production is directed by George H. Brennan, with Willard Stanton, representative. Next week, "When London Sleeps."

MANHATTAN THEATRE.—"The First Born" began Oct. 18 the third week and last fortnight of its stay at this house. "A Night Session" is also continued, and both plays are nightly witnessed by large and enthusiastic audiences.

GARDEN THEATRE.—Sol Smith Russell, in "A Bachelor's Romance," entered on Oct. 18 upon the fifth week of his engagement. He is still revelling in the new found delight of metropolitan success.

GARRICK THEATRE.—"A Stranger in New York" is now in the sixth week of its run at this house. The fiftieth performance is announced for Nov. 1, when souvenirs will be presented.

NUGENT'S SUNDAY CONCERT, third edition, evening of Oct. 17, was as successful financially and artistically as its predecessors. Only standing room was obtainable when the show started, and the audience witnessed a splendid entertainment, provided by Jos J. Dowling and Myra Davis, Cora Routt, Lew Dockstader, the Stewart Sisters, Kittie Mitchell, Kathryn Kler, Augusta O. Renard, Chas. B. Ward, McAvoy and Collins, Joe Cawthorne, Arthur E. Moulton, Ben Harney and Rebecca McKenzie.

HUBER'S PALACE MUSEUM.—The chief attraction for this week is Hamilton & Herndon's Klondyke Brides, who threaten to journey to the gold fields in search of husbands. A few of them are attractive enough to stand a marrying chance here. The audience liked their entertainment, not doubting that their Alaskan pilgrimage would end at Hoboken. The remaining curio hall features are the Sutcliffe Family, hot Scotch acrobats; Maxey, who's diet is needles, and other curious people. On the stage two companies entertain, a part of the roster being the Novelty Trio, Ford and Daverne, black face comedians; Moran and Wesley, Hamilton and Herndon, Ada Jones, Rose Janette, Eddie Clark, Sam Abbey, musical act, and others.

FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Richard Mansfield is now in the third week of his engagement at this house, where he is playing to good business. "The Devil's Disciple" is still retained as his offering.

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE.—The current offering is filled with old line favorites with patrons of this house, and a better bill has not been seen nor more numerously patronized here in a long time. J. K. Emmett and Anna Mortland head the bill, with "A Honeymoon in a Harlem Flat," the Four Cohans, in their unrivaled act, being also features of prominence. Josie and Geo. Cohan brought down the house with their dancing, as usual, and Jerry Cohan and wife added their efforts to rounding out the splendid act. Ed. Lawrence and Nina Harrington, old favorites here, gave their unique specialty its usual entertaining presentation, and finished with a new factor, a tough cake walk, which they have originated, and present with exceedingly funny effect. Their hit was pronounced, as was the success of Billy Curtis and Belle Gordon, whose boxing and ball punching specialty is always in line for rousing favor here. They stirred the house to rounds of applause, and well merited their reception. Cushman and Holcomb were seen after a long absence, and received a welcome which must have made them feel cheerful. Their artistic specialty went with its usual fervor, and scored a strong hit with the best of them. The Tanakas, in orienta magic; Carr and McLeod, musicians; the Fransioli Sisters, neat dancers and good singers; Jas. J. and Lydia Sheehan, Fisher and Crowell, and C. W. Littlefield, whose specialties are well known and well liked, added much to the amusement, and Edwin R. Lang hit the bullseye of fun making with the clever tramp specialty, which he so well presented. He was well up in the list of favored ones. Tony Pastor's Own Co. comes to this house next week and disbands for the present.

MINER'S BOWERY THEATRE.—Jermon's "Black Crook" Extravaganza Co. is playing its first date in New York this season here this week and had good houses Monday afternoon and evening, 18. A company of prominent specialty and burlesque people has been formed for this production and a thoroughly entertaining performance is the result of their efforts. "Americans in London" burlesques society life to the entire satisfaction of the audience, Larry Smith, as a counterfeit Prince of Wales, making up and acting very humoronsly. Glen A. Emery was the duke in equally laughable style. Mureal was the American hostess and acted well. J. E. Gardner, C. M. Harris, Mamie Champion, Kittie Wells, Kittie Gilmore, Bessie Marlowe, Millie Webb, Nellie Saville, Beatrice Harlowe, Blanche Martin, Lottie Nelson and Kittie Clements were also seen to advantage. Songs by Miss Gilmore, Miss Wells, and a dance by Smith Emory and Miss Champion were especially successful among the hits introduced. The olio consisted of turns by Kitty Clements, in tough imitations and character songs; Larry Smith and Mamie Champion, who caused a lot of fun: Kittie Wells, who sang several songs successfully; Emery and Marlowe, the well known duo, in their comedy sketch; Mureal, whose French character songs were rendered with sufficient dash to thoroughly commend her as one of the best in her line, and Gardner, Gilmore and Harris, in a pleasing act full of song and comedy, "A Night in Paris," with the gaiety usually ascribed to that headquarters of all amusements, winds up the evening in lively fashion. Mureal, as Millie Rouge, the queen of the Mabille, is the personification of jollity, and makes things interesting for visitors, assisted by Kittie Wells, as Pearl. Larry Smith as the German sightseer, chaperoned by Glen A. Emery, who impersonates a curious Irishman, take in all the pleasures, and are finally discovered by their wives, who, in turn, flirt with their escorts, to the disgust of their erring husbands. A set of songs and dances lends life to the scene. The spectacular effects, with electric trimmings and general results were very showy, and the costumes reflect great credit upon their designer. Clark G. Ball is business manager for Mr. Jermon, George May musical director, Jerry Lang stage carpenter, Herman Elkstein electrician. James Bennett property man. Next week, Sam Devere's Co.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Maude Adams, now in the fourth week of her engagement at this house, is still presenting "The Little Minister" to large and demonstrative audiences. It is claimed that people are turned away at every performance, even including that given at the Wednesday matinee, and that no greater success has ever been known in this house.

CASINO.—"The Belle of New York" entered on Oct. 18 upon the fourth week of its run. It has proven a success, and not only is it drawing good houses, but announcement has been made that it will remain at this house throughout the season. On Monday William Morris appeared in place of David Warfield, who has resigned.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—Francis Wilson, in "Half a King, began on Oct. 18 the fifth and final week of a satisfactory engagement. He will be followed 25 by Frank Daniels, who will present, for the first time in this city, "The Idol's Eye."

HERALD SQUARE THEATRE.—"The French Maid" entered on Oct. 18 on the fourth week of its run. It is playing to good business and faith in its continued success is shown by the promise of souvenirs on Nov. 8, the occasion of its fiftieth performance.

WALLACK'S.—E. S. Willard entered on Oct. 18 upon the third week of his engagement, with a change or bill, "The Middleman" having been selected for the first half of the week and "The Professor's Love Story" for the latter half. "The Rogue's Comedy" is announced for next week.

HOYT'S THEATRE.—"A Proper Caper" entered on Oct. 18 upon the third week of its run. Announcement had been made of its speedy departure, but it has since been determined to keep it here until the end of Charles Frohman's season at the house, on Nov. 6.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—E. H. Sothern entered on Oct. 18 upon the seventh week of his engagement, and the second week of his presentation of "The Lady of Lyons." His many admirers should not fail to see his creation of Claude, nor to witness this beautiful production.

Harlem.—At the Harlem Opera House "Courted Into Court" opened Oct. 18 to the best house of the season, the house being crowded. Marie Dressler, in the leading role, gave entire satisfaction, and seldom has a company received so hearty a welcome as was accorded this one on the opening night. John C. Rice, in his original role, was, as usual, a favorite. Maude Huth and Billy Clifford made the hit of the company with their clever work, the singing of Maud Huth receiving several encores.

COLUMBUS.—Business has improved greatly during the past few weeks at this house. "The Cherry Pickers" is the attraction for this week, and every indication points to a prosperous week. The house was crowded at the opening performance.

METROPOLIS.—Hopkins' Trans-Oceanic Star Specialty Co., one of the best vaudeville organizations on the road, is the attraction for the present week. The bill includes Papinta, in her mirror and illusion dance; the Kama Trio, in their grotesque comedy act; Will H. Fox, in his musical act; Les Freres Carpos, equilibrist; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sidman, in their comedy sketch, "A Bit of Real Life;" Morton and Revelle, in their talking act; Genaro and Bailey, in a sketch; Leona Lewis and Harry Kessler, singers. The company should pack this popular house from top to bottom at every performance. Next week, "The Sporting Duchess."

OLYMPIC.—Bryant and Watson have every reason to be satisfied with their week's engagement. Fred Rider's Night Owls Burlesquers made their first Harlem appearance to a crowded house and met with a very warm reception and should pack the house for the week, as it is one of the best companies that has appeared at this house this season and is deserving of patronage. Next week, Andy Hughes' Gay Girls of Gotham.

THE ICE PALACE continues to do its share of business.

HARLEM MUSEUM.—Manager Hanson has secured and will feature Georgie Melnotte. This week's bill includes Capt. Vetrio, Emaline and Blosson, Dan Nash, the Ricketts, Mortimer and Darrell, Douglas and Atherton, Verra Olcotte, and six women in a washing contest.

NEW YORK STATE.

Brooklyn.—One of the many new productions to be seen in this city this week is "A Coat of Many Colors," at the Montauk Theatre, and an unusually large audience was present on Oct. 18. The co-stars were received with evidences of marked approval, and in their excellent efforts they were ably seconded by a competent company. Good business will no doubt rule for the week. Next week, Mrs. Fiske, in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles."

COLUMBIA.—"One Round of Pleasure" began a big engagement here 18, before a fine audience. It is a comic piece of specialties that gave entire satisfaction to its audience. Miss Brooks, in her "Romeo" costume, in the second act, makes a very striking figure. Marie Celeste, Richard Carle, Charles Kirke and the Rogers Brothers gave evidence of their abilities. Next week, Joseph Jefferson, in repertory.

BIJOU.—"Eight Bells," which is presented here this week by the Byrne Brothers, is almost entirely rearranged and greatly improved. It was witnessed by a large audience 18, and promises to do a big week's business. Among the principal favorite old features is the revolving ship scene, which proves as popular and attractive as in former years. There have been added many new features since last seen here. The acrobatic work has not been displaced, and there is an abundance of it. The scenery is elaborate and handsome. Next week, Marie Wainwright, in "Shall We Forgive Her?"

PARK.—On account of the pronounced success of "Trilby" during the past week by the stock company here, it has been decided to retain the piece another week. A packed house witnessed the two performances given 18. The cast will remain the same. As a curtain raiser Messrs. Barry and Wood give that amusing comedy, "Two American Tourists in Paris." "Niobe" will be presented by the stock next week.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—It is pretty evident that the seating capacity here will be severely tested this week, judging from the crowd present 18, to witness "A Contented Woman." Belle Archer impersonates the character of the contented woman in a very acceptable manner and is well supported by a good company. Next week, Otis Harlan in Hoyt's "A Black Sheep."

STAR.—Manager Bissell has an excellent vaudeville bill for his patrons this week in Sam Devere's Own Co. Two audiences that packed the house witnessed the performances given 18. Sam is at the head of the organization, and the show is better than any he has heretofore brought to this city. The programme includes a variety olio and a new farce, written by Sam Devere, entitled "Peep o' Day Club." The farce protrays some of the workings of the Raines law. A sensational feature is the introduction of Mildred Howard De Grey in her barefoot dance. There is also a grand cake walk and the Salvation Army Lassies' Quadrille. Among the specialists are: The Glissandos, Johnson and Dean, Pearl Haight, Bryon and Bernard, Weston and Beasley, Catheryn Rowe Palmer, and Ed. Rentz. Next week, the American burlesquers.

HYDE & BEHMAN'S.—Crowded houses greeted the afternoon and evening performance given 18, when Clara Morris was seen for the first time in this city in vaudeville. She appears in a one act play by Kenneth Lee, entitled "Blind Justice," supported by F. C. Harriott. They scored a most pronounced hit, and had to repeatedly acknowledge the hearty applause that was accorded to them. Others on the bill were: Johnson, Riano and Bentley, in a sketch, entitled "The Monkeys and the Farmer;" Gertie Gilson, singing soubrette; Quigley Brothers, in a sketch; Charles T. Ellis and his company in a comedy, "Mrs. Hogan's Music Teacher," which also made a hit; Arthur Rigby, in negro specialties; Lillian Burkhart and Forrest Flood in a comedy "Dropping a Hint;" E. N. Hall, banjoist, and the Silvers, in illustrated songs. Manager Nick Norton announces another big bill for next week, which includes Felix Morris, assisted by Walter and Jane Lennox, in a one act play; Lew Dockstader and Isabella Urquhart.

AMPHION.—William Calder returned to town 18, with Du Souchet's farce, "The Man from Mexico." It is the first time theatregoers here have had an opportunity of seeing the production. A big audience did him welcome 18. The play is produced with all that fine attention to details which marked its original production. The audience was as appreciative as it was large. Good business last week. The following attraction is John Drew, in "Rosemary."

GAYETY.—A big audience enjoyed a hearty laugh with fun created by McNally's farce "The Widow Jones," which opened here 18 for a week's stay. Flow Irwin essays the leading role. She has the support of a well balanced company. Big houses prevailed last week. Coming, week of 25, "The Naval Cadet," with James J. Corbett in the leading role.

EMPIRE.—The White Elephant Extravaganza Co. is here for a week's stay. They bring with them a chorus of pretty girls and a lot of gorgeous costumes. The introductory burlesque is full of life and good spirits, good music and shapely beauties. The Zobo Brass Band and the Bathers are special features. The olio bill includes Daily and Hilton, in a sketch, called "There Off;" Mabel Hazelton, Emerson and Omega, Tom Nolan, Cunningham and Grant, Jennie Lamont, and the Brothers Brown. "The White Elephant's Visit to Alaska" is the name of the closing burlesque. Fair business last week. The Rentz Stanley Co. comes week of 25.

BROOKLYN MUSIC HALL.—This week's bill is headed by Felix and Cain, eccentric comedians; Charles A. Pussey, Margaret Ashton and Arthur Conrad, in an operatic burletta, called "Little Napoleon;" Omene, an creative magician; the Dons, in a sketch; the Three Vilona Sisters, violinists; Charles G. Seymour, character mimic; Sheehan and Lacy, comedians, and Catherine Proctor Bennett, serio comic. Business continues up to the top notch. A change of bill next week.

AMERICAN.—N. S. Wood, always a good drawing card in this part of town, is the central figure this week. He will present a number of his plays, including "Out in the Streets." He has the support of a specially selected company. Fair business last week. "The Light on the Point" is billed for week of 25.

UNIQUE.—There was a good sized audience present 18 when the Manhattan Club Burlesque and Comic Opera Co. began a week's stay. In addition to the two burlesques, "A Stranger in Turkey" and "1925," they present an excellent olio by Lew Smith, May T. Lawrence, Carr and Tourgee, Marie Bartlett, Warshauer and Melon, Collins and Brien, and Al Lubin. Business last week was good. Coming: Week of 25, Lang's Operatic Burlesquers.

LYCEUM.—Never before this season has the house played to such business as it did on the opening night, 18. Not even standing room could be secured after 8 o'clock. The play is Thomas Craven's melodrama, "The Stowaway," and is interpreted by the Frey Stock Company. The sale of advance seats indicates a big week

Daniel Frohman the right to produce many of the Lyceum successes, "Sweet Lavender" being the play for the current week.

COURT STREET THEATRE.—Roble's Bohemian Burlesquers commenced 18 for a week. Rice & Barton's Big Gaiety Co. next week.

Utica.—At the Utica Opera House John Drew, in "Rosemary," came Oct. 12, to a packed house. Seidl's Orchestra followed and did equally as well 14. "A Divorce Cure" closed the week 15, 16, to fair business. The veriscope pictures of the Corbett Fitzsimmons fight 18-20. August Van Biene, in "A Musician's Romance," 21, are the only attractions this week.

THE COLUMBIA.—Daisy Wade and Flora Scott will remain over, with Holmes and Holmes, Harry Boyd and May Hoey additional for week of 18.

Newburg.—At the Academy of Music John Drew was accorded a warm and generous welcome Oct. 18, in "Rosemary," which proved to be a very entertaining play. Mr and Mrs. Russ Whytal are due 22 in "For Fair Virginia," otherwise this house will be dark all this week. "The Sunshine of Paradise Alley" pleased a good sized audience 13, and made such a decided success that a return date was immediately made for the forepart of next month. Hopkins' Trans Oceanic Star Specialty Co. followed 15, also playing to good business and giving general satisfaction. "The Cherry Pickers" are announced for 25, Hoyt's "A Contented Woman" 28, the latter filling the date originlly booked by Julia Arthur in "A Lady of Quality," and which was canceled owing to the destruction of her wardrobe and scenery in the Detroit Opera House fire.

Elmira.—At the Lyceum Theatre "A Boy Wanted" was the attraction Oct. 12, to a fair sized house. The Sutherland Sisters and Campbell and Beard were the features. "Chimmie Fadden," with Dan Collyer in the title role, did fairly well 13. Dan'l Sully presented "O'Brien the Contractor" 14, to good business. The Spooners, in repertory, commenced a week's engagement 18, opening in "The Galley Slave." Ed. T. Murray, last season with the Forepaugh Show, was the outside "Boy" with "A Boy Wanted" Co., and was a decided feature.

Geneva.—At the Smith Opera House the Daniel R. Ryan Dramatic Co. closed a successful week of repertory Oct. 16. Booked: "The Girl from 'Frisco" 19, "The Land of the Living" 29.

Middletown.—The Casino was dark Oct. 4, 9. "Always on Time" came to fair business 15. Morey-Shea Repertory Co. will hold the boards 18 and week, "The Cherry Pickers" 26, 'A Big Heart" 29.

IOWA.

Des Moines.—"Ole Olsen" commanded standing room at the Grand Opera House Oct. 16. "Old Moneybags" opened for three nights of fair business 11. Show very favorably criticised. "The Pulse of New York" shows 21-23, Drew's Comedians 28-30.

FOSTER'S OPERA HOUSE.—"Tennessee's Pardner" drew out a small audience 13. "At Gay Coney Island" comes 18, Primrose & West's Minstrels 20, "The Twelve Temptations" 22, Kelley and Mason 23, Modjeska 25, Clay Clement 29, 30.

WONDERLAND.—Business is fairly good. Faces for week of 18: Alice Raymond and John Kurkemp, refined musical act; Dalton and Boyle, black face comedy; McDonald Brothers, Irish and Dutch comedians; Nell Wilton, operatic and descriptive soprano; the Coles, aerialists; Hurbert La She, wire walker.

Cedar Rapids.—At Greene's Opera House "Miss Francis of Yale" came Oct. 8, "Tennessee's Pardner" 11, Charles A. Gardner 12, Schiller Vaudeville Co. 13-16, all to fairly good business. Matthews and Bulger are billed for 19, "Twelve Temptations" 20.

W. F. CARVER, with his diving ponies, was one of many attractions at the carnival (local) which drew immense crowds 13-15.

Council Bluffs.—At the Dohany Theatre Yale's "Twelve Temptations" drew a packed house Oct. 11. The Woodward Theatre Co appeared in repertory week of 10, except night of 11, when the company filled a date at Glenwood, Ia. The prices were 10, 20 and 30 cents, and the business done here was only medium, no doubt owing to the fact that this company has been seen so often at ten cents to all parts of the house. It is the present intention of the house management to play one 10, 20 and 30 cent show each month, but no more ten cent shows will be given here. Clay Clement, in "A Southern Gentlemen," comes 23; "Ole Oleson" 25. James Fulton joined the Woodward Co. here.....Prof. Sid. Downs has been engaged to lead the house orchestra.

Davenport.—At the Burtis Opera House, Oct. 8, the Calhoun Opera Co gave "The Grand Duchess" to a good audience. "Miss Francis of Yale," 9, came to a fair sized audience. "Tennessee's Pardner," 10, drew a packed house. "Ole Oleson" played to a small house 11. Thos. Dovrack, in "The Merchant of Venice," came to fair business. Coming: Thos. Dovrack 15, Charles A. Gardner, in "Karl the Peddler," 16; Yale's "Twelve Temptations" 17, the Murray Comedy Co. 18-23

Burlington.—At the Grand Blei's Schiller Vaudevilles, Oct. 11, 12, came to light receipts. "Ole Olson" greatly pleased a good audience 13. Sam Morris' outlook for 16 is not encouraging if the warm weather continues. Coming: Chas. Gardner 19, "Who's Who?" 20, "Twelve Temptations" 26, "The Nancy Hanks" 28, "The Pulse of New York" 30.....Profs. Rhys and Nash are drawing good audiences nightly at Wohlwend & Gardner's popular Music Hall.

Dubuque.—At the Grand Opera House, Oct. 9, "Tennessee's Partner" played two performances to fairly good houses. Eunice Goodrich and company, in repertory, had fair business 11-13. Charles A. Gardner had a good house 14, "Twelve Temptations" and "At Gay Coney Island" are booked for early dates.

Marshalltown.—At the Odeon Chas. A. Gardner, in "Karl the Peddler," had a good house Oct. 13. Al. G. Field's Minstrels delighted fair audience 14. Booked: "Ole Oleson" 18, "Twelve Temptations" 21, Clay Clement 25.

WASHINGTON.

Seattle.—At the Third Avenue Theatre Cosgrove & Grant's "The Dazzler" began a week's engagement Oct 10, when the standing room only sign was out before 7:30 P. M. "The Heart of Chicago" returned and gave two performances 9 to big houses. Last week, while the house was dark, two hundred and fifty new chairs were put in the parquet and five hundred more are on the way. Prof. McEwen, hypnotist, begins a week's stay 17.

JEFFERSON THEATRE.—This house, named after Jos. Jefferson, was opened 16 by the Walter Hodges Co. in "Down in Dixie," to a big audience. The company remain a fortnight and will present "David Garrick" and "On to Klondike" during their stay. Manager S. B. Friend promises some fine attractions and proposes to make this a family theatre in every sense of the word.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE is doing a tremendous business, and presents the following excellent bill: Marion Winchester, Austin, Nellie Healy, Wm. Morse, May Russell, Nick Williams, May La Rose, Theo Price, Cammetta, Laura Ashby, John Morrison, Keating and Walker, Lita Mather, Juan Howard, Mulligan and Linton, Lottie Rogers, Wanda, Maud Newell, Daisy De Avra, Lillian Starr and Mose Goldsmith.

ORPHEUM PALACE.—The Will Chapman and Blanche Warner Co., in "Francesca de Rimini" and a vaudeville bill, including Harry Ledley, Maud Margeson, Ruby Knight, Emma Forrest, Wally Watts, Sisters Vernon and Nellie Maguire, are doing good business.

FACTS.—Corinne, in "An American Beauty," did immense business in this city 12 13.....M B Curtis, with an ordinary company, gave "Sam'l of Posen," to fair houses here, 8, 9.....Matt. L. Berry circled among old friends in this city 12.

Spokane.—At the Auditorium the house record was broken the week of Oct. 4, no less than nine performances being given, six nights and three matinees. The fruit fair attracted thousands to the city; as a result crowded houses greeted every performance. Adelaide and Leon Herrmann opened a three nights' engagement 11, to good business. "The Dazzler" drew big houses 7, 8, matinee 9. Corinne, in "An American Beauty," played to the capacity of the house 5, 6 and matinee with a return date the night of 9. Digby Bell, in "A Hoosier Doctor," played to immense business night of 4 and matinee 5. On 2 the Spokane Press Club gave a benefit performance to a large house. Many vaudeville stars kindly volunteered. Bookings: "A Trip to Chinatown" 14-16, Katie Putnam 22, 23, "In Old Kentucky" 25, 26, "South Before the War" 29.

CŒUR D'ALENE.—New faces 11: Beatrice Morrell, Joe Cramer, Bessie Allen, Ward and Dixon, Cooper and Cook, Ollie Joy, Ethel Clayton and Ed. Dolan. Good business rules.

COMIQUE.—May Cort, Lillie Sherwood, Bovins and Gertie Hauck. The house is doing its share of the business.

NOTES.—The fourth annual Spokane fruit fair opened 5, on a grander and more exclusive scale than ever yet attempted, and that it is a success in every respect is shown in the daily attendance, which greatly exceeds that of previous years. The music was furnished by the Sixteenth Infantry Band of Fort Sherman..... The Orpheum Stars Company reorganized, and, under the management of C. M. Arnold, started 13 for a tour of the State and coast, with Honolulu as the objective point. The Levino's (Dolph and Susie), are the leading stars of the company.

VIRGINIA.—[See Page 562.]

Norfolk.—The improvement in business at the Academy of Music seems to have taken a steady hold, and this week's receipts show a slight advance. Skillman, magician, who opened the week at this house, Oct. 11, was the only attraction to suffer from slim attendance. The Evesson Clayton Combination, presenting "A Puritan Romance," was seen 12. The performance was thoroughly enjoyed by a well filled house. Boone, hypnotist, fared equally as well, and did good business 13, 14. "Secret Service" closed the week, giving two delightful performances 16. Advance prices prevailed, and the returns at the box office were quite satisfactory. Scalchi is booked for 18. T. D. Van Osten's Comedy Co. 19, 20, Primrose & West 25, Walker Whiteside 27.

BIJOU THEATRE.—New people week of 18: Keiffer and Diamond, and Wm. H. Batcheller, leaper. Counter attractions considered, business at this house was fair.

ATLANTIC GARDEN.—Morton and Nole will strengthen the forces at this resort week of 18. Business is fair.

BUFFALO BILL'S WILD WEST drew two tremendous crowds 15.

Petersburg.—At the Academy of Music Van Osten's Three Star Comedy Co. gave excellent performances to good business week of Oct. 11. Primrose & West's Minstrels come 26.....Tremendous crowds visited the two exhibitions given by Buffalo Bill's Wild West 14.....Norris' Dog and Pony Show comes 18 19.

World of Players.

—Manager Aubrey Mittenthal, of the Agnes Herndon Co., writes to THE CLIPPER thus: "We are now in our eighth week, and have been doing a large business each week, with the exception of our second stand, where we encountered hot weather. Our repertory includes: 'La Belle Marie,' 'The Sunny South,' 'The Jealous Mrs. Brown,' 'A Night's Frolic,' 'The Great Brooklyn Handicap,' 'The Girl from France' and a Woman's Crime.' We carry a car of special scenery and effects, and the plays and company in general have made a success wherever we have played. We have thus far played Hudson, N. Y.; Camden, Elizabeth and Atlantic City, N. J.; Allentown, Ashland and Chester, Pa., and play return dates at Elizabeth and Chester in the near future. Miss Herndon's reputation as a high priced star at people's prices is the feature, and adds greatly to the drawing powers of this attraction. The roster: Aubrey Mittenthal, manager; Bert. R. Miller, business representative; Agnes Herndon, Marie Thomas, Florence Norton, Albert Andruss, Arthur Mercer, George L. Staut, Cyreal N. Badger, Jackson Carlysle and Albert Haley. Victor Morley and Lillian Bayer play the comedy roles to perfection. Master Johnny Ford, boy soprano, is quite a favorite. THE CLIPPER is received weekly by the different members of the company, and is always welcome."

—Harry B. Sutherland has been engaged by Robt. Fulgora for Tom Nawn's "Shantytown" Co.

—Orris Ober, having closed her Summer season, opened her regular Western and coast trip three weeks ago.

—Fred Wietta has closed a twenty-three weeks' season with Marshall's U. T. C., and will soon open for the Winter season with the same company.

—The Morrisons, Hugh and Aileen, have closed with the Morgan Gibney Co., and have rejoined the Graham Earle Co. at Chicago, to do the comedy and soubrette, also their double specialties in the "Inside Track," at the Bijou, week of Oct. 24. Mrs. Morrison has fully recovered health.

—Notes and roster of Lexington's Comedians: We opened the season, Sept. 27, at Belvidere, N. J. We carry our own band of ten pieces, under Prof. Chas. Lamay, and make a street parade. We are touring New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York. Roster: Fred Lexington, proprietor and manager; Arthur Younger, advance; Harry W. James, Alice James, Harry Harper, Mrs. Fred Lexington, Mabel Reed, Master Chas. Lexington, Prof. Noel, Horace Clements and Minnie Walsh, and Harry W. James, stage manager.

—Rose Coghlan has been engaged to create the part of Lady Janette Maclintock, the leading character in the Drury Lane melodrama, "The White Heather," which is to be produced by Charles Frohman at the Academy of Music Thanksgiving week.

—Roster of the Seymour-Stratton Co.: T. Seymour Stratton, Ina Cloughan, Ed. H. Barnstead Jr., L. G. Duley, Harry Brenman, Chas. H. Deland, Frederick Bigelow, C. C. Davis, C. H. Cook, Robert Colby, W. F. Cook, Edward Giles, W. J. Dunbar, Harry James, Geo. Hague, William Croucher, Arthur Philip, Edwin Roache, Howard Archer, Anna Lysle, Allie Gerald, Lottie Burgess, Minnie De Lange, Gertie Forest and Bertie Howard. Seven specialty acts are introduced. Bertie Howard's troupe of educated goats and dogs are features.

—Elizabeth M. Gould was last week granted an absolute divorce from her husband, Wm. H. Gould, at Concord, N. H.

—Bettina Gerard is a patient in Bellevue Hospital, this city, sadly broken down in health and dangerously afflicted.

—Joseph Jefferson addressed the convicts in the State Prison at Charlestown, Mass., Sunday morning, Oct. 17.

—Gertrude Liddy has retired from the Theatre Francaise Stock, Montreal, Can.

—Lucille Laverne is engaged for "The Foundling."

—Richard T. Brown has left the Nellie McHenry Co.

—Frank H. Celli arrived here last week. He comes to superintend "Stirring Times."

—R. E. Stevens arrived in this city Oct. 17.

—Tony Denier Jr. sails for Europe Oct. 30. It is his intention to open in London with the Barnum-Bailey Company in a new act, invented by him, called "Griffinero, an Aerial Antistrophe."

—"The Tarrytown Widow" Co. rested in New York Oct. 18 and was in Saratoga 19.

—Pliny Rutledge, business manager for the Payton Comedy Co., writes us that the company was compelled to lay off two days last week on account of the sickness of four of the members: James Sutherland, R. L. Wixstrom, Pliny Rutledge and Grace Hezlep. While on their way to the next stand they visited the F. E. Spooners, at Manhattan, Kan.

—Mlle. Addie Rennee, who was specially engaged in Berlin for the spectacular play, "Nature," at the Academy of Music, in this city, has brought suit, through her attorney, M. Strassman, in the Supreme Court, against Benjamin Cohen, the proprietor of "Nature," to recover $3,000. Mlle. Rennee was engaged for six months at a salary of $150 per week, and, after performing for five weeks, her engagement, it is alleged, was canceled without cause.

—The management of the Imperial Theatre, St. Louis, is having trouble with the dramatic company. Fanny Bloodgood, the soubrette, closed 16, and Laura Almonisa (who was with Lillian Lewis) joined on that date. There appears to be a doubt as to who is the leading man, whether it is Lawrence Hanley or H. Carter Brinker. So much strife has been caused that the two actors have been obliged to alternate in the leading roles when the bill was changed each week. Al. Wilson will also withdraw from the company.

—Clement J. Martin has left the Downing Company.

—Frank Ambrose goes with "Down in Dixie."

—"Frederick the Great" will be produced for the first time on Oct. 28, at Portland, Me., by Lewis Morrison.

—The company playing "Wyoming Mail" at Paterson, N. J., the early part of last week, was notified at the railroad depot, Thursday morning, 14, that the season was closed. This was the first notice the company received of its closing.

—Julie King, an American soubrette, is at the Avenue Theatre, London, Eng.

—"The Crust of Society" will be acted at the Broadway Theatre, Denver, Col., this week, with Elita Proctor Otis in the leading role. Minnie Radcliffe joins that company for the season on that date.

—Adelaid Clifford was granted a divorce from her husband, Orson Clifford, in Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.

—Mattie Hogarth has joined the Madison Square Co. under the management of J. B. Rotnour.

—Redmond A. Flynn and Ernest J. Mack are organizing a company, and will soon be seen in a new farce comedy from the pen of Mr. Mack. The business manager will be R. A. Flynn.

—The Farley Concert Co. will open their annual tour at Momence, Ill., after playing three weeks in and around Chicago. The roster: E. V. Farley, manager; Alma Farley, decriptive vocalist; Dot Farley, character songs and impersonations; Flo Farley, songs and readings; Elnora Farley, soprano; Marie Wilbur, formerly with Andrews' Opera Co.; G. S. Williams, formerly with Andrews' Opera Co.; Arthur H. Carter and Etta Gjarde. Robert Halcott is in advance, with Walter Smith, lithographer.

—Wilfred Lucas, leading man and stage manager of the Wilson Comedy Co., resigned from that organization at Binghamton, N. Y.

—Wm. Hart, Miss Villers, Miss Wilberham and T. Baker go with Darrell Vinton, opening at Newport News Oct. 25. "Monte Cristo," "Hamlet" and "Othello" is in the repertory.

—Dave Davidson will shortly withdraw from "Two Little Vagrants" Company. Helen Robertson and J. R. Armstrong left this organization the past week and have gone to a St. Louis stock company.

—Jean Renolds' company closed at Fishkill, N. Y., Oct. 16.

—Lillian Lewis closed at the Grand Opera House, this city, Oct. 16. It is said the star intends shortly to reopen.

—The scenery of "A Paris Doll" was attached in Chicago Oct. 18, but Vernona Jarbeau, the star of the opera, succeeded in getting her personal property back upon proof that it belonged to her. The levy was made to satisfy a debt contracted in Buffalo, N. Y.

—Grace Thorne Conlter has signed with Charles Frohman for Joseph Arther's play, "The Salt of the Earth," which goes directly into rehearsal.

—Gowango Mohawk informs us that her reception at Philadelphia last week was most cordial, and a police escort was necessary after the first performance to escort her to her home, to protect her from the attentions of the crowd.

—Morey & Shea write: "Owing to the serious and sudden illness of two members of our company we are compelled to lay off this week, Oct. 18-23, after a profitable engagement in Rondout, N. Y."

—Westley Mantell is informed of the death of his mother. He is requested by Paul Dillon to come home at once.

—Julia Arthur and her manager, Arthur Lewis, have received a letter from members of her company expressing their regret and sympathy at the loss sustained by her through the burning of the theatre in Detroit, with all the scenery and costumes of "A Lady of Quality." They also express appreciation for the remarkable treatment accorded them since the disaster.

—Corse Payton items: The season has been very prosperous for both companies thus far, and as the season is fully booked in houses where we have played before, the prospects are bright for a continuation. Etta Reed still heads the support in Payton's Own Co., and Florence Hamilton heads the Payton Comedy Co., managed by David J. Ramage. Payton's Own Co. is touring New Jersey and Pennsylvania, being this week at Trenton. Carrying a full car of scenery, for the complete mounting of each production, requires a clean stage when the show opens for the week, and a popular scale of prices keeps the house packed at the daily matinees and night performances. The repertory incudes "The Parisian Princess," "Flirtation," "Camille," "Is Marriage a Failure?" "The Galley Slave," "Drifted Apart," "My Kentucky Home," "Two Nights in Rome," "The Plunger" and the double bills, "Lend Me Five Shillings" and "A Yankee in Cuba," and "Daughter of the Regiment" and "Two Hearts Are One." Manager W. E. Denison looks after matters back with the show and W. V. Park is an efficient advance. Harry Jackson is stage manager, John R. Doud, master mechanic; Henry Payton, property master; J. Elmer Grimm, musical director; E. H. McAndrews, scenic artist, and C. McCreary, stereopticon operator. The stereopticon is used between acts to make the performance continuous, backing the illustrated songs by D. J. Sullivan. Specialties by Grace Fox, the Prentice Trio, Camille Gautier and Mr. Payton's songs and dances are features. The acting company includes Etta Reed, Grace Fox, Minnie Stanley, Mae Hill, Cora McKean, Annie Prentice, Camille Gautier, Will D. Corbett, Wm. A. Howatt, Sidney S. Toler, Harry Jackson, John R. Doud, Chas. H. McCreary, Harry Prentice and Corse Payton. Harry McDonald and Emma DeCastro joined Manager Ramage's Co. at Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 18, for the remainder of the season. Both companies will complete the season in the East, finishing with a tour of the New England States.

—Mark Bennett, baritone, with Gus Hill's "McFadden's Flats" Co. has been suffering from the effects of a very severe cold, which made it impossible for him to sing more than one song at each performance. He is playing the coon part, and is improving in voice.

—Bertha Waltzinger, on Oct. 18, signed a contract to sing the leading part in the new opera, "1999," that is to follow "The Belle of New York" at the Casino. Miss Waltzinger is now with the Bostonians.

—Praach's new version of the second part of "Faust" was presented, in Berlin, Ger., Oct. 18, at the Berliner Theatre with eclat, new music and Schumann's setting.

—Harry Askin has completed arrangements whereby Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mason will tour through the New England and Southern States in "Friend Fritz."

—Marion Manola's baggage was seized by a deputy sheriff at Rochester, Oct. 16, to satisfy a judgment for nearly $2 000 obtained against the Manola-Mason Stock Company some time ago.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—Some improvement is to be noted in the offerings for the present week, and it is to be hoped that the financial end will improve likewise. Last week was not a happy one for most of the men back of the box office windows. "Secret Service," at Hooley's, was almost the only show to do a big business. This has gone booming along at a lively rate, the curtain rising every night on a packed house. "The Good Mr. Best" found a very frigid atmosphere at the Grand, and "The Paris Doll" was far from a big money maker at McVicker's. The Columbia fared better than most of them with Willie Collier, in "The Man from Mexico," but the house has seen many a better day than those of the past two weeks or more. "The District Attorney" helped the Schiller somewhat, but the fortunes of the house during the week were far from what they should be. Thus it has been nearly all along the line. This week sees Julia Marlowe at the Columbia, in "For Bonnie Prince Charlie;" "Secret Service" holds on at Hooley's, "The Good Mr. Best" remains another week at the Grand, the Schiller Stock presents "The Cat and the Cherub" and "Don't Deceive Your Wife." McVicker's offers "The Mysterious Mr. Bugle," with Joseph Holland in the leading role "A Guilty Mother," at the Alhambra, and "Old Money Bags," at the Lincoln, are new ones in Chicago. In vaudeville there is nothing particularly new.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—Willie Collier, after delighting audiences for two weeks in "The Man From Mexico," packed his trunk Oct. 16. Julia Marlowe comes 18, for three weeks, to fill her annual engagement. The first week is devoted to "For Bonnie Prince Charlie," this being the first opportunity Chicagoans have had to see this play. Miss Marlowe is supported by Edwin Howard, Algernon Tassin, Dodson L. Mitchell, Alfred Kendrick, Bassett Roe, Donald MacLaren, Frederic Murphy, A. Langdon, James T. Barton, Edwin L. Stewart, Herbert Eaton, Hawley Franks, Alice Parks, Eugenia Woodward, Mrs. Sol Smith and Katherine Wilson.

SCHILLER THEATRE.—"The District Attorney" gave the house stock a chance last week to redeem themselves, and they seized the opportunity. This play of Harrison Grey Fiske's and Charles Klein's, dealing as it does with political affairs in New York at the time of the Lexow investigation, lost some of the interest to Chicagoians it had to New Yorkers when first produced. Still, it seemed to be appreciated, especially since the company gave it such an excellent interpretation. This week sees "The Cat and the Cherub" at this house preceded by a three act comedy, by Paul Wilstach and Joseph R. Grismer, entitled "Don't Deceive Your Wife." Since Manager Webster secured the Chicago rights for the Chinese play there has been much stew about the Hammerstein Froman difficulty, but it has consisted simply of talk for the benefit of the public. The Schiller Company has lost the services of Robert Drouet and Elita Proctor Otis. The former's engagement was only temporary, and the latter did not like to learn a new part every week, she said. Miss Otis goes to Denver. Manager Webster has not yet finally filled their places, although some negotiations are practically completed.

HOOLEY'S THEATRE.—Every day sees lines of people at the box office and every night sees a packed house. William Gillette and "Secret Service" are the attractions which does all this. The third week was a big one. The fourth starts out 18. The German Sunday drama, presented by Welb & Wachsnea's Company, is "Die Bildhauer," by Eugen Reichel.

MCVICKER'S THEATRE.—"The Paris Doll" came to an end of its Chicago engagement of two weeks 16. It did not come up to the usual De Koven-Smith standard in quality, and the business was in proportion. Farce succeeds the opera. "The Mysterious Mr. Bugle" opening 17. Joseph Holland is at the head of the company interpreting Mrs. Madeline Luce to Ryley's play. Among those who come with him are Gretchen Lyons, Winona Shannon, Joseph Kilgour, Charles Collins, Agnes Findlay, Edgar Norton, Alfred J. Edwards, Henry Phillips and Arthur Mackenzie.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"The Good Mr. Best" has been displaying his virtue—or lack of it—largely to vacant seats during the past week. The farce comedy has failed to entertain in spite of the hard work of the company. It remains another week, however, and then Roland Reed arrives.

HOPKINS' THEATRE.—"Nancy & Co." sees the light of day again this week. Lew Hawkins is on the specialty bill. S. also are the California Trio, the Whitney Brothers, Wertz and Adair, the Deagons, Frankline Sisters, Arline Rumsey, T. Nelson Downs and the Hopkins' Ladies Orchestra.

CLIFFORD'S SAVOY.—Helen Russell's Burlesquers were a drawing attraction last week. This week, 'Old Dan Tucker" is produced with a cast of thirty people. Among them are Sherman and Morrissey and Minnie Mac Sterns.

CLIFFORD'S GAIETY.—The Rentz-Santley Novelty and Burlesque Company put on a couple of burlesques this week. They are "The World of Pleasure" and a travesty on "Orpheus and Euridice" called "Paradise in Hades." The company includes Alida Perault, Kate Oliver, Maude Caswell and Arthur Arnold, the Esher Sisters, Miles and Ireland, and Annie E. Sylvester.

SAM T. JACK'S OPERA HOUSE.—The City Club puts in still another week here. Two new burlesques are presented. "Mr. Paris at Niagara" and "The Gay Girls at Monte Carlo," with Fannie Everard and Carrie Fulton in prominent roles. In the olio of specialties are Anna Lommborg, Dick and Kittie Kumins, Lew Palmer, Baker and St. John, Conroy and McFarland, and Leslie and Fulton.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—The name of Olga Regina, Countess Von Hatzfeld, again appears on the bill. She is announced to have several new ballads to sing. John and James Russell are on the list, too, with their servant girl skit. Lizzie B. Raymond, Leonidas' dogs and cats, James H. Cullen, Post and Clinton, Margaret Webb, Morton and Elliott, Mme. Kamochi the Jacksons, Baby Lewis, Barth and Fleming, Charles E. Wilson, Sexton and Stewart, and Mons. Creager complete the offering.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—Topping the bill come Filson and Erroll in their sketch, "A Tip on the Derby." Johnny Carroll sings songs and tells stories. The rest of the people down for this week are Neville and Barlow, Mlle. Leopoldine, the Carlisle Sisters, Mary Lane Raymond and Clark, Ray Royce the Three Barretts Olschansky and Lonny, Finley and Touhay, Signor Ozar, the Three Goldsmith Sisters, Delavoy and Fritz, and Healey and Farnum.

HAYMARKET.—Hope Booth has come back to town, and her living pictures are the feature at the West Side vaudeville house. The familiar faces of Hayes and Lytton are also to be seen in travesty. Others on the bill are Mazuz and Mazette, the International Trio, Allen and Delmain, Mayer, Smith and Mayer, Walter Ellis, the Senfos, the Raymond Trio, Beban and Dakin, Hughes and Hughes the Heidlers, Albert Hawthorn, Al. Waltz, Grover and Bland.

LINCOLN THEATRE.—"The Gay Matinee Girl," under the management of E. P. Hilton, put in last week to a good business. Monroe and Hart's fun making was the chief feature. "Old Money Bags" is the current attraction, with Sam Morris in the leading role. Helen Tuesart has a soubrette part. "Straight From the Heart" is next on the book.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—"The Woman in Black" thrilled crowded houses throughout the week. Another stirring melodrama succeeds it, "A Guilty Mother," presented for the first time in Chicago. In the cast are Theresa Newcomb, Eleanor Merron, Henrietta Vaders, Ella Baker, Christie MacLean, Adelyn Wesley, Carlton Wells, Thomas J. Jackson, H. Rees Davies, Murray Woods, Thomas Meegan and Henry L. Barker. "McGinty, the Sport," comes next.

BIJOU THEATRE.—For a week "A Paper City" has furnished song and laughter, with Eloise Willard, J. A. Murphy and J. C. Moore chief among the performers. "The Gay Matinee Girl" comes for the week with Monroe and Hart, and the rest of the people in the company who have been pleasing the South Side and North Side public. Next week brings "Inside Track."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"The Woman in Black" with its political mass meetings, its torch light processions and its exciting climaxes, runs for the week at the Academy. It is followed by "A Guilty Mother."

LYCEUM THEATRE.—The stock has prepared a revival of Dion Boucicault's old drama, "Led Astray." Horace Vinton and Eda Clayton take the two leading parts.

CLARK STREET MUSEUM.—Manager Middleton has billed two Cuban refugees as his features. They are Senor Jose Picardo Aljoris and Elvareta Teresa Aljoris, who tell of Spanish atrocities. Other features are Frankie Richter, boy musician; the elephant woman, Charles and Corinne Carter, magicians; Frank Burton, world girdling bicyclist, and the Midway dancers.

WHITE'S LONDON MUSEE.—There will be an entire change of programme in the curio hall. The new features will be a team of South Sea Island horses, only thirty-one inches in height; Young Santry, bag puncher; Satinella, fire queen; Maratana, Circassian sword walker, and Alexander, strong man. In the theatre: Jessie White, Wilson Bros., Allie Anderson, Ward Sisters, Zella Leazy, the living pictures and the usual Midway dancers.

GOSSIP.—The Chinese play fad has landed hard on Chicago. "The Cat and the Cherub" is put on this week at the Schiller. "The First Born" is an early booking at the Columbia and Col. Hopkins has engaged the Pacific Coast company, presenting "The Celestial Maiden" for the week of 21.....The Chutes shut down 17 for the season.....William H. Crane comes to Hooley's after "Secret Service" for the first time since he was associated with Stuart Robson. McVicker's has had him of recent years.....Mme. Helena Modjeska has been rehearsing her repertory at the Grand during the past week. She will make a short Western trip, appearing at this house after Roland Reed.....Joseph M. Gates has formed a connection with Will H. Barry, manager of the Alhambra, to produce his new farce comedy, "The Air Ship."

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Washington.—The aggregate of business done in Washington last week was one of the largest of the season so far, the different playhouses each having an attraction which pleased its individual patrons. Congress is not yet in session and the attendant crowds of transients has not yet put in an appearance, so the excellent business done last week proves that Washington people alone will liberally patronize seven places of amusement providing the attractions furnished are of sufficient merit.

KAFLEY'S NATIONAL THEATRE.—Primrose & West's Minstrels last week had the best business ever done by that prime organization, the house being crowded at every performance. Many pleasing and novel features were presented; in fact, every number was a feature, the roster including such names as G. o. Primrose, George Wilson, Milt G. Barlow, Raymon Moore, Joseph Carroll, Ernest Tenney, S. S. Carnes, Waterbury Brothers, Ben Mowatt Trio, Quaker City Quartet, the Marvelous Seymours, Manuel Roman, Charles Weber, Edward Hanson, Harry Ernest and Frederick Reynolds. General Manager J. H. Decker was here early in the week and gave the show a most vigorous send off, after which it took care of itself with the result as above stated. George Edwardes' Gaiety Theatre Burlesque Co., in "In Town," this week. Wilton Lackaye, in "A Royal Secret," 24-29.

ALBAUGH'S LAFAYETTE SQUARE OPERA HOUSE.—The Lillian Russell-Della Fox-Jeff. de Angelis Co., in "The Wedding Day," had excellent business at advanced prices. Sousa's Band gave a Sunday evening concert, 17, to large business. This week, Kellar. Camille d'Arville, in "Peg Woffington," 24-29.

METZEROTT'S COLUMBIA THEATRE.—The Castle Square Opera Co. presented "Billie Taylor" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," a double bill, to large houses. This week is the sixth and last of the engagement of this prime attraction, and "Clover" is the bill. Owing to the difficulty in securing strong principals, and retaining them when they had been secured, the management reluctantly determined to depart from its original intention of remaining here all the season. The Castle Square Opera Co. has certainly given Washingtonians the best opera ever heard here for the least money, and our music loving public is sorry to be obliged to give it up. Margaret Mather, in "Cymbeline," "The Honeymoon" and "Romeo and Juliet," 24-29.

KERNAN & RIFE'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Davis & Keogh's "The Sidewalks of New York" attracted the full clientel of this house all last week, crowding the house nightly. This week, Morrison's production of "The Privateer;" "On the Bowery" 24-29.

RAFLEY'S ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Owing to the stranding of "Bo Peep" in Cincinnati the week at this house would have been dark except for the fortunate securing of the Bertha Creighton Co., which was resting here owing to the cancelation of their Southern time in the yellow fever districts. This clever star and a fair company presented a repertory including "Romeo and Juliet," "Ingomar" and "The Country Girl" all most creditably and with only two days' billing. This week, Go-Won-Go Mohawk; "In the Name of the Czar" 24-29.

KERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATRE.—The Rentz-Santley Co. had standing room only on several occasions during last week, which speaks well for the excellence of the bill presented and the esteem with which this excellent organization is held here. This week, Hyde's Comedians, with Helesie Mora; Al. Reeves' Big Show 24-29.

GROSSE'S BIJOU THEATRE.—At our only 10, 20 and 30 cent house big business was the rule at each of the twice a day performances. "Mr and Mrs. Barnaby Bibb," by the Bijou Stock, was a feature, and was followed by specialties by Margaherite Heileme, Judge and Walton, Gibbons and Barnett, H. M. Herbert, the Three Graces, Charlie Banks, Ward and Brown, the De Greaus, the Lumiere cinematograph closing the show. This week the cinematograph and Charlie Banks remain over, and the following new faces appear: Gertie Cochran, the memory wonder; Byron G. Harlan and Edward Marsh, Burtine's Dog Circus, the Grahams, Adaline Marden, Mlle. La Verne, the Whalleys, Peters and Walters, and Fred Darling.

COLUMBIA.—Remenyi, assisted by Louis M. Brebant and William Sawlet, gave a well attended concert Sunday evening, 17.

THE NATIONAL.—The Banda Rossa, under the leadership of Maestro Eugenio Sorrentino and assisted by Fraulen Margarita Von Valsel and Carlotta Steuben rauch, gives its first concert at a matinee 29.

THE AMERICAN BIOGRAPHE commenced its second season at Willard Hall last week with an entire new list of pictures and attracted large audiences at each of its two daily exhibitions all the week. The views are even better than those presented last season, and the great popularity achieved then will undoubtedly be augmented this season.

NOTES.—Edgar Disney, formerly treasurer of the Grand Opera House, has accepted the position of assistant treasurer of Fitou's Grand Opera House in New York.....Charlie Shaw, also of this city, is the treasurer of that house.....George Barnes, of this city, has signed with one of Gus Hill's companies.

MICHIGAN.

Detroit.—The new Empire, with its retouched and handsome interior, presents a very pleasing appearance to the eye, and much comfort is found in the arrangement of seats. Dr. Campbell has secured large building space in the rear, which is to be used as an annex for storing and handling large scenery and theatrical equipment, thus securing better and larger stage accommodations. At this house "Shore Acres" will fill in the entire week. Robert Mantell and a strong cast, presented his latest play, "A Secret Warrant," to very fair business Oct. 11-13. Henry Miller, in "Heartsease," followed, finishing the week. The engagement was an artistic and financial success. Coming: Stuart Robson 18-20, "The Widow Jones" 28-30.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—This week, "In Atlantic City." Last week "Shannon of the Sixth" was a winner. Next week, "The Electrician."

WHITNEY'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—This week, "The Heart of Chicago." Last week the Wilbur Opera Co. gave opera, vaudeville, minstrel and tableaux in a manner that quickly put them in high favor and seats were in demand to the capacity of the house at every performance. Next week, Harry Williams' Own Specialty Co.

CAPITOL SQUARE THEATRE.—This week, Sam T. Jack's "Tenderloin" Co. Last week "The White Elephant," despite the warm wave, drew large business. Next week, Helen Russell's Big Burlesque Show, followed by Flynn & Sheridan's Big Sensation.

WONDERLAND THEATRE AND MUSEE.—Curio hall: Harsdorfer's miniature engines, the Williams Trio, and Grace Courtlandt. Bijou theatre: Deave's marionettes. Theatre proper: Reno and Richards, acrobats; Lillie Western, musical performer; Eddie Moore, comedian and dancer and Burton's Dog Circus.

Kalamazoo.—At the Grand Opera House Godfroy's Comedians op

OUR AUSTRALIAN LETTER.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

MELBOURNE, Sept. 10, 1897.

VICTORIA.—At the Princess the Paulton-Stanley Comedy Co. began their second season last Saturday night with "Two Much Johnson." The piece was a failure and is to be replaced tomorrow night by "Niobe."

Frank Thornton continues his run of luck. After scoring heavily with "The Private Secretary" and "Charley's Aunt" at the Bijou he is again taking in a lot of money with Pigott's play, "The Bookmaker." L. I. Lohr, his manager, cleverly hit on the night after a big race meeting, and this pretty little theatre was crowded with sporting folks. Thornton announces that he will reproduce "The Private Secretary" and "Charley's Aunt" to close the season with. Harriet Ireland has joined the company.

George Rignold, after playing "The Lights o' London" to good business, has put on "In the Ranks," the military business in which has attracted large houses.

W. I. Winson, the whistling ventriloquist, has rejoined Harry Rickards' Variety Company at the Opera House. He brought a lot of new business with him from England. The cinematographe Diamond Jubilee pictures, the three Avoios, Tom Wotwell, Emily Lyndall, Messrs. Onslow Mackay, Charles Pope and Irving Sayles the colored comedians, contribute to a bill that draws full houses nightly. Harry Rickards has presented I. C. Leye with a pair of costly diamond sleeve links. Alan Hamilton, advance agent for the Brough Comedy Company is in Melbourne, en route for India.

Wilson Forbes and Erskine Scott have opened the Alexandra for a season of melo drama. "The Terrors of the City of Paris," their initial piece is a piracy of "The Terrors of Paris" of which W. I. Holloway holds the Colonial rights. George Mageroni, Gus Glover, Rose Conroy and Ada Lawrence are in the company.

Sophie Osmond, a Melbourne literary lady, has written a comedietta entitled "The Chaperone." This was produced for the first time at a matinee last week at the Austral Salon It is bright, witty and up to date. It will be played at one of our theatres shortly.

Arrangements are being completed by the Board of Trinity College, London, for the holding in Melbourne the examinstion for the diploma of associate in music. The subjects are harmony, counterpoint, musical history, choir training, acoustics and physiology. Hitherto these examinations have been held in London only.

The news comes from London that Harry Gribbin, the Melbourne actor, has been divorced from his wife nee Clitheroe. The jury gave plaintiff £250 damages. Gribbin was well known here as a member of both Gaiety companies.

Professor Marshall Hall, principal of the Melbourne Conservatory of Music, is slowly recovering from his recent severe attack of diphtheria.

The "Firm" reports that over 122,000 people witnessed "The Sign of the Cross" during its Melbourne season.

Next Tuesday Charlie Cogill starts on a provincial tour with a variety company, including the Lucifers. The latter performers are well and desire to be remembered to American friends.

Greek George has been performing feats of strength and having rocks broken on his head at the Victoria Hall. The whole thing was the coldest oi frosts.

Jim, Bill and Ada Delroy are at Ballarat, the Lumiere cinematographe is their great draw.

NEW SOUTH WALES.—At Her Majesty's, Sydney, after a paying run, The Gay Parisienne" has made way for "The French Maid," in which John Coleman and Shand have made hits. Ada Willoughby also "fairly brought down the house." Juliet Wray Peachey, George de Lara and Howard Vernon are also in the cast.

Maggie Moore continues to do poor business at the Royal, though the "Trilby" burlesque did better than the American pieces she brought with her after her recent trip. Tomorrow night she will revive "Struck Oil," with herself as Lizzie and Harry Roberts as John Stopel. At the conclusion of the season the company goes to Melbourne. They will be succeeded by George Rignold. Harry Rickard's variety company at the Tivoli is still a strong one. The new importations are Frank Leon, champion clog dancer, and Nellie Sheldon, a serio comique. The Selborns, Athos and Collins, Bellman and Moore and the Allisons are still in the company.

At Rickards' other Sydney venture, the pretty little Palace Theatre, the Biograph Vaudeville Company had a packed house on Saturday, and have played to good business during the week. Fanny Wentworth has caught on with her musical monologue. Prof. Charles Morritt is a clever conjurer. Fanny Liddiard is also in the company. Lillian Tree makes her first appearance tomorrow night.

The Flying Jordans are reorganizing for a tour of New Zealand. Darcy Stanfield and his wife will be engaged for variety business

The Cunards and Olifans have joined forces. They leave on Monday, play Honolulu, and open in San Francisco at Christmas. Then they work East, and finally cross over to England.

Tomorrow night Harry Rickards opens in Albany with a company, including himself, the Allisons, the Gourlays, the Stansfields, Allan and Hart, Harry Shine, Hugh Emmett, Madge Rickards and Noni Rickards. They play three nights.

Still another Rickards company is being organized for a season in Brisbane, which will be opened with "A Bunch of Keys." It will be composed of Addie Conyers, George Lauri, Marietta Nash, Bellman and Moore, and Willie Freear. "Dreams" will follow.

Charlie Holloway, Alice Deorwyn, I P. O'Neil and Maud Williamson are resting in Sydney after their Queensland season. Grattan Riggs is now leading the company in a provincial tour.

The Alfred Dampier Dramatic Company is playing at the Sydney Lyceum under engagement to Charlie McMahon. A seven weeks' season opened last Saturday night, with "Robbery Under Arms," to good business.

The Emma Waganheim Princess Opera Company is touring the provinces. At latest dates they were at Bourke. Their repertory includes "Les Cloches de Corneville," "The Bohemian Girl," "La Fille de Madame Angot," "Maritana" and "Boccaccio."

The Kate Howard Company's tour will include Wyalong, Albany and Temora.

QUEENSLAND.—At the Brisbane Gaiety last Saturday night the 81d. Deane Comic Opera Co. opened a season with "Maritana." The company comprises Nellie Lambert, Bessie Morgan, May Glendenning, Edward Farley, Jules Simonsen and Sidney Deane.

Prof. Bristol's Equescurriculum, at the Royal, in only doing moderate business. Prof. Tom Kennedy is still managing the show.

Bland Holt finished up a highly successful season last week with "The Cotton King" and "Straight from the Heart." Elizabeth Watson and Miss Ross are resting a few days in Sydney, and Mr. and Mrs. Holt, Baker and other members of the company in Melbourne, prior to going over to New Zealand.

The Hudson Surprise Party gave Tom Hudson a benefit at the close of the Royal season. There was a large house. The company has gone to Adelaide, South Australia.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.—At the Adelaide Royal "Too Much Johnson," by the Paulton-Stanley Company, which did poor business, was followed by "The Sign of the Cross," by the "Firm's" English company. This did big business.

Dan Barry closed his season at the Bijou with "The Factory Girl, of Melbourne." He is now touring the South Australian provinces.

John W. Sweeney, formerly comedian with George Rignold, has joined the "Firm's" company and will play in "The Two Vagabonds" when produced in Adelaide.

WEST AUSTRALIA.—The Henry Bracy Comic Opera Company opened with "The Beggar Student" at the Royal, Perth, to a crowded house. They followed this up with "The Sultan of Mocha" which also caught the people. "Nemesis" and "The Bohemian Girl" were to follow.

Fitzgerald Brothers' New Circus and Menagerie will open at Albany, then tour the whole of Australia from Perth to Cookstown, and through Tasmania and New Zealand.

George Darrell is resting awhile in Perth after a dramatic season in which he made a lot of money. He goes to the Royal again after the Bracy season.

Charles Harper, of the Cremorne, has engaged Alice Leamar, Rae Cowan, Miss Thorn, Miss Dell, Johnny Cowan and Will Wallace. Carl Herts has been doing big business at this theatre.

The Granville Variety Company is at the Bijou, Fremantle, New Zealand.

The Robert Inman Dramatic Company opened at Auckland Sept. 2, in "A Yorkshire Lass." The company consists of Robert Inman, Overton, Hodson, Alves, Leonard, Carroll, Leighton, Belcher and Lorrell, and the Misses Maud Appleton, Alice May, Gertrude Esdalle and May Granville.

The Brough Comedy Company did a big farewell business at Wellington. They commence a twelve nights' season at Auckland on Sept 13; then go on to Sydney, whence they sail for India on Oct. 2.

The St. John-Hayman Dramatic Company is in the South Island.

The Gladys Leigh Company opens on Sept. 13, at the Auckland City Hall, in "The Lady Slavey." Included in the company are Miss Leigh, Louise Aylett, Hettie Howard, Nell Lyre, and Messrs. Sherborne, Collins, Fort and Vince. W. T.

VIRGINIA.

Richmond.—"A Puritan Romance," with Misses Evessen and Clayton in the cast, was seen locally for the first time at the Academy of Music Oct. 11, by a fair audience who received the play with every mark of approval. Skillman, magician, was booked for 12, 13, but his work was unsatisfactory, and manager Leath canceled after the first performance. "Secret Service" 14, 15, at advanced prices, was not the financial success its artistic merits deserved. Scalchi comes 19, "The Captain of the Nonsuch" 20-23, Walker Whiteside 25, 26, Primrose & West's Minstrels 27. Society folk will produce "Martha" and "La Sonnambula" 28-30, under the direction of Campobello. The operas have been in rehearsal for several months and meritorious productions are promised.

ROAD STREET ELECTRIC PARK.—The management has decided to prolong the season at this resort another week, and the following people will furnish amusement: The Orvilles, Chas. A. Clayton, Jeannette Barrington, Clayton and Smith, and Ward and Dempsey.

PUTNAM'S THEATRE COMIQUE.—Opening 18 and week: Fiske Sisters, Cecil Herson and Geo. Spedden. Business fair.

NORRIS BROS.' DOG AND PONY SHOW did an enormous business last week

BUFFALO BILL'S WILD WEST played to the capacity at both performances 16. The show closed its season here and paid off all employes, who immediately departed for their various homes.

UTAH.

Salt Lake City.—At the New Grand "Claire and the Forgemaster" had light business week of Oct. 11.

LYCEUM.—Howatt's Minstrels came 14-16.

AT THE close of the performance 12 Manager H. F. McGarvie, of the New Grand Theatre, called the company together on the stage and in a few words gave the members the customary two weeks' notice announcing the closing of the house at that time.

To Correspondents.

BRO. GALBREATH.—Grateful thanks for long, kind letter and welcome contribution. On return from a little outing, will do our best to hunt up the items you desire

WM. SCHAFER.—While regretting the decision, we fully appreciate the reasons leading to it. We hope to welcome your speedy return, for your frequent and genial letters will be greatly missed.

WM. M. DE VISSER.—Didn't we warn you that something was going to fall your way?

F. R. GITTINS.—Perhaps you did not intend that passage for publication; but, surely, you will excuse it, since its use comes in so pat with other similar sentiments.

WILL H. LYONS.—You will be as much surprised at as we regret the cause for the revelation of our last letter.

CHESS ED. Orillia Packet.—If the little package reaches you and is agreeable, we shall have more to offer.

MRS. F. F ROWLAND.—Thank you for the ample package just to hand.

TO DR POLLOCK'S FRIENDS.—We have received a few copies of the full announcement of "POLLOCK MEMORIES," which we will gladly send to any interested in this loving service, as far as they will go.

MANY INQUIRERS.—Rarely does a chess editor have a change to group more than twenty replies in one article. We embrace the opportunity with proportionate pleasure. American amateurs can now get Mr Mason's works without going out of the country; the same in regard to Chess Bouquet. Also, though a smaller matter, fine blank diagrams; also, Miron's "Brevity and Brilliancy"—but whoever secures this will have to be spry about it. Also, over 1,000 things more from oldest to newest, of Will H Lyons, Newport, Ky. Send 10 cents for "Catalogue No. 7," and have a vast fund of Chessan bibliography before you. Truly, America may now toast of having the most complete chess emporium in the world.

Solutions.

Of Enigma No. 2,125.—1..Q to Kt 8!, P to Q 4; 2..K to Q 2, etc.: if 1..K to B file; 2..R × P, etc: and 1..Any other; 2..Q × P, etc. Good!

Problem 2,125.—1..P bec. Kt, etc. The author suggests whether this might not better be considered a little puzzle.

OF ENIGMA 2,126, PART I.

1..Q to K 7	B, or K, any		5..K × P		B to R 2
2..Q–her R 3	K, or B, any		6..K–Q 4		B–Kt sq
3..K × P	B–R 2		7..Q–R 5 +		K × Q
4..K × P	B–Kt sq		8..K–B 5		B mates.

An elegant suimate, truly.

OF SAME, PART II.

1..B to R sq!	P moves	6..Kt to K 7	K to his 6
2..Q–her 6	P moves	7..Kt–his 6(*)	K–his 5
3..Kt–his 4 +	K–his 5	8..Q–her 7	K–his 6
4..Kt–R 6	K–his 6	9..Q–her 5	Compelling
5..Kt–his 8	K–his 5	9..P–B 7, checkmate.

(*) This career of the Kt is an ad captandum performance. Will our sui experts go a "gimlet eye" on the above to see if they can find any other solution, or any flaw? If not, it's a high class masterpiece.

As to Problem 2,126, the author gives the following good natured account in Chess Bouquet, p 234: "The frontispiece in this book was originally published as a challenger in The British Ch. Mag. Although the original position admitted of two methods of solution, nobody solved it until a further month's time was accorded for that purpose. Then W. A. Shinkman published a version with a different line of play, and through finding a flaw in Mr. Shinkman's conception, I was led to elaborate the one which the compiler of The Bouquet considers worthy of the very prominent position it now holds. But the strangest part of all is that this supposedly grand problem has recently been cooked by Mr. Shinkman in six moves, notwithstanding that it had stood the test of the eagle eyes of the best solvers in England."

The intended solution runs thus:

1..Kt to Q 6	P to B 4(1)		5..Q to Kt 3 +		R inter.
2..Kt–K 4	P × Kt(2)		6..B × P +		K–B 6
3..Kt–B 6	P × Kt		7..Q–home +,		compelling
4..K–R sq	P–B 4		7..R × Q,		checkmate.
		(2)
2..	If P to B 5		5..K to R sq		P to B 4
3..Kt to B 2	P–B 6		6..Q–her 3 +		R × Q
4..Kt–B 6	P × Kt		7..R–Q sq +		R ×, mate.
		(1)
1..	If P × P, or P to B3		5..Kt to B 4 +		K to B 6
2..Q to K B sq.	P–Kt 4		6..B–R 5 +		K–Kt 6
3..R × P +	K–Q 7		7..Q–home +,		compelling
4..R–Q 3 +	R × R		7..R × Q,		mate.

. Now, who will join Mr. Shinkman in unfolding a six move mate? We have many times been asked the meaning of the term "suimate." The inquirer who will go studiously through this batch of solutions will know all about it.

(?) "To prevent P to Q 4, followed by P to K B 4, which would greatly relieve Black's game."—E. KENNEY.

(?) There is clearly some miscalculation here; he not only loses a P, but gets a hopeless game. Nevertheless, White's finish is interesting. Bro. K suggests P to Q 4, followed by P to K B 4, as a lesser evil.

Intermittent Repulsion to Chess.

It may probably be true that all men intensely devoted to some specialty have times when they feel wearied by their application, and are justly ready to declare that they will abandon so wearing and monotonous a pursuit. At any rate, such a phase of pausing in one's progress is true in chess, perhaps especially so in the problem department We cite only three special examples, adding that we have encountered more than a dozen such cases.

Firstly, as the latest. That pre-eminent grand master in all forms of problem work, F. R. Gittins, writes us, inter alia: "The arduous labors in connection with the preparation of solutions and correction of proofs of Bouquet problems, left me very weak, and I am but slowly regaining speed Curiously enough, for many months, whilst collecting the matter for the work and knocking up the biographical sketches, I fairly loathed the sight of a problem! However, when the proofs began to come down pretty regularly, the old love for problems returned, and it gave me much pleasure to note the gradual realization of a long cherished idea."

"Mr. Blackburne, who has been playing the 'King of Games' over thirty years, and since 1856 has played in every international chess tournament at home and abroad," has had several like experiences—attacks they might be called. "Devoted as he is to the game, there are times when the sight of a chess board is hateful to him, and he does not play for weeks together."

Among the many instances within our own observation, Theo. M. Brown may be cited as one of the most conspicuous. Time and again he wrote us, in effect—I am tired of problems; I have made enough to be criticised, carped at and demolished. This, my last effort, is of course sent to THE CLIPPER and dedicated to Miron When these spasms came upon him, we always laughed him back to courage and good nature, telling him we had diagnosed such attacks with all the certainty of a trained specialist, and our prescription—take a few months' rest, and sleep over it—never failed to produce convalescence, and work a gratifying cure.

Mrs. Berry Complimented.

We have the agreeable information, via Irish Times, that an interesting presentation was recently made to Mrs. Berry. It consisted of an album with the English, Irish and foreign press accounts of the recent Ladies' Chess Congress, in which Mrs. B. distinguished herself. The first page contains the photographic group of the contestants by Bradshaw. Facing this is the following inscription:

"TO MRS. F. STERLING BERRY.

"We, the undersigned lady chess players of the County Dublin, beg to express our admiration for the spirit you displayed in attending the first Ladies' International Congress, held in the City of London, June 28–July 3, 1897, as representative of Ireland.

"We hope you will accept this small token of our esteem and affection, with the expression of our appreciation of your skill and steadiness of play during a trying tourney contest, and with our congratulations on your winning the sixth prize ex æquo with Lady Thomas, the lady champion of Hastings, 1895."

This was signed by Mary Rudge, Mrs. Frideswide F Rowland, and twenty others. The principal games of the tourney concluded the interesting contents of the album. In the "group," Mrs. Berry is on the extreme right (as you look at the picture) of the second row from the back, close to the right of and above Signora Fagan, wearing what appears to be a white badge on the left revers of her jacket.

Continental Correspondence Tourney.

We are indebted to The A C. M. for a complete report of the relative standing of the twenty contestants, the four leaders in each of the five original sections, in the final round of this the most comprehensive and successful chess scheme ever set on foot on this continent We give the round dozen who on Sept. 11, ult., had achieved at least fifty per ct. of victories:

Rank.	Players.	Won.	Lost.	Dr.	Per Ct.
1.	C. W. Phillips, Chicago	8	1	1	.85
2.	M. Morgan, Phila	11	3	3	.74
3.	C. F. Huch, Phila	5	1	5	.68
3.	F. Smyth, Phila	6	2	3	.68
5.	W. P. Shipley, Phila	3	1	3	.64
6.	G. A. L'hommede, Chicago	7	4	1	.63
7.	N. A. Voss, Kansas	2	1	2	.60
8.	J. E. Narraway, Canada	5	3	4	.58
9.	J. W. de Arman, Pa	4	3	3	.55

11.	J. A. Kaiser, Phila	6	5	4	.53
12.	W. J. Ferris, Delaware	5	5	0	.50

Then comes a sudden drop to 35 per ct. by that marvel in chess the celebrated blind boy of Phila., Oscar Bilgram. This is the last act in a drama of three and a half years' duration

News of the Game.

Lawrence Gilbertson, editor of The West Lothian Courier, Bathgate, Scotland, an ardent lover of the game, recently paid a short visit to the Messrs. Kear, at Bristol, Eng., who have a large collection of draughts literature, especially that relating to Drummond, Anderson, Wyllie and other old timers. Here are some of the things we note: Andrew Anderson, in 1846, called the opening formed by 11 to 15, 24 to 19, "Ayreshire Lassie." Now, of course, it is Second Double Corner..... "Draws were things to be avoided; wins were what everybody looked for, and the draw, instead of forming the trunk, as it would be now a days, comes last."..... "John Drummond coached Anderson previous to his last match with Wyllie Andy Drysdale did the same for Wyllie."..... "J. Seton was one of the stars at this time (1846)."..... "Anderson says to Drummond: 'John, keep this game to yourself, as I consider it worth the keeping. I never play my best when I play with inferior players, as it is so readily picked up, and then it becomes useless.'"..... "It is to be hoped that the Messrs. Kear will at some future time give the draught players the benefit of these interesting reminiscences."..... The last we heartily endorse.—ED. ED. ..... C. C. Van Loon, of Jersey City, says that Mr. Kearns needn't go hungry for a match, as he will play him games at any time, with a money stake on each game, if Mr. K. thinks that there are good things in Jersey he is welcome to them any time he is able to capture them..... G. D. Sherrow, the checker editor of The Pittsburg Life, says that he intends resuming cross board practice this Winter. Sherrow, like some other experts, practically drops out of checker life for a year or two, but he cannot stay out long. He has that old familiar longing for his neglected love We know, for we have had that same experience. The good old game never goes back on us. We tire of it sometimes for months, but whenever we care to resume active play, it affords us fresh pleasures, new beauties, and a deep seated satisfaction that we can get from no other game. We then regret the straying of our regards for it. The one great peculiarity about the game of checkers is, that a tyro can derive as much pleasure from the game as the expert. Let us all join in wishing success to the grand old game ..... The Pittsburg Dispatch says that the proposed match between Kearns and Clouser should be about an even thing. It is but proper to say that Mr. Kearns says that he is ever ready to meet Mr. Clouser for a set sum on each game.

The Turf.

Aqueduct at an End.

The last day but one of the Fall meeting of the Queens County Jockey Club, at its Aqueduct, L. I., track was marked by a goodly crowd of race enthusiasts and excellent all 'round racing. The weather was fine for the sport, the track in good condition and spirited finishes rounded out a satisfactory afternoon's sport for all in attendance. Summary:

QUERIES ANSWERED.

NO REPLIES BY MAIL OR TELEGRAPH.

ADDRESSES OR WHEREABOUTS NOT GIVEN. ALL IN QUEST OF SUCH SHOULD WRITE TO THOSE WHOM THEY SEEK, IN CARE OF THE CLIPPER POST OFFICE. ALL LETTERS WILL BE ADVERTISED ONE WEEK ONLY. IF THE ROUTE OF ANY THEATRICAL COMPANY IS SOUGHT, REFER TO OUR LIST OF ROUTES ON ANOTHER PAGE. WE CANNOT SEND ROUTES BY MAIL OR TELEGRAPH.

THEATRICAL.

C. M., Buffalo.—1. Address letter in our care. 2. Advertise in THE CLIPPER. See rates at head of this column.

F. K. D., Harrisonville.—Consult any fire insurance broker.

J. H, Brockton.—1. Sixteen years of age. 2 It is likely he would not be hindered. 3, 4. The act would not be in demand, as it is not strong enough. It would be worth nothing as it is.

O. R, Buffalo —We know of no one doing such an act.

C. L.—Address the parties in care of THE CLIPPER.

W. J S —The title of James J. Corbett's first play was "Gentleman Jack."

J. D. D., Belington.—Address C. S. Lawrence, 88 and 90 Centre Street, New York City.

P. Z., St. Louis.—Address letter in care of THE CLIPPER.

G. W. C., Harrisburg.—Watch our route list.

READER, Cincinnati.—1. Baraboo, Wis. 2. Peru, Ind. 3. Geneva, O. 4. Chicago, Ill. 5. The sooner the better. 6. They will inform you.

G. W. M., Wilmington.—Address Edward Bloom, in care of THE CLIPPER

S. A. W.—We have no accurate knowledge of amount of salary paid to any performer. The figures you mention, however, are absurdly high.

C. G. B., Sacramento.—The play was written by E O. Towne and is owned by him. He can be addressed in care of THE CLIPPER.

B C., Altoona.—"The Power of the Press" had its first production on any stage at the Star Theatre, this city, on March 16, 1891.

O. B. K., Santa Monica —The party is entirely unknown to us.

J. F. M., Brooklyn.—We know of no company at present bearing that title. Address letter to the party in our care and we will advertise it.

MRS R. C., Trenton.—Address letter in care of The Stage, 16 York Street, Covent Garden, London, W. C., Eng.

O. U.—Advertise in THE CLIPPER; see rates at head of this column.

H. L. B., Newcomerstown.—We have no record that either he or his family ever had anything to do with the play.

M. B, Newark.—1. Nearly four years ago. 2. No. 3. Tim Murphy is starring in "Old Innocence."

G S, St. Paul.—The whereabouts of the party is unknown to us. Address letter in our care and we will advertise it.

READER, Cripple Creek.—1. Write to the various managers. 2. They are sold for a lump sum.

P G. JR, Westfield.—Address Frank C. Bostock, in care of THE CLIPPER.

A. B, Quebec.—We do not deal in photographs, nor do we know the party of whom you write.

J. H., Cincinnati.—Address letter in care of THE CLIPPER.

M. E. A, Chicago —Address the party in our care.

E. P.—We can furnish no information concerning the party.

F. E. L., Bradford.—The company is not known to us.

STEADY READER, Albany.—The act seems to be sufficiently strong. There is a fair demand, but as a beginner you would probably not receive more than twenty-five dollars per week.

J. B., Philadelphia.—We never in answer to queries furnish information concerning the age of any one.

A. L. D, Alton.—See Roberts' "Faust" Co. in route list in this issue.

CLIPPER CLUB, Philadelphia.—We regret that we cannot comply with your request. You can doubtless purchase a photograph of the party.

L L, Indianapolis.—Address letter in care of THE CLIPPER.

G. W., Jersey City.—The party is not working at present.

L. R. G., Peekskill.—The plays you name are all copyrighted, and cannot rightfully be played without permission or payment of royalties.

G. ST. L., Ottawa.—1. The feat is novel. 2. An act can neither be copyrighted nor patented. 3 The "ad" would cost ten dollars.

W. C.—We have no record of any appearance of the party in this country.

BASEBALL, CRICKET, ETC.

S. E. J., Brooklyn.—The two quickest played games on record each took forty-seven minutes to complete the nine innings, the Dayton and Ironton teams first accomplishing this feat Sept. 19, 1884, at Dayton, O., and the Oakland and San Francisco teams being credited with doing it Nov. 9, 1893, at San Francisco, Cal.

F. P. G., Syracuse —The run does not count, the third man having been put out before reaching first base.

F. A. N., Springfield.—The Providence and Detroit teams, of the National League, played an eighteen inning game on Aug. 17, 1882, at Providence, R. I., the former winning by 1 to 0. Ward pitched for the victors and Weidman for the losers.

E. E. B., Atkison.—You lose. The Bostons won the pennant for 1877, 1878, 1883, 1891, 1892, 1893 and 1897.

CARDS.

A. B. C., Toronto.—When a player at poker opens a pot and is not called, he is not required to show more than openers.

J. C. M., New York.—Any straight flush is what some players choose to call a "royal" flush, it not being necessary that court cards should be included in the hand.

POUGHKEEPSIE —No; the only player who can play alone at euchre is that one who assumes the responsibility of the trump, by either taking it up, ordering it up or making it.

A. L. S., New York.—The hand you quote is a "royal" flush. See answer to "J. C. M."

K K., Portsmouth.—The player having looked at his hand before announcing that he had too many cards, is out of the game for that hand.

L. B. H., Avoca.—Yes, the game being governed by the same laws as seven up.

G. AND W., Roanoke.—The last card played, six, in 4, 4, 4, 6, 5, 6, does not entitle B to a run.

RING.

P. F. N, New York.—Joe Coburn and Jim Mace were to have fought at Pierstown, Ireland, on Oct. 4, 1864, but Mace failed to appear in the ring at the time appointed. They did meet in a ring near Port Dover, Canada, on May 11, 1871, and boxed for an hour and seventeen minutes without striking a blow, when the military arpeared and dispersed the party. They met again on Nov. 30 of the same year at Bay St. Louis, Miss., on a very rainy day, and fought twelve rounds in 3h 38m., the referee, Rufus Hunt, declaring it a draw.

BROWNIE, Niles.—Sullivan was not knocked unconscious in the twenty-first and last round of his glove fight with James J. Corbett, at New Orleans, La., although he was so exhausted as to be unable to continue the fight.

M. McD., Poughkeepsie.—Solly Smith defeated George Dixon, the colored boxer, at San Francisco, Cal., on the night of Oct. 4, the fight lasting twenty rounds.

TURF.

W. E. B., Washington.—The highest jump on record made by a horse was 7ft. 3¼in., made by Filemaker, ridden by Madame Marantette, over bars, at Chicago, Ill., in November, 1891.

MATT, Detroit.—Goldsmith Maid's best record for trotting one mile is 2:14.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. L., Springfield —B loses the wager, as McKinley did carry Kentucky at the last Presidential election.

E. R O., Superior.—It will be necessary for you to forward affidavits signed by regularly appointed officials in order to secure a place among the records for the performance claimed in your communication.

J. AND D., Washington.—We refer you to page 117 of THE CLIPPER ANNUAL for 1897 for full information regarding the matter.

DE F. W., Morison.—They are returnable by the trade.

E. W., Washington.—Address Banks & Bro., 30 Murray Street, New York.

MRS. E. W., City.—Address them care of this office and we will advertise the letter in our post office list.

Baseball.

MAJOR LEAGUE AVERAGES.

Keeler, of Baltimore, Heads the List with a Batting Percentage of .432.

N. E. Young, president of the National League and American Association, has issued the official batting averages of the players of that organization for the season just ended. The names of those taking part in fifteen or more championship games are given. Keeler, of Baltimore, leads the list, with a batting percentage of .432. McCreery, of New York, leads in sacrifice hits, and Lange, of Chicago, leads in stolen bases. The records are as follows:

If the Temple Cup is returned to its owner, as is now generally believed it will be, when the major league clubs convene next month, it is stated that President Soden, of the Boston Club, will offer a resolution to the effect that the major league raise a cash fund of $12,000, to be divided among the first three teams. He thinks that $6,000 to the winners of the pennant, $4,000 to the second team, and $2,000 to the third team, should be of sufficient inducement to make the teams hustle even harder than to get into the Temple Cup series.

De Montreville played in every one of the games of the Washington Club this year, one hundred and thirty-four in all. He has not missed a game in two seasons.

PLAYING SEASON ENDED.

Magnates Will Take an Inning—Minor League Wail—The Temp e Cup.

The players have been the chief actors in the baseball drama during the past six months, and have scored many successes, while a few frosts have been interspersed. They have held the public's attention, with varied results. Sometimes they have been heroes, then, again—well, they were almost anything a venomous tongue could call them; but that is past now, and, as they have had their innings, they can well afford to step aside until the time comes for beginning another campaign. In the meantime the magnates will assume the leading role, but whether their presentation will be comedy or drama will be decided at some future date. The chances are, however, that a humorous vein will characterize their work. The first move of any importance will be the annual Fall meeting, which will be held next month, and right here is where more or less comedy will be enacted. The magnates are all pretty good talkers, but poor listeners. Each likes to express his views on all matters pertaining to baseball, and some of them have curious ideas on the subject, which do not possess the charm of novelty. There is much good that can be done for the national game at this meeting, if the magnates would only work for its interest, but it is a well known fact that among the delegates will be men with knives up their sleeves, who always attend the meetings for the sole purpose of getting the best of everything. There is plenty of good work for the magnates to do, but they should not throw away their opportunities for improving the game through any narrow minded or bigoted ideas. The rules as a whole are all right, but let them come to an understanding that they must be enforced, and then live up to their agreement. There appears to be too much of the feeling among certain managers that "we make the rules and we can break them," which is proving such a detriment to the game. One of the magnates once expressed the opinion that "we do not want a Sunday school made out of baseball," and the many instances of rowdyism seen on the ball field during the past season leads one to believe that the players are possessed of that idea. It seems almost incredible that any baseball manager should believe in such tenets. Yet the fact has been fully demonstrated time and again during the past season, when managers have sat on the bench among their players and allowed the latter to use the most indecent and insulting language, not only to the umpire but to the people who support the game. Where would those players and their managers be if the public was to withdraw its support from the game? There was one instance which happened at the Polo Grounds, this city, during the latter part of the season just ended, that the magnates should take some action on, and by reprimanding the offender in such a way that he or no one else would ever repeat. During the last series between the New York and Washington teams, Selbach, of the latter, took offence at something said to him by persons sitting in the left field open seats, ran up among them and threatened to punch the head of one of them. It is hardly likely, however, that anything will be done in the matter, because Washton belongs to the "little seven."

Speaking about the "little seven" brings to light one of the humorous sides of the magnates' bill. The gentlemen comprising that little band of Spartans never lose an opportunity of telling about the "probabilities of another war being precipitated." Just why they should continually be harping about a subject which would be more disastrous to them than any one else is a question they would certainly be puzzled to answer. It reminds one forcibly of the fable of the frog's warning to the ox. The baseball loving people have been educated up to the point of distinguishing with unerring eye the difference between genuine and bluffing remarks, and that is one reason why they laugh whenever they hear the idle talk about war. How under the sun are they going to carry on a war when the majority of them have a hard enough time of it raising money to meet their expenses during the Summer season? One of the very strongest clubs, or supposed to be, of the "little seven" tried to raise $20,000 for erecting fences and stands on a new ground, the sum to be refunded in ten years at the rate of ten per cent. annually, with interest, but could not do so; yet they talk about war. If the vein of humor is not a predominating feature in that specialty, then there is nothing funny in comedy. They know, or ought to know, that the public takes no interest in their petty squabbles, and the less they air their dirty linen through the press the better it will be for them. Harmony should be the predominating spirit among the magnates when they meet in the interest of the national game. They cannot be too careful of its welfare, and when everything is working smoothly prosperity is sure to follow.

The Western League magnates intend sending a committee to the major league's meeting next month to try and have a matter straightened out which they think is doing a great injustice to them. The rule they object to is the one which allows the major league to draft their players at a certain period during each year. The minor leaguers think that the rule should be changed so as to make it the same time, only every two years instead of one. They claim that the major league's demand for young players is greater than the supply, and that each year produces fewer young players than the preceding one. Something will have to be done to help the minor leagues out of their difficulty, or it will not be long before they will have to "put the shutters up" on account of business reverses. It is a fact that the great improvements that are constantly being made in the different cities are cutting off the opportunities once offered the young man for playing ball Of course the major league clubs feel that they must have material for strengthening their teams, and naturally look to the minor leagues, which are their training schools. At the same time the major league clubs should not carry so many extra players on their pay rolls. It is just as much to their interest that the minor leagues should exist as it is to the latter to be in existence. Therefore, the older body should do everything in its power to further the interests of the minor organizations. To illustrate what we mean, there is the Cleveland Club, which has five minor league players. When asked what he was going to do with them, Vice President Stanley Robison said: "What are we going to do with all of them? Try them out in the Spring, strengthen the Cleveland team wherever it needs it, and keep enough men on hand to patch up in case of accidents better than we were able to do the past season. We thought we had the old gap in right field effectually taken care of, and every position on the team well guarded, but look how it turned out. We had the field full of catchers and pitchers before the season was over, and there was a bigger hole than ever before in right field, with Harry Blake away. You can say this, that we have no players for sale, and will not have this Winter. When active work has commenced in the Spring the weeding out will begin, and some of the old men may go as well as those of the youngsters who do not come up to expectations. In fact, this is very likely, but we are going to strengthen the team, not weaken it, and the best men will stay, whether they are old men or new ones."

Word comes from Pittsburg that W. C. Temple, who presented the trophy to the major league, is dissatisfied with this year's contest in the Temple Cup series. He declares that he will attend the annual Fall meeting of the National League and American Association, to be held next month in Philadelphia, Pa., and request that the cup be returned to its owner. The actions of the Baltimore and Boston players in the recent series has caused him to take this action in the matter. They clearly demonstrated that they cared more for gate receipts than for the glory of winning the cup. "I will also ask," Mr. Temple says, "that the major league investigate the charges that the players of the two teams agreed to an equal division of the receipts, in face of the major league's explicit conditions—sixty per cent. to the winner and forty per cent. to the loser. These rumors have been very annoying to me, and if proven true I will ask that the offenders be blacklisted. The cup was offered to benefit the game generally, and to develop a fast series. This year's has not been such." It is said that President Soden, of the Boston Club, will offer a resolution to abolish the series. It is also stated that Managers Hanlon and Selee counted up and divided the gate receipts from the entire series, and that each player of the two teams got a trifle more than three hundred dollars as his share.

The people of Meridan, Ct., are so elated over the fact that Manager John C. Chapman gave them a champion ball team, that they have induced him to return to that city, and take charge of the polo team which is to represent Meriden in the recently organized polo league at New Haven. Mr. Chapman will try and repeat his recent performance, by giving them a champion polo team. He has well earned the appreciation of the citizens of Meriden, which city was admitted to the Connecticut State League last Spring. After that Manager Chapman began signing players, and it was only by the tallest kind of hustling that he got together a team. At the start the Meriden enthusiasts did not take much stock in his selections, and the genial manager was only able to dispose of nine season books. Not the least discouraged, however, Manager Chapman went to work, and by good discipline and excellent team work, soon had his nine leading in the race for the pennant. Then it was that the public realized that it was getting as good an article of ball playing as was ever seen in that vicinity, and from that time until the end of the season the games were patronized by the best citizens of the place, and at times the attendance was exceedingly large for a city of that size. This was certainly a tribute to Manager Chapman, and the hustling qualities he displayed in giving Meriden a pennant winner. At the end of the season Manager Chapman and his players were banquetted in commemoration of their successful work. The entertainment took place at one of the leading hotels of the city, which was sumptuously decorated, and all the leading tradesmen and manufacturers of the place were present.

PITCHERS' AVERAGES.

Interesting Statistics of the Games Won and Lost During the Past Season.

A complete list of the games won and lost by the major league pitchers is given below. Wright, of Chicago, who participated in only one game, leads, while Bresnahan, of Washington, is second and Rusie third. The latter, however, officiated in more games than both the other men put together. The record is as follows:

PRESENTING EDGAR SELDEN'S NOW FAMOUS FARCE,

"A HOT OLD TIME."

Most wonderful success in the history of the Duquesne Theatre. Turning Hundreds of Dollars away nightly. Playing against "The Whirl of the Town," "On the Bowery," Sousa's Band, Hopkins' Trans-Oceanics, Horse Shows, etc., etc., and positively eclipsing them ALL.

THE RAYS THE ONE TOPIC OF THE CITY.

Actually jamming the Duquesne until the Orchestra had to retire to the upper boxes and behind the curtain at every performance. One Thousand and Eighty-six People Packed in the Gallery! Chief of Police and Reserve Force Called Upon to Break the Blockade. Street Cars Unable to Run! THE RAY'S COMPANY A GRAND ONE. QUALITY—NOT QUANTITY.

Next Season Playing Nothing But Tents. Theatres Too Small! Regards to Barnum & Bailey.

EDGAR SELDEN, Manager, Low's Exchange, 1,121 Broadway, N. Y.

Averages of Visiting English Team.

The twelve English amateurs who recently made us a brief visit, played five games during their tour, two of which were won, one lost and two drawn. In these five games the visitors made a total of 1,817 runs for the loss of seventy nine wickets, while their opponents made a total of 1,601 runs for the loss of one hundred and nine wickets. The English eleven made their lowest and highest totals both in the game with a representative Philadelphia eleven, Sept. 24, 25, 27 at Philadelphia, Pa., they then scoring only 63 in the first inning, when J. B. King bowled nine wickets for 25 runs, and making 372 in the second inning, when J. R. Head, with 101 runs, and H. D. G. Leveson Gower, with 63 runs, put on 154 in partnership for the fifth wicket. Head, who had the best batting average of the team, and made the largest aggregate of runs, was also credited with cleverly compiled individual innings of 89 and 51, while Gower, who ranked second in the batting averages, also scored 85 in the concluding contest of the tour. P. F. Warner, who ably captained the eleven, ranked third in batting, scoring individual innings of 56 not out and 51. W. McG. Hemingway compiled individual innings of 61 and 56, and R. A. Bennett got scores of 63 and 54, while G. L. Jessop and H. B. Chinnery, in the concluding contest, compiled 66 and 63 respectively. F. G. Bull and G. L. Jessop did most of the bowling, and were credited with a majority of their opponents' wickets. Bull's best bit of bowling was in the second inning of the game at Baltimore, Md., Sept. 22, 23, when he took three wickets for 5 runs. Jessop proved most effective in the first inning of the contest against twenty-one colts, Sept. 17, 18, 20, at Philadelphia, he then taking eleven wickets for 52 runs. J. R. Head also led in the bowling averages, although he and H. B. Chinnery, who ranked third, only bowled comparatively few overs. F. G. Stocks, who was the most expensive bowler, was credited with capturing six wickets for 29 runs in the first inning of the game at Baltimore. Below will be found the individual batting and bowling averages of the English team:

CANADA.

Montreal.—Auguste Van Biene, surrounded by an able company, produced his new play, by Frank Harvey, "A Musician's Romance," to liberal patronage Oct 11-16. The piece affords ample scope for the display of Mr. Van Biene's talent. "Kismet" comes week of 18

QUEEN'S.—"Way Down East" proved a very pleasing diversion for week of 11, drawing good houses. Phoebe Davis, by her clever interpreration of the leading role, won very much applause Her support on the whole is good. A good week is assurred for the "A Secret Enemy" 18-23.

FRANCAIS.—The production by the stock of "Carmen" can be set down as a flattering success. Carmen was played by Florence Roberts in a very creditable way, while the rest of the company were good. Riggs and Crowley and the Electric Trio were the headliners of the vaudeville bill "Queena" week of 18.

ROYAL.—Rose Hill's English Folly Co. did a record week 11-16. S R O was the rule nightly. The quartet was the best feature of it. Bon Ton Burlesquers week of 18.

SOHMER PARK.—The Electric Trio headed the bill Sunday, 17. The attendance was, as usual, large.

NOTES.—Harrington Reynolds, leading man of the Francais Stock, was suddenly attacked with appendicitis Friday and had to be removed to the hospital, his place being filled by Thos McGrane in a very commendable way.....S Riggs, of the team of Riggs and Crowley, who made a hit at the Francais week of 11, has been renewing old acquaintances in town. He is an old Montrealer....There has been considerable talk of late about a new theatre to be built, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy, late of the Academy, but nothing has been definitely decided yet.

Toronto.—At the Grand Opera House, Oct. 11-16, "The Prisoner of Zenda" had good business. "The Geisha" comes 18, 19, Frank Daniels, in "The Idol's Eye," 20-23.

TORONTO OPERA HOUSE.—"Wang" came to good business. "Shannon of the Sixth" 18-23.

PRINCESS THEATRE.—The Cummings Stock Co., in "Idaho," did a large and fashionable business 11-16. The company has become very popular with the public and will no doubt meet with the highest success. Manager Sheppard has just closed a contract with the company until May 1.

BIJOU has reopened and is doing big business with Hope Booth, Holmes and Holmes, Rosarie, Iddetha, Las Voujeres and Alice Carmelo.

ASSOCIATION HALL.—Kneisel Quartet, assisted by Katharine Bloodgood, gave a good performance to large audience 7.

MASSEY MUSIC HALL.—Mlle. Antoinette Trebelli and company will come 15-18.

B. L. FAERDER, formerly leader of orchestra at Princess Theatre, now plays first violin in the Pittsburg Symphony Orchestra.

CARNEGIE MUSIC HALL is under the direction of L. F. Archer.

Quebec.—At the Casino, week ending Oct. 16, the following people played to the usual crowded houses: John Starr, May Bell, Bertina, Karl and Brand, Hornmann, Koppe, Annie Wilkes, the Three Bouffons, Senora Chulita, Harmand, Louis Verande and the kinetograph. This house is becoming a favorite resort. Two shows are given every Sunday, and the S. R. O. sign is displayed every night. Theo. Hamel has withdrawn from the management of the Casino company. Louis Verande, the French character singer, who has been meeting with great success since this theatre opened, has been given the management.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Prof. Carpenter, hypnotist, closed his engagement at this house Oct 14, to big business. Theo. Hamel, late manager of the Casino, has assumed the management of this house. In future it will be known as the Gaiety Theatre. The season opens Oct. 25.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Prof. Carpenter, hypnotist, comes 18-23. Trebelli Concert Co. 25, 26.

TARA HALL.—Prof. Alexander, elocutionist, had good houses for week ending 16.

QUEBEC SKATING RINK.—The veriscope, showing pictures of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons contest, comes 18-23.

Hamilton.—At the Grand Opera House "When London Sleeps" closed a three nights' successful engagement Oct. 16, to good business. Frank Daniels, in "The Idol's Eye," comes 19, to a good advance sale. "Wang" comes 20, "O'Hooligan's Silver Wedding" 22.

STAR THEATRE.—Last week, Louise Dempsey, in her stuttering song, made a big hit. For 18 and week, Bentley and Cameron, Delmore and Kennett, Senorita Rodriguez, Mabel Wright, Hayter and Hayter, and Louise Dempsey.

ASSOCIATION HALL.—Antoinette Trebelli and company come 19. Marshall P. Wilder and Harry Rich are due 21.

PALACE RINK.—The Libby Glass Blowers, under the management of Prof Nevard, opened a week's engagement 11. Owing to continued good business they have booked their stay for an indefinite period.

TOM KELLY AND A. L. SALVAIL are laying off in this city, and are making arrangements to take out a company through the principal cities and towns in Canada.

Guelph.—At the Royal Opera House, Oct. 14, Paul Cazeneuve, in "The Three Guardsmen," gave a splendid performance, to a small house. "The Geisha" had a very full house 15. Booked: The Bostonians 21, "Miss Francis of Yale" 27.

Berlin.—At the Opera House "The Geisha" played to large business Oct. 14. Booked: Paul Cazeneuve, in "The Three Guardsmen," 16; "Under the Dome" 29.

London.—At the Grand "When London Sleeps," Oct 11-13, had poor houses at every performance. "The Geisha" 16, gave two performances to good houses. Booked: Paul Cazeneuve 18, "Wang" 19.

TEXAS.

Dallas.—At the Opera House Punch Robertson, at popular prices, had a big week's business, opening Oct. 11. "The Devil's Auction" was billed for 13, but played Galveston just before yellow fever appeared there, so the company was quarantined out of North Texas. "My Friend from India" comes 18, for three nights. "Sowing the Wind" 21, 22.

CAMP STREET.—Harry Gilbert, Den Howe, Carleton Sisters, Williams and Craig, Edna Earle, Flo. Williams, Nellie Cook, Fred Gottlob, Maggie Walsh, Carleton and Sinclair, Josie Flynn and Barrett Bros. Business is good.

FOREPAUGH-SELLS BROS. have at last put up their dating paper, giving Oct 28 to Dallas. The fear of yellow fever has been holding this circus out of Texas, but a couple of frosts has cleared the way for them in this section.

Ft. Worth.—At Greenwall's Opera House Punch Robertson closed a week's engagement Oct. 9, to a big business. "Sowing the Wind" left a splendid impression upon one of the largest houses of the season 11. Al. G. Field's Big White Minstrels is the next attraction. The paper up but no date posted.

STANDARD.—Old people retained. New faces week of 18: Clifford and Grant, and Belle Morrison. Amy and La Van, aerialists, were the drawing cards last week Business continues good. Manager Frank De Beque and wife have returned from a visit to their ranch in the Indian Territory.

HOLLAND'S.—Last week's people hold over. Coming week of 18: Chas. Christie and Lizzie Mack. Baby Dot is attracting large crowds nightly. Business is good.

San Antonio.—At the Grand Opera House "Sowing the Wind" canceled Oct. 14, owing to the unfortunate state of affairs caused by the quarantine. "The Heart of Chicago" drew well 10, 11.

WASHINGTON THEATRE.—Opening 18: Birdie Fay, Trixie Riviere, Belle Sherwood, Alvin Dashington, the Miltons, the Martinez, Ainsel Sherwood and the Beverly Sisters Business continues good.

STANDARD THEATRE.—Nellie Wilson, Zola Vera, J. J. Bowen, Frank P. Baldwin, Neta Clinton, Josie Miles, Relyea and Gale Bros.

Galveston.—At the Grand Opera House, owing to a delay on the railroad, it was 10 o'clock before the curtain rose for the performance of "The Devil's Auction," Oct. 9. The upper part of the house was packed and the lower part well filled.

YELLOW FEVER is reported here, but a majority of the physicians say it is not yellow fever, but Dangue fever. Nevertheless our commercial interests have received a blow from which it will take some time to recover.

MONTANA.

Butte.—"A Trip to Chinatown" packed Maguire's Opera House Oct. 7-9. Coming: "Side Tracked" 14-16

UNION THEATRE.—The last week of the stock company at this house closes 16, with "Flirtation," with the following people in the cast: Frank Lindon, A. C Henderson, Daniel Edson, Chas. Edmonds, R. E. Graham, May Nannary, Lulu Sutton, Mable Sutherland and Mrs. Chas. Edmonds. Week of 18 the company takes the road on the Montana circuit, as it is Mr. Sutton's intention to play combinations at his house exclusively in the future. Among the attractions booked are: "South Before the War" week 18, Proctor's Pleasure Party two weeks, commencing 25. Mr. Sutton will maintain popular prices, his highest priced seats being 50 cents.

CASINO.—Business, which has not been first class for the past two or three weeks, is improving. Among the people are Walter Reed, Chas. Burton, Handy and Nannary, Adah Hastings, Maud Martelle, Helen Reynolds, Nellie Veda, Verden Sisters. A sensational drama, entitled, "Jack the Ripper," is being produced by Messrs. Reed and Burton, and Monday night an incident occurred not down on the bills. Mr. Burton, who played the role of Jack, had instructed his victims to make a fight for their lives, in order to make it appear more realistic, and when it came Maud Martelle's turn to die she managed to get hold of Jack's knife and inflicted a deep and ugly wound in Mr. Burton's chest.

MONOGRAM.—The usual big business is being done at this house, much of its popularity being due to the excellent work of White and Harris. Among others are Blanche Brogan, Juliette Niner, Evelyn Lester, Harry Steele, Lottie Hatfield, James Gilday, Wm. Snyder and the Budd Bros.

GEORGE HENDERSON, a variety performer, died at St. James Hospital, this city, 12, after a brief illness, from pneumonia. Very little can be learned of Mr. Henderson's connections, for although he has played engagements in and around Butte all Summer he was not of a communicative nature. At one time he was of the team of Henderson and Grant. His wife, May Henderson, a professional, is still living, although her whereabouts are unknown The deceased left a considerable amount of personal effects, including a gold watch and other jewelry, which his relatives may obtain by addressing the Monogram, this city.

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

CARRIE TURNER, a well known actress, died Oct. 12, in the Sanitarium at Dansville, N. Y., from a complication of diseases. The deceased was born July 8, 1864, at St Charles, Ia., and as a young woman was prominent in amateur theatricals in Albany, N. Y. On Dec. 31, 1880, she made her professional debut as Henriette, in "The Two Orphans," taking the place of Florence White with Kate Claxton's company. She really, however, began her professional career in 1881, in the support of Ernesto Rossi. In 1883 she was at the Globe Theatre, Boston, Mass. She was married to Albert Hix, a Swiss merchant, but later secured a divorce from him and returned to the stage. She played Hazel Kirke in the play of that name, and scored a success. "Young Mrs Winthrop," "Paul Kauver," "Baron Rudolph," "Niobe" and "The Crust of Society" are also plays in which she earned much praise for her work. Her last appearance in this city was made three years ago, at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, in "The Coming Woman," which did not prove successful. Her second husband, John Mack, survives her. The remains were cremated 13, in the Early Crematory, at Oakwood Cemetery, Troy, N. Y.

EDWARD FLANAGAN, who was for many years superintendent of Niblo's Garden, died Oct. 11, at his home in this city. The deceased, who was a native of Ireland, was sixty five years of age. He came to this country at the age of seventeen and soon after was employed at Niblo's Garden, where he remained until the theatre was torn down, a little over two years ago. He leaves a widow and an adopted son. The remains were interred Oct. 14, in Calvary Cemetery.

JOHN R. THORNTON, a musician, died Oct. 6, at the home of his father, Capt. A. G. Thornton, in Mansfield, O. The deceased, who was about thirty-two years of age, had been connected with the orchestra in Miller's Hall, Mansfield, and the Memorial Orchestra in the same city. He had also been connected with orchestras in New York, Chicago and Washington during the last eight years. He leaves a widow. The remains were interred 9.

HARRY DE MELLO (W. R. Durand), a contortionist and acrobat, died recently, in Lincoln, Ill. The deceased was of the team of Werner and Durand, and afterwards De Mello and Tarleton. He was a son of W. W. Durand, press agent of the Barnum & Bailey Show. He leaves a widow.

FRIEDRICH J. LEIBOLDT, a well known and most capable musician and band leader, died of apoplexy Oct. 15, at the age of sixty-seven, at his residence in this city. He was born in Nuremburg, Bavaria, Germany, Aug. 8, 1830. At an early age he was a member of the local orchestra, and he came to this country when twenty years old. His specialty was the cornet, and as a soloist he worked under Anschuetz and Neuendorff. In the course of years he had his own band, and later made a reputation as band leader of the Old Guard and latterly of the Twelfth Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y. A matter of pride with him was the fact that he conducted his band after the style of the German regimental bands, employing brass instruments exclusively. Leiboldt's Band was extremely popular, having been engaged at not only public functions, including the public parks, but at countless private receptions. He was a member of the Arion and Liederkranz Clubs, the Aschenbrodel Verein and the Musical Protective Union. He was a widower and two daughters survive him. The funeral took place from the Aschenbrodel Verein building, Eighty-sixth Street, this city, and it was largely attended, many societies and a Twelfth Regiment detail taking part. The interment was in the Lutheran Cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y.

JOHN W. HAGUE (Walker), an actor, died Oct. 18, at his home in South Boston, Mass., from heart disease. The deceased was born in Halifax, N. S., fifty-eight years ago. In 1868 he first appeared on the professional stage at Selyn's Theatre in Boston. In 1875 he was Edwin Booth's leading man on a tour of the South. He afterward returned to Boston. His last engagement was with Chauncey Olcott in "The Irish Artist." He had supported many famous stars, including Mary Anderson, John McCullough, and Charlotte Cushman

FANNY REEVES (Mrs. Elliot Galer) an English actress, died Oct. 5, at her home in Leicester, Eng. The deceased at one time was well known in the dramatic and musical world. She made her debut in the early 50's at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, and later appeared in opera in association with many well known singers. For many years she was prominently before the public. Her husband, who survives her, was manager of the Royal Opera House, Leicester, and finally became its proprietor.

JAMES O'BRIEN, formerly a variety performer, died Oct. 18 at Fall River, Mass., aged thirty-four years. The deceased, who was a brother of Eddie O'Brien, of O'Brien, Jennings and O'Brien, in 1883-84 joined hands with Harry Carlin, and as Carlin and O'Brien, musical team, they traveled through the country playing vaudeville houses. In 1885 Mr. O'Brien married and retired from the stage. His wife and four children survive him.

GEORGE HENDERSON, a variety performer, died Oct. 12, in Butte, Mont., from pneumonia. He was formerly of the team of Henderson and Grant. His wife, May Henderson, survives him. Further information concerning the deceased will be found in our Butte letter in this issue.

FRANK F. GRAHAM, a musician and composer, died Oct. 17, at the home of his parents in East Brady, Pa., from paresis. The deceased, who was twenty-nine years of age, was leader of an orchestra several years ago.

A RUMOR has reached us of the death from paralysis of John Kreling the well known San Francisco, Cal., manager.

GREATEST BARGAIN EVER OFFERED.

CONTINUED FOR ONE WEEK LONGER.

CINEOGRAPH, IN COMPLETE RUNNING ORDER,

SHOWS A LIFE MOTION PICTURE 16x20 FEET.

AND

4 FILMS FREE

All for $75.00.

IMPORTANT.

My intention being to lend all possible assistance to prospective Showmen, I will sell one dozen Cineographs in different States as an inducement for one week only, as follows: ONE NEW IMPROVED PORTABLE CINEOGRAPH, THE GREATEST LIFE MOTION MACHINE EVER PRODUCED, in complete running order, consisting of Adjustable Cast Iron Stand, Electric and Calcium Light Lamps, Condenser, Objective Lens and Rheostat, weight, about 50 pounds. Also 4 new films of your own selection, each 50 feet long and of the latest subjects, Edison's or any other make, for $75.00.

You can use an oil lamp with the Cineograph, which will reduce the price about $25.00; but I do not consider them practical and consequently do not recommend them.

Look Out for So Called Original Films. MINE ARE ORIGINAL.

I sell no others but Standard Films and EVERYONE IS ORIGINAL. At least 1,000 films constantly on hand of the following makes: Thomas Edison, A. Lumiere & Sons, of Lyons, France, and Pathé Freres, at Paris, France.

S. LUBIN, Optician,

LITTLE LATER ON, THE "DEAD ONES" WILL KNOW WE HAVE THE DESCRIPTIVE SONG AND WALTZ SONG "HITS" FOR THE COMING SEASON.

BUDWORTH & BRIMMER

AN EXTRACT FROM THE HERALD:

Budworth and Brimmer have an act which is not often seen. Budworth is seen first as a poet in black face and later as a "coon" burglar, whil- Miss Brimmer takes the part of an old maid in a manner which provokes the audience to rounds of laughter. In his poetic effusions Budworth certainly has hit upon some mighty funny rhymes. His manner of speech is comical to a finish. Miss Brimmer doesn't look pretty as an old maid, for no old maid does, but she is really an attractive woman. It is a relief once in awhile to see a woman who will sacrifice her good looks to be seen in a part which calls for merit and not a handsome face to make it a success.

"A great ACT," says Ed C. Smith, of Auditorium, Bridgeport.

COMING SEASON, 1898-99.

THE HIGH ROLLERS

A Somewhat Different Burlesque Organization.

"ANNOUNCEMENT."

A. H. WOODHULL and myself will, next season, launch a new Burlesque Co. For obvious reasons we do not, now, care to fully divulge our plans; suffice to state, that the performance will be first class in every particular and Mr. Woodhull is confident of more than duplicating the very large receipts of his last tour of vaudeville houses. As manager and lessee of a Broadway theatre he is in constant touch with all novelties, etc., and his well known ability as actor, author and stage director, guarantee an excellent entertainment on novel and unique lines. He has the capital, standing and experience to carry out his ideas, and has the name of always having a winner and making a success of Jonahs. Costumes, plates, models of scenery, designs for printing, music and scenario are completed and all material is well under way. A 60ft. car of special scenery and props will be carried and none of the "house stuff" used. Thanks are herein tendered to Jas. Donaldson, J. C. Curtin, Jno. Jermon, H. C. Miner, Harry Williams, Whallen Bros., J. E. Fennessy, F. V. Dunn, Dr. Lothrop, Mr. Dinkins, Hyde & Behman and others, for dates offered. All communications for time addressed to
Yours Respectfully, J. H. SHOEMAKER, Business Manager, Manhattan Theatre, New York City.

MAY IRWIN'S LATEST HIT,

"ON THE DUMMY LINE,"

Sung by her in her new play, "THE SWELL MISS FITZWELL."

Read what the BOSTON HERALD says: "Pleasing as all the songs were there was one which impressed more than all the others and which will be most closely identified with this piece. It is called 'ON THE DUMMY LINE.' It is a very jolly bit of melody, with the right darkey tilt to it and a chorus that puts dancing longings into the staidest feet." Professionals send programme and two cent stamp for copy.
